Landlord Revolt Crackdown Begins

Mass Eviction Action Draws Truman's Fire

Housing Expediter Threatens To Seek Court Injunctions

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Truman administration today launched a drive against a revolt of landlords who threaten mass evictions of tenants as a protest against rent control legislation.

Soon after President Truman deplored the landlords' actions at his news conference, Housing Expediter Tighe Woods announced that he would seek court injunctions against any landlords who refuse to withdraw the eviction notices.

Mr. Truman told reporters he doesn't believe the property owners will get away with their plans.

He termed such efforts a poor approach to the problem.

He made his comment at a news conference when a reporter said landlords in St. Louis are considering giving 60-day notices to renters, as have property owners in other cities.

Bills to extend the federal rent control law and to tighten its enforcement provisions are pending in Congress. The House will take up the question first.

Mr. Truman showed he had been reading about the landlord uprising when he noted that the eviction movement started in Tulsa, Okla.

Movement Growing

Other cities reporting similar movements planned or under consideration include Chicago, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Milwaukee, Kansas City and Dallas.

In Tulsa, Rep. Patman (D-Tex) is reported to have told Tulsa and Dallas property owners by telephone that the landlord revolt "will be stopped by the courts."

Some property owners insist they have the right under the law to withdraw properties from the market on 60-day notice.

At Tulsa, Rev. Wallace J. Murphy, a leader of the property owners' revolt, said he was puzzled by President Truman's remarks.

"We are American businessmen," he said. "We simply want to go out of business. It is unprofitable."

Landlords Stick To Strategy

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 27 (AP)—Landlords battling federal rent control proposals stuck to their mass eviction strategy today in the face of growing criticism from Washington.

Their leaders were undeterred by President Truman's news conference comment that their plan was the wrong approach to the problem and that he didn't believe they would get away with it.

They shrugged off as well the threat of National Housing Expediter Tighe Woods to seek court injunctions preventing the ouster of tenants who receive 60-day notices to vacate.

Rev. Wallace J. Murphy, who spearheaded the movement by the Tulsa Property Owners Association, collapsed in his office today from a heart attack.

GOP Hits Labor Bill Timetable

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP) — Angry Republicans, demanding wide open Taft-Hartley hearings in the Senate Labor Committee, vainly rallied on the Senate floor today against the administration's fast timetable for new labor legislation.

"The steamroller tactics you think you are using on the 81st Congress will serve only to crush labor," predicted Sen. Morse (R-Ore).

Beaten in a 8 to 5 party line vote in committee, the Republicans threatened a bitter fight on the Senate floor. The Democrats didn't budge. Hearings will open at 10 a. m. EST tomorrow and end by February 10. Chairman Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) outlined this procedure:

No discussion of repeal of the Taft-Hartley law as far as the committee majority is concerned. It has voted in favor of repeal.

Next, an "attempt to restore the spirit and the theory of the National Labor Relations Act." (Wagner Act).

And then, to act on President Truman's recommendations.

The President has called for "improvements" in the Wagner Act including bans on jurisdictional strikes and certain boycotts, and power to deal with strikes of a national emergency nature.

Sen. Donnell (R-Mo.) taunted Thomas because all the amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act sought by the Democrats are not ready.

Thomas is awaiting a White House bill. This is expected to seek to erase the Taft-Hartley Act and substitute an amended Wagner Act at one stroke. Thomas will introduce it and start it through the committee.

Royall Declares War Is Possible

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP) — Army Secretary Royall cautioned congressmen today that while war is not imminent, it is "at least a possibility.

Accordingly, he told the House Armed Services Committee, the nation must keep its defenses "adequate for each changing situation."

Royall, together with Gen. Omar Bradley, the Army chief of staff, endorsed a proposal pending before the committee to authorize a 837,000-man Army.

The same bill would authorize a 70-group Air Force.

Each proposed limit, however, amounts to little more than a figure on a piece of paper, because of budget limitations.

Royall said the Army now has 690,000 officers and men, and plans to go no higher in the next fiscal year which begins July 1. President Truman's 1950 budget would set a 48-group ceiling on the Air Force.

However, if the new authorizations were written into law, all Congress would have to do to make them mean something would be to appropriate more money.

Royall also told the committee the Army wants to keep the peacetime draft law on the statute books until its June 24, 1950, expiration date, even though there is no prospect that the drafting of soldiers will be necessary in the immediate future.

After 1950? The Secretary said that will be determined by future developments.

He said:

"There appears little likelihood that for a number of years to come we will be free of an international situation fraught with danger and subject to marked fluctuations."

Snow-Plagued West Battling New Blizzards

Dollars For Relief On Way; Ohio River Nears Flood Stage

[By The Associated Press]

New blizzards swirled into sections of the West Thursday, complicating the many-sided battle to save half the nation's sheep and thousands of cattle from perishing.

While planes, trucks, bulldozers and Army weasels pushed through new snow drifts, the Red Cross, Congress and President Truman moved to start a flood of dollars for emergency relief.

The National Wool Grower's Association estimated that half of the nation's sheep population is in critical condition because of storms and shortage of feed. That number, the association said, are snowbound from the Dakotas and Kansas westward.

Winter struck these new blows:

A new blizzard swept into snow-plagued Nebraska, where the Army is working with 57 bulldozers and 29 weasels to cut through old drifts. The storm struck just as the Air Force arranged to send 24 cargo planes to its Kearney, Neb., base to carry supplies into the area and drop hay to starving livestock. The snow intensified the hazards facing snowbound cattle and farmers.

Weather Curtails Haylift

Poor visibility slowed operations of the Nevada haylift by the big Air Force flying boxcars. However, by early afternoon the hay loaded planes were back on schedule dropping feed to stranded cattle and sheep in that state.

In Utah, which the National Wool Growers Association termed the major "catastrophe area," new storms slowed the delivery of supplies. However, trucked supplies got to virtually all herds during a lull in the bad weather the two preceding days. Some 1,200,000 sheep and cattle are snowbound in that state.

Heavy snows of four to eight inches moved in on Western Kansas and portions of Iowa, Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and extreme Southeastern Minnesota.

General flood warnings were issued for a 171-mile stretch of the big Ohio River past Cincinnati and new sleet storms slowed highway traffic to a crawl from Texas to Lower Michigan.

In Washington, the Senate, House and President Truman all called for new funds to combat blizzard conditions. The Red Cross said it was making a $250,000 preliminary allocation blizzard and also flood-threatened areas.

$3,000,000 Relief Fund

The Senate voted to grant $3,000,000 for blizzard relief and sent the resolution to the House. The money would reimburse federal

Greece's Guerrillas Offer Peace Proposals

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP) — The radio of Greece's Communist guerrillas broadcast peace proposals today. It said the self-styled government of Communist Leader Markos Vafiades was ready to send representatives to Athens immediately if the national Greek government accepts the proposals.

The broadcast was heard in London by the Greek news agency. It was repeated by Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency.

Communist rebels in Greece have made previous peace feelers. This latest one comes at a time when French and Italian Communists leaders appear to be urging an easing off in the East-West cold war.

Shot Down By Detective

Joseph Panczko writhes in pain on the sidewalk after he was shot in the groin by Detective Carl Ohlin, special agent of the American Express Company, at Chicago. Ohlin locked himself in the truck, suspecting burglary was imminent. Panczko was shot in the melee when he lunged toward Ohlin as the latter demanded that he "drop" express packages in the truck.

Heavier Cuts In State Income Tax Endorsed By Committee

Senate Again Holds Up Final Action On Bill To Freeze Rate

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 27 (AP)—The Maryland Senate backed up again today on a bill to freeze the income tax rate at two per cent, but a house committee in effect approved heavier tax cuts.

The Senate was slated for final action on an administration-backed measure to block a one-half per cent hike in the rate on earned income. Instead, it was sent back to the Finance Committee where an amendment easing the rate on unearned income might be tacked on.

A short time later, the House Ways and Means Committee quietly voted a favorable report on bills by Delegate Bandiere (D-Balto 5th) which would:

1. Boost a taxpayer's deduction for dependent children from a flat $400 each to $600 for the first, $550 for the second and $500 for all others.

2 Fix the rate on unearned and investment income at two per cent for the first $3,000 and five per cent after that. The rate is now five per cent across the board.

Bandiere estimated the bills together would slice $4,000,000 from the state's income tax take.

Early Decision Likely

His second bill originally would have lowered the unearned income rate to three per cent, but the committee substituted the variable scale. Majority Leader Sothoron (D-Prince George's) said a second proposal to chop the investment income rate was the main reason for Senate delay on the "freeze" bill. Even so, he added, it may be returned for a decision tomorrow.

Sen. Storm (D-Frederick) has pressed for a cut in the rate on the first $1,000 of unearned income to two per cent. Over that amount, the present rate of five per cent would apply.

"I want to see how it would affect the budget," Sothoron said.

He moved to recommit the bill, already passed by the House, as soon as senators settled down for their afternoon session.

Sothoron explained later he plans to incorporate a proposal of his own in a separate bill. This would exempt non-residents—mostly Washingtonians who work in federal offices across the District line—from paying a tax on what they earn in Maryland.

Storm's amendment, it was estimated, would cut only $900,000 from revenues.

Gambling Raid Bill Passes

The "freeze" bill applies only to earned income. Deputy Comptroller Joseph O' C. McCusker said by forestalling a scheduled jump to 2½ per cent, it would cost the state about $3,215,718.

The Senate quickly put through a measure to allow Baltimore City

New York Star, PM's Successor, Will Close Shop

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The New York Star will suspend publication tomorrow — seven months after it first appeared as the successor to Marshall Field's newspaper PM.

Bartley Crum, publisher, and Joseph Barnes, editor, who took over PM last April and changed its name in June, said the newspaper was being suspended because it was not "on a self-supporting basis."

"Our efforts to secure additional financing to bridge the gap have been unsuccessful," they added.

Their statement, which will appear in the final issue tomorrow morning, said the financial difficulties resulted in spite of a growth of circulation and advertising in the past seven months.

British Cabinet Ponders Revolt

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Britain's Labor Cabinet weighed today the revolt within the Labor Party against its Palestine policy, amid signs Foreign Secretary Bevin is determined to ride out the storm.

A source close to the Cabinet said Britain probably will extend recognition to Israel before the Laborites hold their next parliamentary meeting next Wednesday and that this may help to kill off the intra-party squabble.

"Will Bevin go?" asked a headline in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, independent and imperialist newspaper. The question was echoed elsewhere in the press and in the lower ranks of the government itself. The answer seemed to be: Not right now, anyway.

Bevin was absent when the Cabinet gathered with Prime Minister Attlee at No. 10 Downing Street to talk over the Foreign Secretary's future and the party's future course.

He went instead to a London conference of the five Brussels pact powers—Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—which is expected to help pave the way for Britain to recognize Israel.

Aly Khan May Have Divorce In 3 Months

PARIS, Jan. 27 (AP)—French divorce procedure may free Prince Aly Khan to marry Rita Hayworth within three months, it was learned today.

The wealthy son of the Aga Khan and the recently divorced screen star motored in last night from Aly's Riviera villa, near Cannes. Orson Welles, Rita's ex-husband, also got into town last night, but there was no indication they were in touch.

A French-speaking secretary told newsmen all Aly and Rita wanted was a little peace and quiet at his house in the fashionable Parc Monceau district.

They plan to marry when the Moslem Prince obtains a divorce from his English-born Princess, the former Joan Yarde Buller, whom he married here in May, 1936.

Costs Of Living Drop For Third Straight Month

Foods Again Lead Decline; May Affect Demands Of Labor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The government reported a drop in living costs for the third straight month today.

Simultaneously, President Truman disclosed that his economic general staff is making a special study of falling food prices—perhaps for their affect on his request on price control powers.

Cheaper foods again led the way in the cost-of-living decline. But the overall picture showed prices are still 29 per cent higher than OPA-controlled levels in 1946.

The consumers price index, compiled by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, showed a drop of eight-tenths of one point for the month of December.

The index at that time—the latest official figure—stood at 171.4, compared with a "par" of 100 for the 1935-39 price average. In August and September, the index had reached an all-time peak of 174.5.

One-Half Per Cent Drop

The bureau reported that average prices dropped by one-half of one per cent from November to December. Officials said the Christmas season apparently prevented them from falling as much as the nine-tenths of one point registered in October or the 1.4 points in November.

Asked for comment on the declining wholesale index, Mr. Truman told his news conference he is waiting for a report from his Council of Economic Advisers.

He did say, however, that he felt the price of steel has always been too high. That came in commenting on the extra dividend announced by United States Steel this week.

Economic experts said the declining living cost will probably affect labor's efforts for new wage increkases. Already, many unions are talking of concentrating on "fringe demands" such as health and retirement insurance or longer vacations. They are putting less emphasis on a new pay boost this year.

GM Wages Geared To Index

Wages of more than 300,000 workers of General Motors Corporation are geared directly to the government living cost index under contracts held by the CIO Auto and Electrical Workers Unions.

Unless the index goes up in January, these workers will take a two-cent hourly pay cut effective March 1. A further index decline to 170.3 would mean a three-cent pay cut.

Population Swap Between North, South Proposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—A Georgia senator fighting the Truman civil rights program today proposed a gigantic swap of populations between North and South.

Under his plan, the federal government would finance (1) an exodus of up to 1,500,000 negro families from South to North; (2) a shift of northern white people to Dixie to take their places.

Sen. Rusell (D-Ga.) made the proposal, coupling it with an attack on the Truman civil rights plan, which calls for federal laws against lynching and the poll tax, and against discrimination in employment and on interstate transportation facilities.

"Axis Sally's" Wartime Voice Heard At Trial

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The wartime voice of "Axis Sally"—beaming Nazi propaganda to American homes—echoed with dramatic impact at the treason trial of Mildred E. Gillars today.

Listening with no outward sign of emotion, the Maine-born defendant heard a playback of broadcasts she allegedly made from Hitler Germany.

If convicted, Miss Gillars faces a maximum penalty of death in the electric chair. She has pleaded innocent

ARRESTED—Sam Carr (above), alleged co-leader of a one-time Russian spy ring in Canada, was arrested in New York yesterday by the FBI. He is wanted on espionage charges in Canada, and according to a Canadian Justice Department official, probably will be tried in Toronto on accusations he violated the Official Secrets Act.

Scott Wins GOP Committee Fight By Slim Margin

Keeps Chairmanship By Vote Of 54 To 50

OMAHA, Jan. 27 (AP)—Hugh D. Scott, Jr., held on to his chairmanship of a kicking, scratching Republican National Committee today by a slim margin of four votes.

After a day of Political infighting seldom equalled by the staid old GOP, the 48-year-old Pennsylvania Congressman won 54 to 50 vote of confidence.

The action came on a motion of McIntyre Faries, California committeeman, to table a resolution by Jacob France, Maryland, which would have declared the chairmanship vacant.

H. D. Scott, Jr.

Scott thus won a fight pitched by avowed critics of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, the 1948 GOP presidential nominee.

Dewey Bitterly Criticized

But in doing it, Scott put himself on record flatly as saying that Dewey "should not' could not and will not" be come a candidate for a third presidential nomination.

Scott himself joined in the bitter criticism of Dewey's conduct of last year's campaign. Members described it as a "sweetness and light" drive of which most of them said they hadn't approved.

In victory, Scott described himself as a fighter. He promised, after he was given a formal unanimous vote of confidence, to make the Republicans proud of him.

"I've made this fight," he said, "because I think the Republican Party and the country needed a demonstration of courage and I think I've given it to you."

Old Guard Set Back

Scott set back the old guard of the party committee, defeating an ouster led by such members as Carroll Reece of Tennessee, former chairman; Harrison Spangler of Iowa, another former chairman; Rep. Clarence Brown, of Ohio, Werner Schroeder, of Illinois, and Ralph F. Gates, of Indiana.

They had put their weight behind Roy. E. Dunn, of Minnesota, 62-year-old farmer, as a candidate

Panic Gripping Nanking; Peace Prospects Dim

American Embassy Ordered To Stay In Red-Menaced City

By JAMES D. WHITE

NANKING, Friday, Jan. 28 (AP)—Well-informed sources said Acting President Li Tsung-Jen today sent a direct appeal to Communist Leader Mao-Tze-Tung to name peace negotiators at once.

These sources said there were no further details available immediately.

Li's appeal came at a moment when it began to appear a Chinese government effort to make a surrender deal had broken down.

The apparent stalemate, with the Reds drawing ever nearer to Nanking, had turned the flight from this capital into a panic.

Informants said Li told Mao both the Nationalists and the Communists had been working for a "peoples revolution" as envisioned by Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, founder of the Chinese Republic.

Li reiterated he had accepted as a basis for negotiations the eight points made by Mao as conditions for peace talks.

These include the trial of Chiang and other government leaders — including Li — as "war criminals," the uprooting of the present constitution and cancellation of treaties with the United States and other powers.

It was learned reliably that United States Ambassador Leighton Stuart would stay in this Communist-menaced capital, on instructions from Washington.

Reverse For Nationalists

Only a small party led by Minister Lewis Clark is due to join the government in its transfer to Canton. (The government has reported it expects to be functioning in Canton by February 5).

All other diplomatic missions except the Soviet bloc are expected to follow the American example.

Reflecting the personal convictions of diplomats that the government no longer represents the Chinese people, their decision to stay in Nanking is a profound diplomatic reverse for the government.

In Shanghai the commander of the United States Western Pacific Fleet said some marines soon would be withdrawn from China, but emphasized that enough would remain to meet any emergency.

Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger told a news conference the present numbers (about 3,000 at Tsingtao and 600 at Shanghai) were more than needed. The Admiral also confirmed previous reports that the marines at Tsingtao "to some degree" were being withdrawn from shore billets to shipboard. He said Navy port facilities in Shanghai also would be drastically reduced.

Badger reiterated that Navy policy still was to maintain sufficient forces in China to protect Americans and—"insofar as able"—other foreigners.

Badger Amends Statement

Asked what he would do if a Communist government took control and demanded withdrawal of United States forces, Badger replied, "I'd probably withdraw them." He quickly amended this by saying such a decision would rest with the United States government and "I'd do what my government told me to do."

In Nanking, Gen. Chang Chih-Chung, a leader of the government's peace delegation, announced he was flying to Lanchow in the far northwest to discharge his official duties as commander there "during the lull in peace negotiations."

Russia Raps U. S. Policy In Japan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP) — Russia today assailed new measures ordered by the United States to restore Japan's economy, and demanded that the steps be reviewed by all the wartime Pacific allies.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin charged the United States with by-passing the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission when the measures were ordered into effect last month.

He made his demand at a closed door session of the commission. It brought no immediate action.

The Soviet complaint was directed at an order issued by the State and Army Departments to Gen. Douglas MacArthur to require the Japanese government to tighten its price, wage and other controls. The stated object was to halt inflation and increase exports.

The order went out as an "interim directive" which the United States is empowered to issue, before the commission was formally notified on December 11.

Panyushkin criticized this as an "evasion" and charged that the directive itself was in "direct contradiction" to existing policies of the commission about demilitarizing the Japanese.

Renewing a frequent charge by Moscow, Panyushkin asserted that "large concerns" which assisted in Japanese wartime aggression "still continue to exist and occupy a dominant position in the economy of Japan."

Near-Riot Scene

Rome Police Have Busy Day As Linda And Tyrone Wed

ROME, Jan. 27 (AP)—Tyrone Power and Linda Christian said their marriage vows today while thousands of screaming Italian bobby-soxers surged riotously across police lines outside the Church of Santa Francesca Romana. It was Hollywood-on-the-Tiber's show of the year.

So great was the din that the words of the marriage ceremony scarcely could be heard in the fifth row of the church. Even the guests were none too orderly.

In the crush outside the church, several women fainted and a man's finger was broken. A number of other persons were bruised. There were reports that Vatican prelates were incensed at the atmosphere.

The marriage of the film stars gave hundreds of Rome's policemen their busiest day since the rioting that followed an attempt to assassinate Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti last July. Twice during the ceremony groups of determined teen-age girls charged the church doors, trying to get in. There were more than 10,000 in the unruly throng.

Power, 34-year-old veteran of scores of movie mob scenes, was calm throughout the pushing and hauling that attended his arrival and departure at the little church in the heart of ancient Rome. When it was all over, he said:

"This being a moment for a good resounding cliche, you can quote me as saying I'm the happiest man in the world."

His 25-year-old bride, of Dutch and Mexican parentage, said she too "couldn't be any happier."

Power has announced his bride is giving up her screen career. She has said they want to start raising a family right away.

After the ceremony the couple was received in a special audience by Pope Pius XII. The Pope gave the bride a rosary and a booklet of "instructions about the good Christian family." He gave Power a pontifical medallion. United States Ambassador and Mrs. James C. Dunn

Privacy Issue

Mitchum Marijuana Matter Continues To Make News

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Mitchum marijuana matter made news on three fronts today.

Robert Mitchum, the bobby soxers' delight, was not in court to hear an attorney say that he has no privacy to be invaded. This was in connection with a litigation with Actress Nanette Bordeaux over a house in Laurel Canyon where he and three others were arrested, charged with possessing marijuana at a doped cigaret smoking party.

Mitchum sued Miss Bordeaux over an advertisement offering for sale a sofa from her bungalow. The come-on lead "Robert Mitchum sat here." Mitchum says his privacy was invaded $10,000 worth.

Miss Bordeaux' attorney, Leonard Wilson, told the court:

"The only one whose privacy was invaded was Miss Bordeaux', whose home was used for unlawful purposes. She is the only innocent party in this whole transaction."

Superior Judge William B. McKesson took the matter under advisement.

All this occurred a few hours after Robin Ford, jailed with Mitchum in the raid, was picked up again outside a Hollywood night club and jailed on suspicion of narcotics possession. The 31-year-old real estate broker told police he was to have appeared before a probation officer today to plead his case for freedom on his conviction, with Mitchum and Actress Lila Leeds, of conspiracy to possess marijuana. All three are to appear February 9 for probation hearings and sentence.

The fourth member of the quartet arrested in Laurel Canyon September 1, Dancer Vicki Evans, returned from New York in custody of a sheriff's matron. She failed to appear for trial with the others here, pleaded lack of funds, and was jailed on a bench warrant. She is due in court tomorrow for setting of a trial date.

Told of Ford's arrest, she cried: "Oh, no. Not that."

[By The Associated Press]

New blizzards swirled into sections of the West Thursday, complicating the many-sided battle to save half the nation's sheep and thousands of cattle from perishing.

While planes, trucks, bulldozers and Army weasels pushed through new snow drifts, the Red Cross, Congress and President Truman moved to start a flood of dollars for emergency relief.

The National Wool Grower's Association estimated that half of the nation's sheep population is in critical condition because of storms and shortage of feed. That number, the association said, are snowbound from the Dakotas and Kansas westward.

Winter struck these new blows:

A new blizzard swept into snow-plagued Nebraska, where the Army is working with 57 bulldozers and 29 weasels to cut through old drifts. The storm struck just as the Air Force arranged to send 24 cargo planes to its Kearney, Neb., base to carry supplies into the area and drop hay to starving livestock. The snow intensified the hazards facing snowbound cattle and farmers.

Weather Curtails Haylift

Poor visibility slowed operations of the Nevada haylift by the big Air Force flying boxcars. However, by early afternoon the hay loaded planes were back on schedule dropping feed to stranded cattle and sheep in that state.

In Utah, which the National Wool Growers Association termed the major "catastrophe area," new storms slowed the delivery of supplies. However, trucked supplies got to virtually all herds during a lull in the bad weather the two preceding days. Some 1,200,000 sheep and cattle are snowbound in that state.

Heavy snows of four to eight inches moved in on Western Kansas and portions of Iowa, Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and extreme Southeastern Minnesota.

General flood warnings were issued for a 171-mile stretch of the big Ohio River past Cincinnati and new sleet storms slowed highway traffic to a crawl from Texas to Lower Michigan.

In Washington, the Senate, House and President Truman all called for new funds to combat blizzard conditions. The Red Cross said it was making a $250,000 preliminary allocation blizzard and also flood-threatened areas.

$3,000,000 Relief Fund

The Senate voted to grant $3,000,000 for blizzard relief and sent the resolution to the House. The money would reimburse federal

Greece's Guerrillas Offer Peace Proposals

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP) — The radio of Greece's Communist guerrillas broadcast peace proposals today. It said the self-styled government of Communist Leader Markos Vafiades was ready to send representatives to Athens immediately if the national Greek government accepts the proposals.

The broadcast was heard in London by the Greek news agency. It was repeated by Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency.

Communist rebels in Greece have made previous peace feelers. This latest one comes at a time when French and Italian Communists leaders appear to be urging an easing off in the East-West cold war.

Shot Down By Detective

Joseph Panczko writhes in pain on the sidewalk after he was shot in the groin by Detective Carl Ohlin, special agent of the American Express Company, at Chicago. Ohlin locked himself in the truck, suspecting burglary was imminent. Panczko was shot in the melee when he lunged toward Ohlin as the latter demanded that he "drop" express packages in the truck.

Heavier Cuts In State Income Tax Endorsed By Committee

Senate Again Holds Up Final Action On Bill To Freeze Rate

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 27 (AP)—The Maryland Senate backed up again today on a bill to freeze the income tax rate at two per cent, but a house committee in effect approved heavier tax cuts.

The Senate was slated for final action on an administration-backed measure to block a one-half per cent hike in the rate on earned income. Instead, it was sent back to the Finance Committee where an amendment easing the rate on unearned income might be tacked on.

A short time later, the House Ways and Means Committee quietly voted a favorable report on bills by Delegate Bandiere (D-Balto 5th) which would:

1. Boost a taxpayer's deduction for dependent children from a flat $400 each to $600 for the first, $550 for the second and $500 for all others.

2 Fix the rate on unearned and investment income at two per cent for the first $3,000 and five per cent after that. The rate is now five per cent across the board.

Bandiere estimated the bills together would slice $4,000,000 from the state's income tax take.

Early Decision Likely

His second bill originally would have lowered the unearned income rate to three per cent, but the committee substituted the variable scale. Majority Leader Sothoron (D-Prince George's) said a second proposal to chop the investment income rate was the main reason for Senate delay on the "freeze" bill. Even so, he added, it may be returned for a decision tomorrow.

Sen. Storm (D-Frederick) has pressed for a cut in the rate on the first $1,000 of unearned income to two per cent. Over that amount, the present rate of five per cent would apply.

"I want to see how it would affect the budget," Sothoron said.

He moved to recommit the bill, already passed by the House, as soon as senators settled down for their afternoon session.

Sothoron explained later he plans to incorporate a proposal of his own in a separate bill. This would exempt non-residents—mostly Washingtonians who work in federal offices across the District line—from paying a tax on what they earn in Maryland.

Storm's amendment, it was estimated, would cut only $900,000 from revenues.

Gambling Raid Bill Passes

The "freeze" bill applies only to earned income. Deputy Comptroller Joseph O' C. McCusker said by forestalling a scheduled jump to 2½ per cent, it would cost the state about $3,215,718.

The Senate quickly put through a measure to allow Baltimore City

New York Star, PM's Successor, Will Close Shop

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The New York Star will suspend publication tomorrow — seven months after it first appeared as the successor to Marshall Field's newspaper PM.

Bartley Crum, publisher, and Joseph Barnes, editor, who took over PM last April and changed its name in June, said the newspaper was being suspended because it was not "on a self-supporting basis."

"Our efforts to secure additional financing to bridge the gap have been unsuccessful," they added.

Their statement, which will appear in the final issue tomorrow morning, said the financial difficulties resulted in spite of a growth of circulation and advertising in the past seven months.

British Cabinet Ponders Revolt

LONDON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Britain's Labor Cabinet weighed today the revolt within the Labor Party against its Palestine policy, amid signs Foreign Secretary Bevin is determined to ride out the storm.

A source close to the Cabinet said Britain probably will extend recognition to Israel before the Laborites hold their next parliamentary meeting next Wednesday and that this may help to kill off the intra-party squabble.

"Will Bevin go?" asked a headline in Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express, independent and imperialist newspaper. The question was echoed elsewhere in the press and in the lower ranks of the government itself. The answer seemed to be: Not right now, anyway.

Bevin was absent when the Cabinet gathered with Prime Minister Attlee at No. 10 Downing Street to talk over the Foreign Secretary's future and the party's future course.

He went instead to a London conference of the five Brussels pact powers—Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—which is expected to help pave the way for Britain to recognize Israel.

Aly Khan May Have Divorce In 3 Months

PARIS, Jan. 27 (AP)—French divorce procedure may free Prince Aly Khan to marry Rita Hayworth within three months, it was learned today.

The wealthy son of the Aga Khan and the recently divorced screen star motored in last night from Aly's Riviera villa, near Cannes. Orson Welles, Rita's ex-husband, also got into town last night, but there was no indication they were in touch.

A French-speaking secretary told newsmen all Aly and Rita wanted was a little peace and quiet at his house in the fashionable Parc Monceau district.

They plan to marry when the Moslem Prince obtains a divorce from his English-born Princess, the former Joan Yarde Buller, whom he married here in May, 1936.

"Axis Sally's" Wartime Voice Heard At Trial

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The wartime voice of "Axis Sally"—beaming Nazi propaganda to American homes—echoed with dramatic impact at the treason trial of Mildred E. Gillars today.

Listening with no outward sign of emotion, the Maine-born defendant heard a playback of broadcasts she allegedly made from Hitler Germany.

If convicted, Miss Gillars faces a maximum penalty of death in the electric chair. She has pleaded innocent

Costs Of Living Drop For Third Straight Month

Foods Again Lead Decline; May Affect Demands Of Labor

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—The government reported a drop in living costs for the third straight month today.

Simultaneously, President Truman disclosed that his economic general staff is making a special study of falling food prices—perhaps for their affect on his request on price control powers.

Cheaper foods again led the way in the cost-of-living decline. But the overall picture showed prices are still 29 per cent higher than OPA-controlled levels in 1946.

The consumers price index, compiled by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, showed a drop of eight-tenths of one point for the month of December.

The index at that time—the latest official figure—stood at 171.4, compared with a "par" of 100 for the 1935-39 price average. In August and September, the index had reached an all-time peak of 174.5.

One-Half Per Cent Drop

The bureau reported that average prices dropped by one-half of one per cent from November to December. Officials said the Christmas season apparently prevented them from falling as much as the nine-tenths of one point registered in October or the 1.4 points in November.

Asked for comment on the declining wholesale index, Mr. Truman told his news conference he is waiting for a report from his Council of Economic Advisers.

He did say, however, that he felt the price of steel has always been too high. That came in commenting on the extra dividend announced by United States Steel this week.

Economic experts said the declining living cost will probably affect labor's efforts for new wage increases. Already, many unions are talking of concentrating on "fringe demands" such as health and retirement insurance or longer vacations. They are putting less emphasis on a new pay boost this year.

GM Wages Geared To Index

Wages of more than 300,000 workers of General Motors Corporation are geared directly to the government living cost index under contracts held by the CIO Auto and Electrical Workers Unions.

Unless the index goes up in January, these workers will take a two-cent hourly pay cut effective March 1. A further index decline to 170.3 would mean a three-cent pay cut.

Population Swap Between North, South Proposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—A Georgia senator fighting the Truman civil rights program today proposed a gigantic swap of populations between North and South.

Under his plan, the federal government would finance (1) an exodus of up to 1,500,000 negro families from South to North; (2) a shift of northern white people to Dixie to take their places.

Sen. Rusell (D-Ga.) made the proposal, coupling it with an attack on the Truman civil rights plan, which calls for federal laws against lynching and the poll tax, and against discrimination in employment and on interstate transportation facilities.

ARRESTED—Sam Carr (above), alleged co-leader of a one-time Russian spy ring in Canada, was arrested in New York yesterday by the FBI. He is wanted on espionage charges in Canada, and according to a Canadian Justice Department official, probably will be tried in Toronto on accusations he violated the Official Secrets Act.

Scott Wins GOP Committee Fight By Slim Margin

Keeps Chairmanship By Vote Of 54 To 50

OMAHA, Jan. 27 (AP)—Hugh D. Scott, Jr., held on to his chairmanship of a kicking, scratching Republican National Committee today by a slim margin of four votes.

After a day of Political infighting seldom equalled by the staid old GOP, the 48-year-old Pennsylvania Congressman won 54 to 50 vote of confidence.

The action came on a motion of McIntyre Faries, California committeeman, to table a resolution by Jacob France, Maryland, which would have declared the chairmanship vacant.

H. D. Scott, Jr.

Scott thus won a fight pitched by avowed critics of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, the 1948 GOP presidential nominee.

Dewey Bitterly Criticized

But in doing it, Scott put himself on record flatly as saying that Dewey "should not' could not and will not" be come a candidate for a third presidential nomination.

Scott himself joined in the bitter criticism of Dewey's conduct of last year's campaign. Members described it as a "sweetness and light" drive of which most of them said they hadn't approved.

In victory, Scott described himself as a fighter. He promised, after he was given a formal unanimous vote of confidence, to make the Republicans proud of him.

"I've made this fight," he said, "because I think the Republican Party and the country needed a demonstration of courage and I think I've given it to you."

Old Guard Set Back

Scott set back the old guard of the party committee, defeating an ouster led by such members as Carroll Reece of Tennessee, former chairman; Harrison Spangler of Iowa, another former chairman; Rep. Clarence Brown, of Ohio, Werner Schroeder, of Illinois, and Ralph F. Gates, of Indiana.

They had put their weight behind Roy. E. Dunn, of Minnesota, 62-year-old farmer, as a candidate

By JAMES D. WHITE

NANKING, Friday, Jan. 28 (AP)—Well-informed sources said Acting President Li Tsung-Jen today sent a direct appeal to Communist Leader Mao-Tze-Tung to name peace negotiators at once.

These sources said there were no further details available immediately.

Li's appeal came at a moment when it began to appear a Chinese government effort to make a surrender deal had broken down.

The apparent stalemate, with the Reds drawing ever nearer to Nanking, had turned the flight from this capital into a panic.

Informants said Li told Mao both the Nationalists and the Communists had been working for a "peoples revolution" as envisioned by Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, founder of the Chinese Republic.

Li reiterated he had accepted as a basis for negotiations the eight points made by Mao as conditions for peace talks.

These include the trial of Chiang and other government leaders — including Li — as "war criminals," the uprooting of the present constitution and cancellation of treaties with the United States and other powers.

It was learned reliably that United States Ambassador Leighton Stuart would stay in this Communist-menaced capital, on instructions from Washington.

Reverse For Nationalists

Only a small party led by Minister Lewis Clark is due to join the government in its transfer to Canton. (The government has reported it expects to be functioning in Canton by February 5).

All other diplomatic missions except the Soviet bloc are expected to follow the American example.

Reflecting the personal convictions of diplomats that the government no longer represents the Chinese people, their decision to stay in Nanking is a profound diplomatic reverse for the government.

In Shanghai the commander of the United States Western Pacific Fleet said some marines soon would be withdrawn from China, but emphasized that enough would remain to meet any emergency.

Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger told a news conference the present numbers (about 3,000 at Tsingtao and 600 at Shanghai) were more than needed. The Admiral also confirmed previous reports that the marines at Tsingtao "to some degree" were being withdrawn from shore billets to shipboard. He said Navy port facilities in Shanghai also would be drastically reduced.

Badger reiterated that Navy policy still was to maintain sufficient forces in China to protect Americans and—"insofar as able"—other foreigners.

Badger Amends Statement

Asked what he would do if a Communist government took control and demanded withdrawal of United States forces, Badger replied, "I'd probably withdraw them." He quickly amended this by saying such a decision would rest with the United States government and "I'd do what my government told me to do."

In Nanking, Gen. Chang Chih-Chung, a leader of the government's peace delegation, announced he was flying to Lanchow in the far northwest to discharge his official duties as commander there "during the lull in peace negotiations."

Russia Raps U. S. Policy In Japan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP) — Russia today assailed new measures ordered by the United States to restore Japan's economy, and demanded that the steps be reviewed by all the wartime Pacific allies.

Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin charged the United States with by-passing the 11-nation Far Eastern Commission when the measures were ordered into effect last month.

He made his demand at a closed door session of the commission. It brought no immediate action.

The Soviet complaint was directed at an order issued by the State and Army Departments to Gen. Douglas MacArthur to require the Japanese government to tighten its price, wage and other controls. The stated object was to halt inflation and increase exports.

The order went out as an "interim directive" which the United States is empowered to issue, before the commission was formally notified on December 11.

Panyushkin criticized this as an "evasion" and charged that the directive itself was in "direct contradiction" to existing policies of the commission about demilitarizing the Japanese.

Renewing a frequent charge by Moscow, Panyushkin asserted that "large concerns" which assisted in Japanese wartime aggression "still continue to exist and occupy a dominant position in the economy of Japan."

Near-Riot Scene

Rome Police Have Busy Day As Linda And Tyrone Wed

ROME, Jan. 27 (AP)—Tyrone Power and Linda Christian said their marriage vows today while thousands of screaming Italian bobby-soxers surged riotously across police lines outside the Church of Santa Francesca Romana. It was Hollywood-on-the-Tiber's show of the year.

So great was the din that the words of the marriage ceremony scarcely could be heard in the fifth row of the church. Even the guests were none too orderly.

In the crush outside the church, several women fainted and a man's finger was broken. A number of other persons were bruised. There were reports that Vatican prelates were incensed at the atmosphere.

The marriage of the film stars gave hundreds of Rome's policemen their busiest day since the rioting that followed an attempt to assassinate Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti last July. Twice during the ceremony groups of determined teen-age girls charged the church doors, trying to get in. There were more than 10,000 in the unruly throng.

Power, 34-year-old veteran of scores of movie mob scenes, was calm throughout the pushing and hauling that attended his arrival and departure at the little church in the heart of ancient Rome. When it was all over, he said:

"This being a moment for a good resounding cliche, you can quote me as saying I'm the happiest man in the world."

His 25-year-old bride, of Dutch and Mexican parentage, said she too "couldn't be any happier."

Power has announced his bride is giving up her screen career. She has said they want to start raising a family right away.

After the ceremony the couple was received in a special audience by Pope Pius XII. The Pope gave the bride a rosary and a booklet of "instructions about the good Christian family." He gave Power a pontifical medallion. United States Ambassador and Mrs. James C. Dunn

Mitchum Marijuana Matter Continues To Make News

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27 (AP)—The Mitchum marijuana matter made news on three fronts today.

Robert Mitchum, the bobby soxers' delight, was not in court to hear an attorney say that he has no privacy to be invaded. This was in connection with a litigation with Actress Nanette Bordeaux over a house in Laurel Canyon where he and three others were arrested, charged with possessing marijuana at a doped cigaret smoking party.

Mitchum sued Miss Bordeaux over an advertisement offering for sale a sofa from her bungalow. The come-on lead "Robert Mitchum sat here." Mitchum says his privacy was invaded $10,000 worth.

Miss Bordeaux' attorney, Leonard Wilson, told the court:

"The only one whose privacy was invaded was Miss Bordeaux', whose home was used for unlawful purposes. She is the only innocent party in this whole transaction."

Superior Judge William B. McKesson took the matter under advisement.

All this occurred a few hours after Robin Ford, jailed with Mitchum in the raid, was picked up again outside a Hollywood night club and jailed on suspicion of narcotics possession. The 31-year-old real estate broker told police he was to have appeared before a probation officer today to plead his case for freedom on his conviction, with Mitchum and Actress Lila Leeds, of conspiracy to possess marijuana. All three are to appear February 9 for probation hearings and sentence.

The fourth member of the quartet arrested in Laurel Canyon September 1, Dancer Vicki Evans, returned from New York in custody of a sheriff's matron. She failed to appear for trial with the others here, pleaded lack of funds, and was jailed on a bench warrant. She is due in court tomorrow for setting of a trial date.

Three days of intermittent rainfall in the area created considerable interest in the rising water of Wills Creek and the Potomac River here, and numerous telephone calls were received last night at the NEWS office inquiring of flood danger.

Robert R. Golden, local weather observer, said he had been making regular checks of the rainfall and river guage, and there was no immediate danger except that rainfall was continuing.

At 9:30 p. m. the official river guage at Wiley Ford bridge showed the river level at 10.14 feet. At 8 a. m. yesterday official reading was 11.61 feet and at 4:30 a. m. it had reached a crest for the day of 11.86. Flood stage is 17 feet at this point.

Golden said his 9:30 p. m. reading showed the stream steady but reports of additional rainfall in the Upper Potomac Region indicated a further rise.

At Luke, at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mill guage, a rise of about an inch was reported between 5 p. m. and 11 p. m. The stream was 43 inches above normal there. Rain was reported. The Celanese also reported a slight rise last night at their guage. Western Maryland Railway officials said no immediate flood danger was evident and they planned no further checks of the river upstearm until this morning.

In the present three days of rainfall, a total of 1.70 inches has been recorded here, compared with 1.89 inches in the same period of time last month when the river went to within a half a foot of flood stage. At that time however, there was considerable snow and ice in the mountains and little was present for this period.

On the other hand, the abnormally wet season has caused the ground to become heavily soaked with water, officials note, and any rain that falls runs down to swell the streams. Rainfall for the 24-hour period ending at 5 p. m. yesterday totaled half an inch.

against Scott. When Faries' motion carried after nearly five hours of bitter debate, Dunn's name was not even brought up.

Last minute efforts to compromise the fight failed to get anywhere. Scott's friends insisted that they wouldn't compromise on the chairmanship, although they were willing to talk turkey about other matters.

Pitt Student Killed In Turnpike Crash

BEDFORD, Pa., Jan. 27 (AP)—A Pitt student was killed and two other persons were injured in an auto crash today on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about 19 miles west of here.

The dead youth was Sam Appel, 21, Pittsburgh. M. R. Rom, 23, another Pitt student, Pittsburgh, suffered a possible fracture of the leg.

Pvt. Boyton Mike, Cleveland, a soldier stationed at Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland, suffered cuts on the head and arms.

Both Rom and Mike were being treated in Timmins hospital here.

State police said Mike, a hitchhiker, had been given a ride by Rom.

and the counties to keep "house" money seized in gambling raids. It was aimed at "the professionals," with a clause to protect customer's cash.

The measure must now be acted on by the House of Delegates.

There was some debate before the Senate also adopted bills to give the Game and Inland Fish Commission increased regulatory powers. They would allow the Commission to change open hunting and fishing season dates.

Only a scattering of "nays" were recorded when the vote was taken.

Debate broke out in the House over a bill by Delegate McGrath (D-Prince Georges) to add a new ground for divorce.

As introduced, it would have permitted divorce if the defendant had been convicted of a felony, sentenced to two years or more in prison and had served any portion of the sentence.

The Judiciary Committee amended it to apply to those sentenced to three or more years for any crime and who had served at least six months of the sentence.

One bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate would prohibit television screens in automobiles if they catch the driver's eye.

Several changes in motor vehicles' law were enacted and sent to the Governor. One changes the signal for a right-hand turn.

agencies for funds already spent. Congress also passed a bill appropriating $500,000 for the President's disaster relief fund, virtually exhausted by an allocation of $300,000 for blizzard relief. President Truman, meanwhile, asked Congress for a $1,000,000 emergency disaster appropriation, part of which he would earmark for the blizzard relief.

The United States Weather Bureau at Cincinnati forecast that the Ohio River will reach or top flood stages between Parkersburg, W. Va., and Portsmouth, O., by this weekend. The river is expected to exceed flood stage at Cincinnati by Friday afternoon or night.

Although flood stage would merely result in the inundation of lowland areas, a continuation of rain in the area was forecast. The Red Cross said its disaster committee was "prepared to go into action," if necessary.

Flood conditions from Ohio River tributaries continued in Illinois and Indiana where some 1,000 families have been driven from their homes. Many Southern Illinois rural schools were closed and highways were blocked by the rising waters. Gov. Adlai Stevenson, of Illinois, said all state resources had been mobilized to aid flood victims.

Pensions For Veterans, Bonus Law Proposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Veterans organizations asked Congress today to make 18,000,000 veterans of both world wars eligible for $60-a-month pensions when they reach 60.

In a separate request, the Veterans of Foreign Wars proposed enactment of a World War II bonus law costing an estimated $15,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 in adjusted service compensation.

The pension proposals were presented by the VFW and the American Legion to the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

That committee began hearings today on a bill by its chairman, Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), to pay old age and non-service connected disability pensions to veterans of the last two wars. The minimum pension to a veteran, sick or well, would be $60 a month, beginning at the age of 60.

Power and Miss Christian were married eight hours before a Superior Court judge in Los Angeles signed a decree making his divorce from French Actress Annabella final.

He and Annabella had obtained an interlocutory decree in Los Angeles last January. Under California law, a full calendar year must elapse before a final decree can be entered.

Power went ahead with the ceremony here when his lawyers assured him the marriage would be "perfectly legal in Italy." They also expressed the belief that California courts would not quibble over a matter of hours.

In any event, Power said, he and Miss Christian can "get married all over again" in California if necessary.

Costs Of Living

Today's index for December, while registering a decline, was still 2.6 per cent above a year ago. It was nearly 74 per cent above August 1939 on the eve of the European war.

At Luke, at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mill guage, a rise of about an inch was reported between 5 p. m. and 11 p. m. The stream was 43 inches above normal there. Rain was reported. The Celanese also reported a slight rise last night at their guage. Western Maryland Railway officials said no immediate flood danger was evident and they planned no further checks of the river upstearm until this morning.

In the present three days of rainfall, a total of 1.70 inches has been recorded here, compared with 1.89 inches in the same period of time last month when the river went to within a half a foot of flood stage. At that time however, there was considerable snow and ice in the mountains and little was present for this period.

On the other hand, the abnormally wet season has caused the ground to become heavily soaked with water, officials note, and any rain that falls runs down to swell the streams. Rainfall for the 24-hour period ending at 5 p. m. yesterday totaled half an inch.

against Scott. When Paries' motion carried after nearly five hours of bitter debate, Dunn's name was not even brought up.

Last minute efforts to compromise the fight failed to get anywhere. Scott's friends insisted that they wouldn't compromise on the chairmanship, although they were willing to talk turkey about other matters.

Pitt Student Killed In Turnpike Crash

BEDFORD, Pa., Jan. 27 (AP)—A Pitt student was killed and two other persons were injured in an auto crash today on the Pennsylvania Turnpike about 19 miles west of here.

The dead youth was Sam Appel, 21, Pittsburgh. M. R. Rom, 23, another Pitt student, Pittsburgh, suffered a possible fracture of the leg.

Pvt. Boyton Mike, Cleveland, a soldier stationed at Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland, suffered cuts on the head and arms.

Both Rom and Mike were being treated in Timmins hospital here.

State police said Mike, a hitchhiker, had been given a ride by Rom.

and the counties to keep "house" money seized in gambling raids. It was aimed at "the professionals," with a clause to protect customer's cash.

The measure must now be acted on by the House of Delegates.

There was some debate before the Senate also adopted bills to give the Game and Inland Fish Commission increased regulatory powers. They would allow the Commission to change open hunting and fishing season dates.

Only a scattering of "nays" were recorded when the vote was taken.

Debate broke out in the House over a bill by Delegate McGrath (D-Prince Georges) to add a new ground for divorce.

As introduced, it would have permitted divorce if the defendant had been convicted of a felony, sentenced to two years or more in prison and had served any portion of the sentence.

The Judiciary Committee amended it to apply to those sentenced to three or more years for any crime and who had served at least six months of the sentence.

One bill passed by the House and sent to the Senate would prohibit television screens in automobiles if they catch the driver's eye.

Several changes in motor vehicles' law were enacted and sent to the Governor. One changes the signal for a right-hand turn.

agencies for funds already spent. Congress also passed a bill appropriating $500,000 for the President's disaster relief fund, virtually exhausted by an allocation of $300,000 for blizzard relief. President Truman, meanwhile, asked Congress for a $1,000,000 emergency disaster appropriation, part of which he would earmark for the blizzard relief.

The United States Weather Bureau at Cincinnati forecast that the Ohio River will reach or top flood stages between Parkersburg, W. Va., and Portsmouth, O., by this weekend. The river is expected to exceed flood stage at Cincinnati by Friday afternoon or night.

Although flood stage would merely result in the inundation of lowland areas, a continuation of rain in the area was forecast. The Red Cross said its disaster committee was "prepared to go into action," if necessary.

Flood conditions from Ohio River tributaries continued in Illinois and Indiana where some 1,000 families have been driven from their homes. Many Southern Illinois rural schools were closed and highways were blocked by the rising waters. Gov. Adlai Stevenson, of Illinois, said all state resources had been mobilized to aid flood victims.

grey-haired, dapper Baptist minister, had been ill from an attack eight weeks ago.

The movement was launched by the Tulsa Property Owners Association spearheaded by Rev. Wallace J. Murphy, grey-haired, dapper Baptist minister who never has been reconciled to rental regulation.

The campaign has attracted sympathy from landlord groups in several other cities.

Murphy, the association's executive secretary, claims all the owners want is to get their property off the rental market. He and the other landlords say they can't operate if bills pending before congress become law.

Pensions For Veterans, Bonus Law Proposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Veterans organizations asked Congress today to make 18,000,000 veterans of both world wars eligible for $60-a-month pensions when they reach 60.

In a separate request, the Veterans of Foreign Wars proposed enactment of a World War II bonus law costing an estimated $15,000,000,000 to $20,000,000,000 in adjusted service compensation.

The pension proposals were presented by the VFW and the American Legion to the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

That committee began hearings today on a bill by its chairman, Rep. Rankin (D-Miss), to pay old age and non-service connected disability pensions to veterans of the last two wars. The minimum pension to a veteran, sick or well, would be $60 a month, beginning at the age of 60.

entertained the newlyweds at a luncheon.

Tomorrow they will leave Rome for a wedding trip through Northern Italy and Switzerland to Kitzbuehl, Austria.

Power and Miss Christian were married eight hours before a Superior Court judge in Los Angeles signed a decree making his divorce from French Actress Annabella final.

He and Annabella had obtained an interlocutory decree in Los Angeles last January. Under California law, a full calendar year must elapse before a final decree can be entered.

Power went ahead with the ceremony here when his lawyers assured him the marriage would be "perfectly legal in Italy." They also expressed the belief that California courts would not quibble over a matter of hours.

In any event, Power said, he and Miss Christian can "get married all over again" in California if necessary.

Costs Of Living

And a further index in January appears probable to government experts because of the currently lower food prices and January clearance sales expected to be reflected in the next living cost index a month from now.

Today's index for December, while registering a decline, was still 2.6 per cent above a year ago. It was nearly 74 per cent above August 1939 on the eve of the European war.

Don't Turn Green-Eyed On Order

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I'm going steady with a girl, but she still does her best to make me jealous.

She talks about other fellows constantly, and lately, she's been praising one guy in particular. He happens to be a close pal of mine, and I know he wouldn't try to date her behind my back, but this act on her part doesn't agree with me. What do you think I should do about it?"

Nancy Mottram

(A) In spite of all her talk, she hasn't made any move to break up with you and begin dating around, so you can be pretty sure that you are still tops on her list. Perhaps this is her way to keep up your interest, but it can be overdone. As long as she knows that it does bother you, she'll keep it up. So, no matter how hard it is, try to grin and act along with her. If you take a casual view about the whole thing, with just a slight hint that you don't like her attitude, it might dawn on her that she'd better forget her little game before she overplays it once too often.

• — • — •

(Q) "Dear Nancy: My girl's sister recently became engaged, and she's asked me to go with her to the engagement party. I've only met this sister once or twice and I don't know her fiance at all, so I don't know whether to take along a gift or not. Could you give me some advice?"

(A) You're not a close friend of the engaged couple, and therefore you wouldn't be expected to buy a gift. Your date will bring one, of course, but since you're her guest and only an acquaintance of the guest of honor, it isn't necessary, although it wouldn't be out of place if you did decide to bring one.

(Q) "Dear Nancy: I used to date a boy about once every week, and though we went out with others occasionally, we were considered a steady couple. But in the last month, he made three dates with me and failed to keep any one of them. His explanations were always good but three times is too much. I don't know what to do if he asks me out again. Can you help me?"

(A) It might be a form of the brush-off, and it might be coincidence, but it's your turn now. If you let him think that you'll take this sort of treatment, it might happen again and again. Say you're busy, the next time he calls. That ought to let him know that you aren't pleased, and he may try to talk things over with you. Then, you'll know whether or not it's worth while to keep on dating him or to start seeing someone else.

Nancy can help with all your teen-age problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Sex Offenders, Like Mad Dogs, Menace To Society

The lowest form of humanity is the man who attempts to, or succeeds in, outraging a woman. Public opinion will not be content until the law removes the rapist from the ranks of the living in all cases where his offense is without doubt or provocation.

Only this week, a teen-ager and a matured woman have fallen victims of criminal assaults. In one instance, three men were accused by a sixteen-year old Mount Savage girl. A day or so later a seventy-one-year-old woman, who was engaged as caretaker at a welfare organization's headquarters, was pounced upon by a man far younger than she, and fiendishly attacked.

Circumstances surrounding both cases were so sordid that to have given details in newspaper accounts would have shocked the most indifferent citizen. Such criminalities are occurring far too frequently. It is time to deal with them with severity. The only bright aspect growing out of the first crime is the rapidity with which police were able to apprehend the culprits. The authorities made the best of the breaks they received and soon had the trio in custody.

They were found guilty by a Juvenile Court Magistrate of the crime of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Such a charge covers a multitude of offenses. All were given suspended sentences of two years in the House of Correction. It must be assumed that the nature of the testimony against the trio prompted the court to show the leniency it did. Lacking and concrete knowledge of the type of evidence presented, the public must remain content in the belief that the court acted in conformity with statutes covering such cases. But opinions probably exist that if the facts presented were such as to warrant the sentences meted out they should have been invoked.

Up to the time this was written, the person who outraged the elderly woman had not been apprehended. Until he is, he poses a menace to society. Sex crimes must be reduced. Heavier penalties for "serious" offenses would help, some. But it seems obvious that the lesser offenses also must be taken very seriously.

A person who commits a minor offense very often commits a more serious one later on. Carrying out punishment to fit the crime would, at least, put likely violators of the law covering such offenses on notice that he could expect to be dealt with without mercy by the Courts. Certain types of sex offenders are as dangerous, running loose, as mad dogs.

Now it seems the Dutch were only trying to do the Indonesians a service. Check their oil, that is.

Patterns In The Upper Air Currents This Winter

To say that this has so far been a peculiar winter would be to repeat the obvious. But the conditions that have resulted from the switch in the normal weather pattern are becoming serious indeed.

This winter has been marked by mild weather in the east and south, with an excess of rain, and very cold blizzard conditions in the west, extending to California. Cold weather is not unusual for the Great Plains, but the snow and sub-zero blasts of past weeks have been almost continuous. The effect, in damage to livestock, has become of national concern.

According to experts in the Weather Bureau, the reason for the peculiar weather can be found in the upper air currents. The Bureau observers point out that this year the ordinary flow of air from west to east at altitudes of 20,000 and 40,000 feet has been altered into a giant S, the winds flowing from the northwest to the Gulf of Mexico, then up to New England before swinging southeast again.

This pattern of troughs and ridges determines the tracks of storms. Thus cold air is drawn from Alaska and the Yukon southward into the Plains, while warm, moist air is carried from the Gulf northward over the eastern part of the country.

That sounds logical, the Weather Bureau observers are probably right. But the causes are not what interests the country so much as how long the present conditions will last. Cumberland, with its mild weather, has been lucky. Too much warm, moist air, however, carries a danger. Excess moisture can find only two escapes—via the Potomac river and George's Creek. It might be a good thing if the upper air currents got back into their old, familiar winter track.

The charge that such proposals are "anti-veteran" is obviously unwarranted. They are anti-red tape.

Teddy Roosevelt Had Furnished The Pattern

When Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of New York and Republican candidate for Vice President, was reviewing the 1896 Sound Money Parade from the Madison Square stand in New York City, a battalion of business men came along, led by a brilliant Democratic lawyer, who had fought Roosevelt hard in state politics. "And Satan came also," exclaimed the man, quoting Scripture with a sweeping bow to the platform. Grinning from ear to ear, Teddy met the salute half way with a wave of his own hand and the cowboy yell.

That was the way to do it. When a similar situation arose in the inaugural a week ago yesterday, Harry Truman was in the reviewing stand, and the party of the second part, J. Strom Thurmond, Governor of South Carolina, was riding past with Mrs. Thurmond. From man and wife a friendly greeting to the President; on his part, a cold nod, snarling lips. Though Thurmond officially represented a state which sought to do him honor, he could not forget that the Governor, as Dixiecrat candidate, had taken the electoral votes of four Southern states from him and made him the first minority President in a generation.

Maybe the incident disclosed too much. There was that prior incident—in Congress—when Truman misused "senatorial courtesy" to prevent the second-term confirmation of U. S. District Attorney Milligan, whose only offense was that he had splendidly served the public interest and sent Pendergast and others of Truman's Kansas City gang associates to prison. There was that gratuitous intervention as President in a Kansas City primary election to defeat Congressman Roger Slaughter—with the result that the product of a flagrantly crooked Democratic primary was buried in the 1946 election.

If these things say what they seem to, we are sorry for President Truman, who cannot afford to be vindictive.

Bedroom Ventilation

Is it better to sleep with the windows open or closed? This question comes up frequently and must be a cause for many arguments in homes where husbands and wives have different ideas on the subject. It is, in my opinion, a matter of preference, depending upon which practice gives the most comfort. There are advocates of both plans and, to my knowledge, there is no danger to health either way.

In the absence of air conditioning I prefer to have the window up from one to four inches in the wintertime and as far as it will go during warm weather. Drafts may be avoided by keeping the door closed and placing a screen in front of the window or inserting an inclined pane of glass, metal filter, or venetian blind over it. These gadgets divert the air and also darken the room. In the circumstances the occupant is more likely to awaken in the morning refreshed.

It is not necessary to open windows in order to obtain a sufficient amount of oxygen. Bedrooms are not airtight and I never heard that any one ever suffocated from lack of this gas as has happened in a closed vault, closet, or pressure chamber. Some air is always entering through window sashes and cracks in the wall, and beneath doors. Furthermore, many individuals spend the greater part of the day indoors with the windows shut and never are disturbed, an argument that often is used by supporters of the closed window arrangement.

Obviously, then, "fresh air" does not necessarily imply that it must have a high percentage of oxygen. But such an atmosphere has a sweeter smell except in areas near plants and factories giving off obnoxious odors which are annoying when the wind is in the wrong direction. Fresh air is more likely to be cool and moist. This feature may prove objectionable to some, especially if the humidity is high; those with a tendency toward rheumatism frequently ache and the asthmatic may have trouble breathing. To others, this is the "dangerous, damp night air" which they have always been afraid of because their grandparents talked about it so much. But dampness may have a beneficial effect on the membranes of the nose and throat, particularly among individuals who live in heated apartments and homes that are far too dry for comfort. Another helpful quality about circulating air is that in the presence of colds and similar infections, germs are not given an opportunity to accumulate in the room.

On the other hand, the window need not be raised to such an extent that every one is blown out of bed. When the sleeping quarters are too cold, the weight of the blankets required to keep warm often prove bothersome. The electric blanket may solve this problem. In general, cold air cannot be considered harmful. After all, many men in the north woods sleep out-of-doors when trapping or hunting and they rarely suffer from respiratory infections.

In most instances, the condition can be brought under control within two weeks but occasionally it persists for months or years.

COLD AREAS

Mrs. A. M. writes: What causes cold hands, feet, nose, and cheeks when I am in bed? It never happens when I'm up and around but just as I am about to fall asleep.

Reply

Coldness is due to refusal of tiny blood vessels to convey enough blood to the surface. In some instances, a defect in the circulatory system is present. In others the nervous system is at fault while in still others, the metabolism of the body is low. This condition is common in high strung persons.

Democratic Senators Mad At State Department; Dutch Renege On Pact Payments; Canada May Supply Northwest With Hydroelectric Power

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Certain Democratic Senators are boiling mad at the State Department and even irked at the White House for trying to tell them not to support United Nations policy regarding the Dutch in Indonesia.

The incident is extremely significant. It may indicate what some diplomats have suspected, that the State Department was talking loud about forcing the Dutch to pipe down in Indonesia, while playing footsie with the Dutch under the table.

Here is the inside story of what happened. Last week, twelve Senators drafted a resolution vigorously supporting United States' and United Nations' positions regarding Dutch highhandedness in Indonesia. Most of the resolution simply repeated the U.S.-U.N. demands that the Dutch release political prisoners and retreat to their original lines.

Then the Senators added one more clause. They proposed that if Holland did not comply with U.S.-U.N. demands, all Marshall Plan aid be cut off to both the Dutch East Indies and Holland. The United has already cut off ECA aid to the Dutch East Indies but not to Holland.

When the State Department heard about this, however, Acting Secretary of State Lovett slipped over to the White House and sounded the alarms. The White House then phoned Senate Secretary Les Biffle, who in turn called Senate majority leader Scott Lucas of Illinois, plus Senators Pepper of Florida and Johnson of Colorado.

The reslution, the Senators were told, would be most embarrassing. They were asked to kill it.

Are Senators Puppets?

No explanation was given as to why the State Department was opposed, since the resolution was almost identical with the position already taken by the State Department at Lake Success. Nevertheless, the Senators were asked to desist. Senator Pepper, who has just become a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and who is on intimate terms with the President, asked that his name be withdrawn. Many others stuck by their guns.

Remarked Senator Chavez of New Mexico: "What do they expect us to do—just appropriate the money for 'em?"

"I can't recall," observed Ed Johnson of Colorado, "that the Senate has abdicated its right to ratify treaties and play its constitutional part in foreign policy."

Note—Other Senators who signed the resolution included: Hill and Sparkman of Alabama; Magnuson of Washington; Gillette of Iowa; Kilgore and Neely of West Virginia; Murray of Montana, Malone of Nevada (Rep.)

How Dutch Finance War

A significant conversation has been taking place in Europe. The Dutch have told Field Marshal Montgomery that they can't afford to assume their proportionate responsibility under the Defense Pact because of the heavy cost of military operations in Indonesia.

Indonesian operations for one year cost the Duth $436,000,000. During that same year, the Dutch received $476,000,000 of Marshall Plan money from us. In other words, the USA really is paying for the war in Indonesia, yet the Dutch claim they can't afford to pay their share of the Western Europe Defense Pact.

Note—Inside reason why some State Department officials are jittery about pushing the Dutch too far in Indonesia is for fear they'll pull out of the Defense Pact. If so, point out realistic diplomats, where else can the Dutch go—into the arms of Russia, with 90 per cent of their population vigorously anti-Russian?

Electricity Famine

President Truman was talking to Senator Magnuson and Representative Hugh Mitchell of Washington about a proposed deal with Canada for water storage in British Columbia, from which the Pacific Northwest could draw hydroelectric power. The Northwest power shortage, they told the President, was due chiefly to the big aluminum plants built there during the war.

"Well, that's your fault," said Truman, eyeing Magnuson.

"How do you mean?" inquired the dashing young bachelor Senator.

"I mean that you wouldn't rest until you got those aluminum plants established in your state," chuckled Truman, obviously remembering his Senate days when Magnuson had been lobbying to locate war industries in the Northwest. "What do you want us to do—take them away from you?"

"Oh, no," replied the amused Magnuson. "The situation isn't that critical."

Congressman Mitchell commended Truman for "recognizing the needs" of the Northwest by approving plans for a Columbia River Authority, which will expand and co-ordinate electric power, flood control and reclamation facilities in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Nevada and Utah.

"I can't honestly take credit for that," deprecated Truman. "The problem we face in the Northwest wouldn't exist if the proper planning had been done in the first place."

Merry-Go-Round

One lady who was certain the Democrats would stage a comeback in November was Mrs. John McCormack of Massachusetts, wife of the House majority leader. Mrs. M. saved her husband's left-over stationery from the 1946 election; now he doesn't have to buy any . . . . Latest election prophet to come out of the woods is Herbert Hoover. Close friends say that the former GOP President predicted a week before the election that Truman would win because Dewey was "talking down to the American people." . . . When Democratic leaders were looking for a place to store the files of the election-blitzed House Small Business Committee, they discovered a box which once contained the impeachment records of President Andrew Johnson in 1868 . . . . Liberal Congressman John Dingell of Michigan hasn't bought a new pair of shoes in 10 years . . . . "Wish I sould say the same for my kids," says Dingell, who has three . . . . The White House is wondering if the stunning Senate defeat of the resolution exempting inaugural tickets from taxation may be a harbinger of things to come on such issues as taxation, civil rights and health insurance. The House passed the inaugural-ticket exemption by a two-thirds majority, but Senate Democrats couldn't even muster a simple majority, losing 57 to 45. Four Democrats were absent and five (Byrd, Va.; Chapman, Ky.; Johnson, Colo.; McClellan, Ark., and Russell, Ga.) voted with the Republicans.

Washington Fat Boys Say They Have The Know-How

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The new Congress has ok'd "expense accounts" to the President, Vice President, and Speaker of the House. They are to pay no taxes on them, and make no accounting.

Then a bill was introduced to exempt tickets to the inaugural parade and ball from the excise taxes that the rest of us second class citizens have to pay. Those who went to Washington last week were to see the show free of tax. But if you go to the movies to see it on the screen, you pay.

The House of Representatives actually passed this bill which would have cost the government around $50,000 in lost income. But this was a little too much for the Senators. They killed it, 47 to 44. It was a tight squeak. 47 men must have remembered that Grover Cleveland said, "Public office is a public trust."

What Second Class Citizens Face

While voting for these special privileges for the elite, we second class citizens are confronted with the biggest budget and tax bill in the peacetime history of any nation. It is around $42,000,000,000. Even this staggering sum was doctored to the tune of two billions. For the first time, the usual amount of tax refunds was not included in either income or outgo. That falsified the budget according to past standards.

Despite a $42,000,000,000 budget, Mr. Truman expects a deficit of $600,000,000 this year, and $873,000,000 next year. If he is correct about that, we will go into debt again during the biggest boom period in history. If we don't pay our bills in good times, what will happen in bad times?

But who figured that the Florida land boom or the stock market craze in the 1920's would ever end? Or that Dewey might not win? Charles Ponzi, who got $15,000,000 from 40,000 suckers on the promise of 50% profit in two months, has just died in a charity hospital ward. He thought it would never end, either. So did his suckers. They were endless!

Taxes now take a higher per cent of the country's income than any nation, ancient or modern, has ever paid without disaster, sooner or later. The Washington Fat Boys say we are in a "new era" and that they know how to handle everything. We will wait and see. It says in the Bible that whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he reap.

Facing possibly the most dreadful war in all time, do we re-trench, tighten our belts, and go to work? Oh, no, that would interfere with the Fat Boys paying their campaign debts. So we vote for Utopia while arming for war. The peace, won by the boys who died, was tossed away by a vain, sick man who opened the gates of Europe and Asia to the "peace loving" Communists. So our military budget is to be fifteen billion dollars. Did we, in fact, win the war?

Some Things Not Mentioned

To sugar-coat the pill, as Ponzi sugar-coated his pills, the budget never mentions the new lease-lend and re-arming of Western Europe. Billions more.

If the situation is so grave as to justify such huge sums for national defense, we should put the Fat Boys through the wringer and roll their blubber off. We should go to a 48-hour week. We should cut out all luxuries. We should lighten ship. Instead, the Ponzis on the Potomac are going to spend more billions on "federal aid" for housing, schooling, political medicine and social security—when there is no security anywhere if our dollars go soft. We are skating on thin ice. A recession would shrink tax collections by billions—but not the spending. Then what?

Ponzi lived too soon and went to jail. He should have waited until the Fat Boys showed him how it is done.

This concludes my newspaper column begun ten years ago. Other work in which I have engaged makes it necessary to say goodbye. I have greatly valued your letters, your criticisms and your friendships. I have tried to help keep America a free land. It is a great country, the "last best hope of earth." I am certain the honest citizens still outnumber the Ponzis and the suckers. But they have got to wake up.

Why Should Labor Wish To Avoid Hearings On Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—Why are the labor-union leaders so anxious to avoid extensive public hearings on the Taft-Hartley Act that they have put the heat on the Democrats in Congress?

This question is beginning to be asked on every side as it becomes apparent that the steamroller may be used in both Houses to prevent a public explanation of why the labor unions are unwilling to submit to cross-examination as to their reasons for wanting the entire Taft-Hartley Act repealed without any substitute for its major provisions.

The expressed view of the labor-union leaders, of course, is that the country in the last election ordered repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and that everything has been said that could be said in any hearings or that the subject was fully covered in 1947 when the Republicans held hearings.

Does Not Meet Real Issue

This, however, does not meet the real issue, for the idea of the hearings was to ask the labor-union leaders in what respects in actual practice they found the Taft-Hartley Act to be defective. They can make a good argument, to be sure, against some sections which were ambiguously written in the first place. But it would be a constructive piece of education if the United States Senate could discover just why the labor-union leaders are unwilling to answer questions about the operation of the present law. Some of these questions are as follows:

1. Why do labor unions want to repeal the provision which requires unions to reveal to their members what is being done with the funds collected each year?

2. Why do labor unions want to repeal the provision which protects the right of the citizen to work at his job unmolested by other workers or by strong-arm men hired for the picket lines?

3. Why do labor unions want to abolish the right of free speech for the employers and yet retain on the picket line the right to say what they please in denouncing the employer or his customers?

4. Why do the labor-union leaders want to repeal that section of the law which forbids them to take a worker's dues money and use it for political purposes even though he may belong to another political party?

5. Why do the labor-union leaders want repealed the section of the law which requires a labor union to give sixty days' notice before calling a strike and thus permit a return to "wildcat" strikes whereby work can be stopped by any small group at any time and a whole line of employees forced to quit work?

6. Why do labor-union leaders want to remove from the law any provision that enumerates the "unfair labor practices" that a labor union may commit, thus leaving labor unions immune from any restraint whatsoever and confining all "unfair labor practices" to employers?

What Will Truman Do?

These are but a few of the several questions that probably would be asked if there were hearings with any opportunity to ask labor leaders some direct questions. The labor chieftains, however, believe they can force repeal without much discussion and without making a case except to repeat that the people gave them a "mandate." Will President Truman stand by and allow a one-sided labor-relations bill to be jammed through Congress? Is that the practical meaning of the so-called "fair deal"?

Unquestionably such license as is being demanded will lead to strikes and work stoppages and economic losses to the country and Mr. Truman will have no authority, for instance, to stop a coal strike or any other major strike that paralyzes the national economy. Maybe that is the kind of shock that Congress needs to awaken it to its responsibilities. Then, overnight, Congress may be compelled to pass something far more drastic than the Taft-Hartley Act. It will be a sad epoch in labor-management relations when the extremists are in control — and that is what the squelching of hearings really means at this time.

These Days

Judge Yankwich

Among curiosities of Americana is the action of Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich in the instance of Lester Cole, Hollywood writer, who refused to testify before the House Committee on un-American Activities whether he was a communist. Cole was discharged by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Eric Johnston, president of Motion Pictures Association of America, Inc., intervened to indicate that his industry had to clean house. Cole sued in Yankwich's court and won his case. Judge Yankwich violently attacked Eric Johnson, to which the latter replied:

"What actually happened, as I testified, is that I presented the producers with two alternatives: either they could employ persons thought by the public to be Communists and defend their employment, or they could dismiss them. The choice was up to the producers, and I told them it was up to them to fish or cut bait. The decision was entirely theirs and they made it unanimously.

"The Judge said my attitude was dogmatic, doctrinaire and absolutist.

"I want to repeat what I have said many times: I would not employ a known Communist in a responsible position....

"In this attitude I find myself in reputable company. The government of the United States will not employ Communists; our national labor unions are purging Communists from positions of leadership. This is my position. I intend to stand by it."

In the course of the trial, Judge Yankwich asked the M.G.M. lawyer whether he knew of any law which required a witness to answer "yes" or "no" to a question. Of course, the lawyer knew of no such law, but a witness must be responsive. It is not his right to be evasive, dilatory, unthruthful. He has the right to answer in such a manner that he is placed in a favorable light, but he is not privileged to lie. The judge knew all that when he asked the question.

Lester Cole had appeared before the House Committee on un-American Activities along with nine other Hollywood witnesses who nicknamed themselves "unfriendly witnesses." He put on this performance:

"Mr. Stripling. Mr. Cole, are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?

"Mr. Cole. I would like to answer that question as well; I would be very happy to. I believe the reason the question is being asked is that because at the present time there is an election in the screen writers guild in Hollywood that for 15 years Mr. McGuinness and others—

"The chairman. I didn't even know there was an election out there. Go ahead and answer the question. Are you a member of the Communist Party?

"Mr. Cole. If you don't know there is an election there you didn't hear Mr. Lavery's testimony yesterday.

"The chairman. There were some parts I didn't hear.

"Mr. Cole. I am sorry, but I would like to put it into the record that there is an election there.

"The chairman. All right, there is an election there. Now, answer the question, are you a member of the Communist Party?

"Mr. Cole. Can I answer that in my own way, please? May I, please? Can I have that right? Mr. McGuinness was allowed to answer in his own way.

"The chairman. You are an American, aren't you?

"Mr. Cole. yes; I certainly am, and it states so in my statement.

"The chairman. Then you ought to be very proud to answer the question.

"Mr. Cole, I am very proud to answer the question, and I will at times when I feel it is proper.

"The chairman. It would be very simple to answer.

"Mr. Cole. It is very simple to answer the question.

"The chairman. You bet.

"Mr. Cole (continuing). And at times when I feel it is proper I will, but I wish to stand on my rights of association— xxx."

It is obvious from the above that Lester Cole dodged, trimmed, evaded, wise-cracked—but he did not answer. It would have been simpler and more honest had he said: "I refuse to answer." It would have been still simpler had he said, "Yes" or "No." The fact stands that he did not answer. Yet, Judge Yankwich at the trial took the position throughout that Cole was right; that the House Committee on un-American Activities was wrong; that Eric Johnston was wrong; that M. G. M. was wrong.

COLOR AND TONE

I wonder if any of us realize to the full the influence that color has upon our lives, our thougnts, and even our health and happiness. The gray tones of Winter are in great contrast to the brilliance of Springtime and Summer, and so greatly in contrast to the changing and poetic colors and tones of our glorious Northern Autumn.

Few, if any writers upon Nature were so fascinated and absorbed in the colors and tones that are all about the earth, as was Richard Jefferies, whose hundredth anniversary of his birth was celebrated in 1948. Said he: "Color and form and light are as magic to me." If these colors in Nature struck us as magically as they did Jefferies we would all be more appreciative and happy over the wonder of life. Jefferies loved the varying colors of yellow.

How we all look for the first signs of the breaking of the Springtime—with its first signs in the dandelions and crocuses. Little forerunners of the joys ahead. Greens, yellows, and white. How they blend and lend beauty to us all. But in Nature are all of the glorious colors and tones that give to us the inspiration for all the decorations of our homes, our dress, and art.

Then there is the blue of the ocean, the grays, blues and golds of the clouds, as the light of the sun bathes them, washing them into endless varieties of color and tone. I wish that Jefferies were better known. Most of his beautiful writings have been published in England, and last year many new ones appeared. "To know him," said a commentator, "some fifty years ago, "is to approach nearer the heart of the flower, the mystic concave of the sky, and the elusive verge of the horizon. The message of the wind and the voice of the bird become clearer."

Jefferies wrote a masterpiece of poetic beauty in his book, "The Story of My Heart." No one can read it without gaining a more intimate knowledge of the Creator of all Nature.

There isn't a color or tone that is not to be found in some flower, or perfectly distributed upon the coat of a bird. Even the color of green upon the grass is a study in tone—each blade a study in itself. With beauty all about us, and in our heart, should we ever complain?

Sex Offenders, Like Mad Dogs, Menace To Society

The lowest form of humanity is the man who attempts to, or succeeds in, outraging a woman. Public opinion will not be content until the law removes the rapist from the ranks of the living in all cases where his offense is without doubt or provocation.

Only this week, a teen-ager and a matured woman have fallen victims of criminal assaults. In one instance, three men were accused by a sixteen-year old Mount Savage girl. A day or so later a seventy-one-year-old woman, who was engaged as caretaker at a welfare organization's headquarters, was pounced upon by a man far younger than she, and fiendishly attacked.

Circumstances surrounding both cases were so sordid that to have given details in newspaper accounts would have shocked the most indifferent citizen. Such criminalities are occurring far too frequently. It is time to deal with them with severity. The only bright aspect growing out of the first crime is the rapidity with which police were able to apprehend the culprits. The authorities made the best of the breaks they received and soon had the trio in custody.

They were found guilty by a Juvenile Court Magistrate of the crime of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Such a charge covers a multitude of offenses. All were given suspended sentences of two years in the House of Correction. It must be assumed that the nature of the testimony against the trio prompted the court to show the leniency it did. Lacking and concrete knowledge of the type of evidence presented, the public must remain content in the belief that the court acted in conformity with statutes covering such cases. But opinions probably exist that if the facts presented were such as to warrant the sentences meted out they should have been invoked.

Up to the time this was written, the person who outraged the elderly woman had not been apprehended. Until he is, he poses a menace to society. Sex crimes must be reduced. Heavier penalties for "serious" offenses would help, some. But it seems obvious that the lesser offenses also must be taken very seriously.

A person who commits a minor offense very often commits a more serious one later on. Carrying out punishment to fit the crime would, at least, put likely violators of the law covering such offenses on notice that he could expect to be dealt with without mercy by the Courts. Certain types of sex offenders are as dangerous, running loose, as mad dogs.

Now it seems the Dutch were only trying to do the Indonesians a service. Check their oil, that is.

Patterns In The Upper Air Currents This Winter

To say that this has so far been a peculiar winter would be to repeat the obvious. But the conditions that have resulted from the switch in the normal weather pattern are becoming serious indeed.

This winter has been marked by mild weather in the east and south, with an excess of rain, and very cold blizzard conditions in the west, extending to California. Cold weather is not unusual for the Great Plains, but the snow and sub-zero blasts of past weeks have been almost continuous. The effect, in damage to livestock, has become of national concern.

According to experts in the Weather Bureau, the reason for the peculiar weather can be found in the upper air currents. The Bureau observers point out that this year the ordinary flow of air from west to east at altitudes of 20,000 and 40,000 feet has been altered into a giant S, the winds flowing from the northwest to the Gulf of Mexico, then up to New England before swinging southeast again.

This pattern of troughs and ridges determines the tracks of storms. Thus cold air is drawn from Alaska and the Yukon southward into the Plains, while warm, moist air is carried from the Gulf northward over the eastern part of the country.

That sounds logical, the Weather Bureau observers are probably right. But the causes are not what interests the country so much as how long the present conditions will last. Cumberland, with its mild weather, has been lucky. Too much warm, moist air, however, carries a danger. Excess moisture can find only two escapes—via the Potomac river and George's Creek. It might be a good thing if the upper air currents got back into their old, familiar winter track.

The charge that such proposals are "anti-veteran" is obviously unwarranted. They are anti-red tape.

Teddy Roosevelt Had Furnished The Pattern

When Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of New York and Republican candidate for Vice President, was reviewing the 1896 Sound Money Parade from the Madison Square stand in New York City, a battalion of business men came along, led by a brilliant Democratic lawyer, who had fought Roosevelt hard in state politics. "And Satan came also," exclaimed the man, quoting Scripture with a sweeping bow to the platform. Grinning from ear to ear, Teddy met the salute half way with a wave of his own hand and the cowboy yell.

That was the way to do it. When a similar situation arose in the inaugural a week ago yesterday, Harry Truman was in the reviewing stand, and the party of the second part, J. Strom Thurmond, Governor of South Carolina, was riding past with Mrs. Thurmond. From man and wife a friendly greeting to the President; on his part, a cold nod, snarling lips. Though Thurmond officially represented a state which sought to do him honor, he could not forget that the Governor, as Dixiecrat candidate, had taken the electoral votes of four Southern states from him and made him the first minority President in a generation.

Maybe the incident disclosed too much. There was that prior incident—in Congress—when Truman misused "senatorial courtesy" to prevent the second-term confirmation of U. S. District Attorney Milligan, whose only offense was that he had splendidly served the public interest and sent Pendergast and others of Truman's Kansas City gang associates to prison. There was that gratuitous intervention as President in a Kansas City primary election to defeat Congressman Roger Slaughter—with the result that the product of a flagrantly crooked Democratic primary was buried in the 1946 election.

If these things say what they seem to, we are sorry for President Truman, who cannot afford to be vindictive.

Bedroom Ventilation

Is it better to sleep with the windows open or closed? This question comes up frequently and must be a cause for many arguments in homes where husbands and wives have different ideas on the subject. It is, in my opinion, a matter of preference, depending upon which practice gives the most comfort. There are advocates of both plans and, to my knowledge, there is no danger to health either way.

In the absence of air conditioning I prefer to have the window up from one to four inches in the wintertime and as far as it will go during warm weather. Drafts may be avoided by keeping the door closed and placing a screen in front of the window or inserting an inclined pane of glass, metal filter, or venetian blind over it. These gadgets divert the air and also darken the room. In the circumstances the occupant is more likely to awaken in the morning refreshed.

It is not necessary to open windows in order to obtain a sufficient amount of oxygen. Bedrooms are not airtight and I never heard that any one ever suffocated from lack of this gas as has happened in a closed vault, closet, or pressure chamber. Some air is always entering through window sashes and cracks in the wall, and beneath doors. Furthermore, many individuals spend the greater part of the day indoors with the windows shut and never are disturbed, an argument that often is used by supporters of the closed window arrangement.

Obviously, then, "fresh air" does not necessarily imply that it must have a high percentage of oxygen. But such an atmosphere has a sweeter smell except in areas near plants and factories giving off obnoxious odors which are annoying when the wind is in the wrong direction. Fresh air is more likely to be cool and moist. This feature may prove objectionable to some, especially if the humidity is high; those with a tendency toward rheumatism frequently ache and the asthmatic may have trouble breathing. To others, this is the "dangerous, damp night air" which they have always been afraid of because their grandparents talked about it so much. But dampness may have a beneficial effect on the membranes of the nose and throat, particularly among individuals who live in heated apartments and homes that are far too dry for comfort. Another helpful quality about circulating air is that in the presence of colds and similar infections, germs are not given an opportunity to accumulate in the room.

On the other hand, the window need not be raised to such an extent that every one is blown out of bed. When the sleeping quarters are too cold, the weight of the blankets required to keep warm often prove bothersome. The electric blanket may solve this problem. In general, cold air cannot be considered harmful. After all, many men in the north woods sleep out-of-doors when trapping or hunting and they rarely suffer from respiratory infections.

Coldness is due to refusal of tiny blood vessels to convey enough blood to the surface. In some instances, a defect in the circulatory system is present. In others the nervous system is at fault while in still others, the metabolism of the body is low. This condition is common in high strung persons.

Democratic Senators Mad At State Department; Dutch Renege On Pact Payments; Canada May Supply Northwest With Hydroelectric Power

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Certain Democratic Senators are boiling mad at the State Department and even irked at the White House for trying to tell them not to support United Nations policy regarding the Dutch in Indonesia.

The incident is extremely significant. It may indicate what some diplomats have suspected, that the State Department was talking loud about forcing the Dutch to pipe down in Indonesia, while playing footsie with the Dutch under the table.

Here is the inside story of what happened. Last week, twelve Senators drafted a resolution vigorously supporting United States' and United Nations' positions regarding Dutch highhandedness in Indonesia. Most of the resolution simply repeated the U.S.-U.N. demands that the Dutch release political prisoners and retreat to their original lines.

Then the Senators added one more clause. They proposed that if Holland did not comply with U.S.-U.N. demands, all Marshall Plan aid be cut off to both the Dutch East Indies and Holland. The United has already cut off ECA aid to the Dutch East Indies but not to Holland.

When the State Department heard about this, however, Acting Secretary of State Lovett slipped over to the White House and sounded the alarms. The White House then phoned Senate Secretary Les Biffle, who in turn called Senate majority leader Scott Lucas of Illinois, plus Senators Pepper of Florida and Johnson of Colorado.

The reslution, the Senators were told, would be most embarrassing. They were asked to kill it.

Are Senators Puppets?

No explanation was given as to why the State Department was opposed, since the resolution was almost identical with the position already taken by the State Department at Lake Success. Nevertheless, the Senators were asked to desist. Senator Pepper, who has just become a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and who is on intimate terms with the President, asked that his name be withdrawn. Many others stuck by their guns.

Remarked Senator Chavez of New Mexico: "What do they expect us to do—just appropriate the money for 'em?"

"I can't recall," observed Ed Johnson of Colorado, "that the Senate has abdicated its right to ratify treaties and play its constitutional part in foreign policy."

Note—Other Senators who signed the resolution included: Hill and Sparkman of Alabama; Magnuson of Washington; Gillette of Iowa; Kilgore and Neely of West Virginia; Murray of Montana, Malone of Nevada (Rep.)

How Dutch Finance War

A significant conversation has been taking place in Europe. The Dutch have told Field Marshal Montgomery that they can't afford to assume their proportionate responsibility under the Defense Pact because of the heavy cost of military operations in Indonesia.

Indonesian operations for one year cost the Duth $436,000,000. During that same year, the Dutch received $476,000,000 of Marshall Plan money from us. In other words, the USA really is paying for the war in Indonesia, yet the Dutch claim they can't afford to pay their share of the Western Europe Defense Pact.

Note—Inside reason why some State Department officials are jittery about pushing the Dutch too far in Indonesia is for fear they'll pull out of the Defense Pact. If so, point out realistic diplomats, where else can the Dutch go—into the arms of Russia, with 90 per cent of their population vigorously anti-Russian?

Electricity Famine

President Truman was talking to Senator Magnuson and Representative Hugh Mitchell of Washington about a proposed deal with Canada for water storage in British Columbia, from which the Pacific Northwest could draw hydroelectric power. The Northwest power shortage, they told the President, was due chiefly to the big aluminum plants built there during the war.

"Well, that's your fault," said Truman, eyeing Magnuson.

"How do you mean?" inquired the dashing young bachelor Senator.

"I mean that you wouldn't rest until you got those aluminum plants established in your state," chuckled Truman, obviously remembering his Senate days when Magnuson had been lobbying to locate war industries in the Northwest. "What do you want us to do—take them away from you?"

"Oh, no," replied the amused Magnuson. "The situation isn't that critical."

Congressman Mitchell commended Truman for "recognizing the needs" of the Northwest by approving plans for a Columbia River Authority, which will expand and co-ordinate electric power, flood control and reclamation facilities in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Nevada and Utah.

"I can't honestly take credit for that," deprecated Truman. "The problem we face in the Northwest wouldn't exist if the proper planning had been done in the first place."

Merry-Go-Round

One lady who was certain the Democrats would stage a comeback in November was Mrs. John McCormack of Massachusetts, wife of the House majority leader. Mrs. M. saved her husband's left-over stationery from the 1946 election; now he doesn't have to buy any . . . . Latest election prophet to come out of the woods is Herbert Hoover. Close friends say that the former GOP President predicted a week before the election that Truman would win because Dewey was "talking down to the American people." . . . When Democratic leaders were looking for a place to store the files of the election-blitzed House Small Business Committee, they discovered a box which once contained the impeachment records of President Andrew Johnson in 1868 . . . . Liberal Congressman John Dingell of Michigan hasn't bought a new pair of shoes in 10 years . . . . "Wish I sould say the same for my kids," says Dingell, who has three . . . . The White House is wondering if the stunning Senate defeat of the resolution exempting inaugural tickets from taxation may be a harbinger of things to come on such issues as taxation, civil rights and health insurance. The House passed the inaugural-ticket exemption by a two-thirds majority, but Senate Democrats couldn't even muster a simple majority, losing 57 to 45. Four Democrats were absent and five (Byrd, Va.; Chapman, Ky.; Johnson, Colo.; McClellan, Ark., and Russell, Ga.) voted with the Republicans.

Washington Fat Boys Say They Have The Know-How

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The new Congress has ok'd "expense accounts" to the President, Vice President, and Speaker of the House. They are to pay no taxes on them, and make no accounting.

Then a bill was introduced to exempt tickets to the inaugural parade and ball from the excise taxes that the rest of us second class citizens have to pay. Those who went to Washington last week were to see the show free of tax. But if you go to the movies to see it on the screen, you pay.

The House of Representatives actually passed this bill which would have cost the government around $50,000 in lost income. But this was a little too much for the Senators. They killed it, 47 to 44. It was a tight squeak. 47 men must have remembered that Grover Cleveland said, "Public office is a public trust."

What Second Class Citizens Face

While voting for these special privileges for the elite, we second class citizens are confronted with the biggest budget and tax bill in the peacetime history of any nation. It is around $42,000,000,000. Even this staggering sum was doctored to the tune of two billions. For the first time, the usual amount of tax refunds was not included in either income or outgo. That falsified the budget according to past standards.

Despite a $42,000,000,000 budget, Mr. Truman expects a deficit of $600,000,000 this year, and $873,000,000 next year. If he is correct about that, we will go into debt again during the biggest boom period in history. If we don't pay our bills in good times, what will happen in bad times?

But who figured that the Florida land boom or the stock market craze in the 1920's would ever end? Or that Dewey might not win? Charles Ponzi, who got $15,000,000 from 40,000 suckers on the promise of 50% profit in two months, has just died in a charity hospital ward. He thought it would never end, either. So did his suckers. They were endless!

Taxes now take a higher per cent of the country's income than any nation, ancient or modern, has ever paid without disaster, sooner or later. The Washington Fat Boys say we are in a "new era" and that they know how to handle everything. We will wait and see. It says in the Bible that whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he reap.

Facing possibly the most dreadful war in all time, do we re-trench, tighten our belts, and go to work? Oh, no, that would interfere with the Fat Boys paying their campaign debts. So we vote for Utopia while arming for war. The peace, won by the boys who died, was tossed away by a vain, sick man who opened the gates of Europe and Asia to the "peace loving" Communists. So our military budget is to be fifteen billion dollars. Did we, in fact, win the war?

Some Things Not Mentioned

To sugar-coat the pill, as Ponzi sugar-coated his pills, the budget never mentions the new lease-lend and re-arming of Western Europe. Billions more.

If the situation is so grave as to justify such huge sums for national defense, we should put the Fat Boys through the wringer and roll their blubber off. We should go to a 48-hour week. We should cut out all luxuries. We should lighten ship. Instead, the Ponzis on the Potomac are going to spend more billions on "federal aid" for housing, schooling, political medicine and social security—when there is no security anywhere if our dollars go soft. We are skating on thin ice. A recession would shrink tax collections by billions—but not the spending. Then what?

Ponzi lived too soon and went to jail. He should have waited until the Fat Boys showed him how it is done.

Why Should Labor Wish To Avoid Hearings On Law

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—Why are the labor-union leaders so anxious to avoid extensive public hearings on the Taft-Hartley Act that they have put the heat on the Democrats in Congress?

This question is beginning to be asked on every side as it becomes apparent that the steamroller may be used in both Houses to prevent a public explanation of why the labor unions are unwilling to submit to cross-examination as to their reasons for wanting the entire Taft-Hartley Act repealed without any substitute for its major provisions.

The expressed view of the labor-union leaders, of course, is that the country in the last election ordered repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act and that everything has been said that could be said in any hearings or that the subject was fully covered in 1947 when the Republicans held hearings.

Does Not Meet Real Issue

This, however, does not meet the real issue, for the idea of the hearings was to ask the labor-union leaders in what respects in actual practice they found the Taft-Hartley Act to be defective. They can make a good argument, to be sure, against some sections which were ambiguously written in the first place. But it would be a constructive piece of education if the United States Senate could discover just why the labor-union leaders are unwilling to answer questions about the operation of the present law. Some of these questions are as follows:

1. Why do labor unions want to repeal the provision which requires unions to reveal to their members what is being done with the funds collected each year?

2. Why do labor unions want to repeal the provision which protects the right of the citizen to work at his job unmolested by other workers or by strong-arm men hired for the picket lines?

3. Why do labor unions want to abolish the right of free speech for the employers and yet retain on the picket line the right to say what they please in denouncing the employer or his customers?

4. Why do the labor-union leaders want to repeal that section of the law which forbids them to take a worker's dues money and use it for political purposes even though he may belong to another political party?

5. Why do the labor-union leaders want repealed the section of the law which requires a labor union to give sixty days' notice before calling a strike and thus permit a return to "wildcat" strikes whereby work can be stopped by any small group at any time and a whole line of employees forced to quit work?

6. Why do labor-union leaders want to remove from the law any provision that enumerates the "unfair labor practices" that a labor union may commit, thus leaving labor unions immune from any restraint whatsoever and confining all "unfair labor practices" to employers?

What Will Truman Do?

These are but a few of the several questions that probably would be asked if there were hearings with any opportunity to ask labor leaders some direct questions. The labor chieftains, however, believe they can force repeal without much discussion and without making a case except to repeat that the people gave them a "mandate." Will President Truman stand by and allow a one-sided labor-relations bill to be jammed through Congress? Is that the practical meaning of the so-called "fair deal"?

Unquestionably such license as is being demanded will lead to strikes and work stoppages and economic losses to the country and Mr. Truman will have no authority, for instance, to stop a coal strike or any other major strike that paralyzes the national economy. Maybe that is the kind of shock that Congress needs to awaken it to its responsibilities. Then, overnight, Congress may be compelled to pass something far more drastic than the Taft-Hartley Act. It will be a sad epoch in labor-management relations when the extremists are in control — and that is what the squelching of hearings really means at this time.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Judge Yankwich

Among curiosities of Americana is the action of Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich in the instance of Lester Cole, Hollywood writer, who refused to testify before the House Committee on un-American Activities whether he was a communist. Cole was discharged by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Eric Johnston, president of Motion Pictures Association of America, Inc., intervened to indicate that his industry had to clean house. Cole sued in Yankwich's court and won his case. Judge Yankwich violently attacked Eric Johnson, to which the latter replied:

"What actually happened, as I testified, is that I presented the producers with two alternatives: either they could employ persons thought by the public to be Communists and defend their employment, or they could dismiss them. The choice was up to the producers, and I told them it was up to them to fish or cut bait. The decision was entirely theirs and they made it unanimously.

"The Judge said my attitude was dogmatic, doctrinaire and absolutist.

"I want to repeat what I have said many times: I would not employ a known Communist in a responsible position. . . .

"In this attitude I find myself in reputable company. The government of the United States will not employ Communists; our national labor unions are purging Communists from positions of leadership. This is my position. I intend to stand by it."

In the course of the trial, Judge Yankwich asked the M.G.M. lawyer whether he knew of any law which required a witness to answer "yes" or "no" to a question. Of course, the lawyer knew of no such law, but a witness must be responsive. It is not his right to be evasive, dilatory, unthruthful. He has the right to answer in such a manner that he is placed in a favorable light, but he is not privileged to lie. The judge knew all that when he asked the question.

Lester Cole had appeared before the House Committee on un-American Activities along with nine other Hollywood witnesses who nicknamed themselves "unfriendly witnesses." He put on this performance:

"Mr. Stripling. Mr. Cole, are you now or have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?

"Mr. Cole. I would like to answer that question as well; I would be very happy to. I believe the reason the question is being asked is that because at the present time there is an election in the screen writers guild in Hollywood that for 15 years Mr. McGuinness and others—

"The chairman. I didn't even know there was an election out there. Go ahead and answer the question. Are you a member of the Communist Party?

"Mr. Cole. If you don't know there is an election there you didn't hear Mr. Lavery's testimony yesterday.

"The chairman. There were some parts I didn't hear.

"Mr. Cole. I am sorry, but I would like to put it into the record that there is an election there.

"The chairman. All right, there is an election there. Now, answer the question, are you a member of the Communist Party?

"Mr. Cole. Can I answer that in my own way, please? May I, please? Can I have that right? Mr. McGuinness was allowed to answer in his own way.

"The chairman. You are an American, aren't you?

"Mr. Cole. yes; I certainly am, and it states so in my statement.

"The chairman. Then you ought to be very proud to answer the question.

"Mr. Cole, I am very proud to answer the question, and I will at times when I feel it is proper.

"The chairman. It would be very simple to answer.

"Mr. Cole. It is very simple to answer the question.

"The chairman. You bet.

"Mr. Cole (continuing). And at times when I feel it is proper I will, but I wish to stand on my rights of association— xxx."

It is obvious from the above that Lester Cole dodged, trimmed, evaded, wise-cracked—but he did not answer. It would have been simpler and more honest had he said: "I refuse to answer." It would have been still simpler had he said, "Yes" or "No." The fact stands that he did not answer. Yet, Judge Yankwich at the trial took the position throughout that Cole was right; that the House Committee on un-American Activities was wrong; that Eric Johnston was wrong; that M. G. M. was wrong.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE M. ADAMS

COLOR AND TONE

I wonder if any of us realize to the full the influence that color has upon our lives, our thoughts, and even our health and happiness. The gray tones of Winter are in great contrast to the brilliance of Springtime and Summer, and so greatly in contrast to the changing and poetic colors and tones of our glorious Northern Autumn.

Few, if any writers upon Nature were so fascinated and absorbed in the colors and tones that are all about the earth, as was Richard Jefferies, whose hundredth anniversary of his birth was celebrated in 1948. Said he: "Color and form and light are as magic to me." If these colors in Nature struck us as magically as they did Jefferies we would all be more appreciative and happy over the wonder of life. Jefferies loved the varying colors of yellow.

How we all look for the first signs of the breaking of the Springtime—with its first signs in the dandelions and crocuses. Little forerunners of the joys ahead. Greens, yellows, and white. How they blend and lend beauty to us all. But in Nature are all of the glorious colors and tones that give to us the inspiration for all the decorations of our homes, our dress, and art.

Then there is the blue of the ocean, the grays, blues and golds of the clouds, as the light of the sun bathes them, washing them into endless varieties of color and tone. I wish that Jefferies were better known. Most of his beautiful writings have been published in England, and last year many new ones appeared. "To know him," said a commentator, "some fifty years ago, "is to approach nearer the heart of the flower, the mystic concave of the sky, and the elusive verge of the horizon. The message of the wind and the voice of the bird become clearer."

Jefferies wrote a masterpiece of poetic beauty in his book, "The Story of My Heart." No one can read it without gaining a more intimate knowledge of the Creator of all Nature.

There isn't a color or tone that is not to be found in some flower, or perfectly distributed upon the coat of a bird. Even the color of green upon the grass is a study in tone—each blade a study in itself. With beauty all about us, and in our heart, should we ever complain?

PITCHING IN A PINCH

By JOHN W. WHEELER

There is a biological theory that husbands and wives get to look alike as they live together and grow older. Then some claim men and women who hang around a lot with horses begin to look like them, or horses begin to resemble the men with whom they associate.

Anyway, Herbert Bayard Swope and some of the other big brains of the New York intellectual set were playing a game one night of comparing the prominent men of that period, which was shortly after the First World War, to various animals. Someone suggested Woodrow Wilson bore a slight resemblance to a horse. Then they go around to Bernard Baruch.

"Don't say the obvious," suggested Mr. Swope, "that he's like a silver fox. No, Mr. Baruch is like the Indian elephant which is five times smarter than the African elephant. I'll tell you why. When he comes to a bridge, he puts his trunk on it, first to test it, then he tries it with his forefeet, swings around and puts his hindquarters on it and finally sends another elephant across first."

Mr. Swope is a newspaper genius who jumped the track, probably because of his alert mind and brilliance. He became occupied with too many avocations. When I first started in the business, he was regarded as the best reporter in New York at a time when you had to hustle to get that rating because in those days no one depended on handouts.

One of the financial giants, who resisted newspapermen at that time, was E. H. Harriman. But Swope went to his country estate and managed to get in, perhaps by using the first trick taught reporters in those days, which was to stick your foot in the door when the butler opened it so you could give him an argument without him closing it in your face. Anyway, Mr. Harriman warmed up and the reporter got his story, and Swope proved to be so charming he was invited to spend the night. At that time he was not familiar with valets, although now he takes them in his stride.

He was quite surprised when e awoke the next morning to find all his clothes missing and particularly chagrined when he remembered one of his socks had a sizeable hole in it. Puzzled as to his next move, he was relieved when there came a knock at his door and a valet entered without waiting to be invited. He deposited all the Swope clothes on a chair with the sock neatly darned.

"What temperature would you like your bath, sir?" he asked.

Mr. S. not being accustomed then to bath temperatures, but always on the ball, replied nonchalantly,

"Oh, tepid, tepid, tepid."

"Right, sir," said the man. Another problem developed when the bath was finished, for Swope could find nothing but hard, little hand towels which surprised him, but he did the best he could by mopping and blotting. As he opened the door, the valet was standing with an enormous Turkish towels spread out and waiting. Nowadays, Mr. Swope could write as authoritative a book on valets as Emily Post does on etiquette.

One of the most sensational murders in the history of New York crime occurred about two in the morning when four gunmen or torpedoes shot and killed Herman Rosenthal at the entrance to the old Metropole Hotel after a decoy had gotten him to come into the street. Behind it all was Lieutenant Charles Becker, head of the powerful strong arm squad who, as it turned out, had been profitably associated with a gambling ring. Rosenthal was scheduled to talk to the District Attorney the day he was killed. This followed underworld rumors he had been quietly "singing" or at least "humming" before.

Everybody was trying to cover up immediately after the murder, including the police, when Herbert Swope, who happened to be in the neighorhood—his usual luck—did one of the greatest pieces of reporting of those effervescent and colorful newspaper days. He went to the West Forty-seventh street police station and from there called District Attorney Charles Whitman who was in bed and asleep. Drowsy, the D. A. asked,

"What will I do?"

"Get dressed and come down here right away," answered Swope without hesitation. They were old friends.

That started the train of evidence which led to the electric chair for Lieutenant Becker after two sensational trials. The four gunmen met the same fate. The apocryphal story told later in newspaper circles as a sequel is that the New York World reporter who covered the electrocution of Becker at Sing Sing prison came back to the office with a message for Herbert Swope who felt he had been largely responsible for the conviction and execution of the policeman and who was then city editor of the World. According to the report the priest at the prison said,

Success and prosperity perhaps have hurt Swope as a newspaperman, but he has done many outstanding things before and after he retired as an ink-stained wretch which he never was. Always dapper, this year he was up near the top of the list of the ten best-dressed men.

He covered the Paris Peace Conference after World War 1 brilliantly and lately has been closely associated with Bernard Baruch on the United Nations Atomic Energy Commision. In fact, he fashioned the dramatic opening of Mr. Baruch's speech—

PITCHING IN A PINCH

By JOHN W. WHEELER

There is a biological theory that husbands and wives get to look alike as they live together and grow older. Then some claim men and women who hang around a lot with horses begin to look like them, or horses begin to resemble the men with whom they associate.

Anyway, Herbert Bayard Swope and some of the other big brains of the New York intellectual set were playing a game one night of comparing the prominent men of that period, which was shortly after the First World War, to various animals. Someone suggested Woodrow Wilson bore a slight resemblance to a horse. Then they go around to Bernard Baruch.

"Don't say the obvious," suggested Mr. Swope, "that he's like a silver fox. No, Mr. Baruch is like the Indian elephant which is five times smarter than the African elephant. I'll tell you why. When he comes to a bridge, he puts his trunk on it, first to test it, then he tries it with his forefeet, swings around and puts his hindquarters on it and finally sends another elephant across first."

Mr. Swope is a newspaper genius who jumped the track, probably because of his alert mind and brilliance. He became occupied with too many avocations. When I first started in the business, he was regarded as the best reporter in New York at a time when you had to hustle to get that rating because in those days no one depended on handouts.

One of the financial giants, who resisted newspapermen at that time, was E. H. Harriman. But Swope went to his country estate and managed to get in, perhaps by using the first trick taught reporters in those days, which was to stick your foot in the door when the butler opened it so you could give him an argument without him closing it in your face. Anyway, Mr. Harriman warmed up and the reporter got his story, and Swope proved to be so charming he was invited to spend the night. At that time he was not familiar with valets, although now he takes them in his stride.

He was quite surprised when e awoke the next morning to find all his clothes missing and particularly chagrined when he remembered one of his socks had a sizeable hole in it. Puzzled as to his next move, he was relieved when there came a knock at his door and a valet entered without waiting to be invited. He deposited all the Swope clothes on a chair with the sock neatly darned.

"What temperature would you like your bath, sir?" he asked.

Mr. S. not being accustomed then to bath temperatures, but always on the ball, replied nonchalantly,

"Oh, tepid, tepid, tepid."

"Right, sir," said the man. Another problem developed when the bath was finished, for Swope could find nothing but hard, little hand towels which surprised him, but he did the best he could by mopping and blotting. As he opened the door, the valet was standing with an enormous Turkish towels spread out and waiting. Nowadays, Mr. Swope could write as authoritative a book on valets as Emily Post does on etiquette.

•—•—•

One of the most sensational murders in the history of New York crime occurred about two in the morning when four gunmen or torpedoes shot and killed Herman Rosenthal at the entrance to the old Metropole Hotel after a decoy had gotten him to come into the street. Behind it all was Lieutenant Charles Becker, head of the powerful strong arm squad who, as it turned out, had been profitably associated with a gambling ring. Rosenthal was scheduled to talk to the District Attorney the day he was killed. This followed underworld rumors he had been quietly "singing" or at least "humming" before.

Everybody was trying to cover up immediately after the murder, including the police, when Herbert Swope, who happened to be in the neighorhood—his usual luck—did one of the greatest pieces of reporting of those effervescent and colorful newspaper days. He went to the West Forty-seventh street police station and from there called District Attorney Charles Whitman who was in bed and asleep. Drowsy, the D. A. asked,

"What will I do?"

"Get dressed and come down here right away," answered Swope without hesitation. They were old friends.

That started the train of evidence which led to the electric chair for Lieutenant Becker after two sensational trials. The four gunmen met the same fate. The apocryphal story told later in newspaper circles as a sequel is that the New York World reporter who covered the electrocution of Becker at Sing Sing prison came back to the office with a message for Herbert Swope who felt he had been largely responsible for the conviction and execution of the policeman and who was then city editor of the World. According to the report the priest at the prison said,

FROZEN YOUTH HAS CALLERS—John Helmick, 16-year-old Davis, W. Va. youth who was badly frozen after being lost in the woods of Tucker County for five days, is seen here in an Elkins, W. Va., hospital while being visited by relatives. Helmick was the only survivor among three boys lost in the snow-covered wilderness and the object of a week-long search by several hundred men. His two companions, Eston and Robert Carr, died of exposure. Physicians said Helmick suffered from hunger and exposure and his hands and feet were badly blighted by the cold. It may be necessary to amputate his legs, it was indicated, although every effort is being made to save them. Visiting him are Mrs. Rosie Roy, of Beverly, W. Va., an aunt, and David Helmick, of Norton, a brother.

unusual latitude in making inspection trips.

The committee was also the first congressional group since 1939 to be given permission to enter Russia and is the only congressional committee which spent any substantial amount of time there making unsupervised studies.

The committee report made upon the group's return to Washington was the first such official expression pointing out the inadvisability of the so-called "appeasement policies."

Other House committees on which Mr. Mundt has served include Education, Irrigation and Reclamation, Indian Affairs and Foreign Affairs. He is now a member of the Senate Committe on Executive Expenditures and the District of Columbia Committee.

Born in Humboldt, S. D., June 3, 1900, Senator Mundt holds degrees from Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., and Columbia University.

Entered Teaching Career

After 12 years in various teaching positions, he resigned as chairman of the speech department at Eastern State Normal School, Madison, S. D., in 1936 to devote full time to the loan and investment business. He was elected to Congress two years later.

In 1925 he was one of the organizers of the National Forensic League, which now has 500 chapters in 42 states. At present Senator Mundt is national president of the organization. He is former editor of its magazine, "The Rostrum."

A former national vice president of the Izaak Walton League, Senator Mundt has written magazine articles on conservation principles and their relationship to succeeful farming and healthful recreation. For 10 years he has pioneered in Congress for effective pollution control legislation.

He was district governor of Kiwanis Internation for the Minnesota-Dakotas District in 1934 and has served as chairman or member of several of the International committees.

payment of a bonus to members of the armed forces from Maryland; and

(2) Be it further resolved that such a bonus act would not constitute an undue strain upon the financial structure or revenues of the State of Maryland, as 22 states of the United States have already enacted or are in the process of enacting bonus statutes similar to the one now being proposed; and

(3) Be it further resolved that the Republican Party of Allegany County unqualifiedly endorses and recommends the passage of legislation providing a bonus for the veterans of the armed forces of the United States, who at the time of their service were citizens of the State of Maryland; and

(4) Finally be it resolved that as Section 34 of Article 3 of the Constitution provides that the General Assembly of the State of Maryland shall not be prohibited of raising funds for the purpose of aiding or compensating in such way as it shall deem proper, those citizens of the State, who have served, with honor, their country and State in time of war, that the General Assembly aforesaid, in manner provided therein, enact suitable legislation for the payment of a bonus to be submitted to the citizens of Maryland for their acceptance or rejection."

stalled or shortly thereafter, thus assuring service in 90 days or so to all those applicants.

On the other hand, he explained, there are other congested areas including South Cumberland, Valley Road, Oldtown Road, Bedford Road, Baltimore Pike, LaVale and the Corriganville sections, where additional cable facilities must be installed before service can be supplied for all who want it.

Work on all this expansion of outside facilities is to be expedited, Smith declared, and company officials believe that before the end of the year, all persons in the area who want telephones can have them.

The work of installing these additional lines and cables is a continuous task, Smith said, and will be continuous throughout the year, under the present program.

During the business meeting a report will be given on the current membership drive.

Mine Reports

Kimble said this meant the study committee would have a chance to examine his 75-page revision of present laws.

"Emergency sections could be plucked out and offered this session of the legislature," Kimble said.

He expects to introduce the revision shortly, but said much of the detail might be held over for the 1950 session.

Five men were asphyxiated at Kitzmiller when fire broke out in the fan house of a George M. Nethken Company mine November 4.

Buscher said his investigation disclosed there was "only one small fire extinguisher" out side the mine. Rowe explained he and the owner thought a stream running out of the air shaft and under the fan house made additional equipment unnecessary.

"This might reasonably be said to have been the exercise of poor judgment by the district mine inspector," Buscher commented.

"But it is here again pointed out that the Maryland statutes are silent on the subject. x .. x

"It seems clear that the lack of additional equipment should not be imputed as such gross neglect on the part of the district inspector as would prompt the action requested by Mr. Jones."

He added later:

Holds Law At Fault

"The failure of the present law to provide minimum standards x x x is believed to be the more probable cause for the lack of equipment."

Buscher described the Federal Mine Safety Code as "in the nature of a contractual relationship" between owner and union. Both should enforce its provisions, he said.

Replying to separate charges by Jones, Buscher reported:

1. The Nethken mine had another exit 500-600 feet from the main opening, plus an alternate escapeway through a connecting mine.
2. "There is no evidence that the traveling ways were inadequate."
3. Reversible fans are required only at gaseous mines. This is not a gaseous mine.
4. For the same reason, the fact the fan-house was not fireproof constituted no violation.

ced to call upon other fire companies to aid twice last summer since the company has only one piece of equipment.

Other members of the Fire Truck committee are William Wiegard, A. Youngblood, Earl Zembower, Alvin Youngblood, Jr., and Waren Livengood.

The committee has been working on plans for the truck, which will cost about $10,000 for the past four months.

Have you checked up lately on whether you're giving your family the nutritious meals they need every day? Here's a chart on which you can see whether you are serving the foods that make for good health, enjoyment and efficiency. If you can answer "yes" to these six "musts" you don't have to worry about your menu-planning.

MILK: at least 3 or 4 cups for children; 2 for adults—or a serving of cheese for part of it.

CITRUS FRUIT (orange or grapefruit) or TOMATO: at least 1 serving for each person.

POTATOES, OTHER VEGETABLES AND FRUITS: at least 2 or 3 servings for each person—green leafy and raw vegetables often.

EGGS, MEAT or FISH, CHEESE, DRIED BEANS or PEAS: at least 5 eggs a week; at least 1 serving of the other foods every day.

BREAD or CEREAL: whole grain or enriched, at every meal.

BUTTER or FORTIFIED MARGARINE: on bread and vegetables in moderate amounts.

Now how about it? Could your family improve their milk score? If it doesn't go down well out of a glass put lots of milk soups, custards, other puddings made with milk, creamed vegetable dishes, on your menus.

If citrus fruit is neglected at breakfast be sure to see that it appears at other meals — orange sections on vanilla pudding maybe, or a grapefruit juice cocktail before dinner. And use tomatoes (fresh or canned) often.

Are potatoes and other vegetables and fruits being enjoyed? If it's the vegetables that are trailing, serve them in new ways. Pictured here are green bundles of snap beans cooked until just crisp-tender and banded with a delicious Hollandaise Sauce. Who wouldn't like snap beans—or broccoli or cauliflower or artichokes—with this sauce? Add creamy scrambled eggs to this vegetable platter, along with freshly made toast, and you have something that adds up just right!

HOLLANDAISE SAUCE

Ingredients: ½ cup fortified margarine, 2 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice, ⅓ cup boiling water, ⅛ to ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon dry mustard.

Method: Divide the margarine in three parts. Place hot water in the bottom part of a double boiler and put one-third of the margarine, the egg yolks and vinegar or lemon juice in the upper part. Keep the heat under the boiler low so that the sauce will not cook too rapidly. Stir constantly until the margarine is melted. Add the second portion of margarine and cntinue cooking and stirring. As the sauce thickens add the remaining margarine and cook until it is thick. Add boiling water gradually, then add salt and mustard and cook about I minute longer, stirring as you do so.

Note: If you have a double boiler with a rounded bottom use it for the sauce. You may also use a rotary egg beater instead of a spoon for stirring. Slow cooking is the rule if you want to prevent curdling; if you don't watch the heat carefully enough, however, and it does curdle, gradually add one to two tablespoons of cream, beating them in thoroughly.

Taste-Teasing Appetizers

"Good things come in little packages," goes the saying. You'll think so, too, when you try these tiny appetite charmers which are sure to be the talk of the party!

.1 Dip cubes of cooked ham or luncheon meat in egg, then in bread crumbs, and fry in deep fat. Just before serving, spear a slice of banana to each cube of meat with a toothpick. 2. Cocktail sausages are especially good when sandwiched between thin pickle slices. 3. Make a past of liver sausage, crumbled crisp bacon, mustard, and mayonnaise to spread on whole wheat crackers. 4. Wrap short slices of bacon around olives and fasten with a toothpick. Broil just long enough to crisp bacon. Serve hot. 5. Spread slices of dried beef with cottage cheese mixed with finely chopped green peper. Roll and fasten with toothpicks. For pretty service of the appetizers, arrange them on a large, flat late covered with grape leaves and decorate the center with a bunch of grapes.

Creamed Chicken On Waffles

4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
½ cup chicken broth
2 cups cooked chicken, diced
1 cups cooked peas, or green beans
Waffles

Melt butter in saucepan add flour and seasoning and blend. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly. Cook until mixture is smooth and thinkened. Add chicken broth, diced chicken, and cooked vegetables. Serve between and on top of piping hot, crisp waffles. Cut into fourths and serve immediately, garnished with parsley. Serves 4.

The Indians in the part of the United States now known as North Dakota were hostile, and until after 1866 the white population was sparse.

Butterscotch Bread Pudding

2¾ cups milk
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon butter
5 slices bread
2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat 2¼ cups milk in top of double boiler with brown sugar and butter. Soak bread slices in ½ cup milk in a buttered baking dish. Beat eggs, add milk mixture, and stir until blended. Add vanilla and pour mixture over bread. Bake in a slow oven, 325°F., about 50 to 60 minutes or until done and lightly browned. Serve with cream. Serves 6.

Women spend 80 per cent of all money for food; 75 per cent of all money spent for clothing; 67 per cent of all money spent for consumer goods.

The largest and fiercest of the weasel family is the wolverine. The adult males weigh about 30 pounds.

Kumquat Sauce

1 cup thinly sliced kumquats
1 cup boiling water
½ cup sugar
½ cup strained honey

Remove seeds from kumquat slices. Put kumquats in saucepan and add boiling water. Simmer 20 minutes. Stir in sugar and boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in honey. Chill and serve on chilled custard. Serve 6 to 7.

Soup Was Meant To Lead A Double Life

WINTER FARE . . . Soup with cheese crackers.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Canned soups certainly are getting around these days—not only as a first course, but in casserole dishes, in salads, and—yes, in desserts. A delicious cake can be made with condensed cream of tomato soup—substantial fare for the hearty appetites of the ten-age crowd, good too when Mom and Dad's friends come in for a game of bridge. Serve the cake with glasses of cider or grape-juice punch and a bowl of nuts for the younger people—accompany it with steaming hot cup of tea or coffee for the oldsters. Here are receipes for the cake and its frosting.

RAISIN TOMATO SOUP CAKE

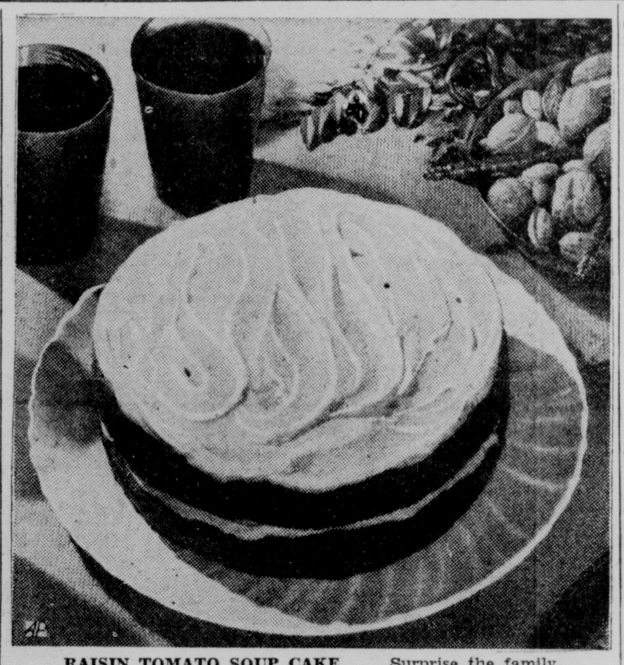
Ingredients: 3 cups of sifted all-purpose flour, 1 tablespoon double-acting baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cloves, ¾ cup shortening, 1¼ cups sugar, 2 eggs, 1 eleven-ounce can condensed cream of tomato soup (undiluted), ¼ cup water, ½ teaspon baking soda, ¾ cup seedless raisins.

Method: Sift together flour, baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add eggs and beat well. Mix soup, water and baking soda together well. Add the sifted dry ingredients and the soup mixture alternately to the creamed shortening and sugar, stirring after each addition. Add raisins and stir lightly. Pour into two greased pans (8 x 8 inches). Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 40 minutes. When cool put together and top with the following frosting.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING

Ingredients: 1 there-ounce package cream cheese, 1½ cups shifted confectioners' sugar, ½ tablespoon butter or fortified margarine (softened), ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Beat cream cheese with rotary beater until smooth. Add sugar and continue beating until well blended. Add butter or margarine and vanilla and mix well.



RAISIN TOMATO SOUP CAKE . . . Surprise the family

Pineapple, Rice Are Good Companions

There are many vegetable dishes that will take the place of a salad at a meal, and there are salads that answer for dessert. Here is an outstanding two-way-purpose dish that can add a touch of sweetness so good with ham and poultry meals in particular and still it is an excellent, easy grand finale to a light meal.

Fluffy White Rice

Put one cup of white rice, one teaspoon salt and two cups water in a two-quart saucepan. Cover with a tight fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more. During this time the rice will absorb the water and come out deliciously tender. Remove the lid to permit the rice to steam dry. Lift rice with a fork to test its consistency.

Rice And Pineapple

3 cups cooked white rice
4 slices of pineapple, cut into pieces
½ cup brown sugar
Butter or margarine for "dotting"
Juice from canned pineapple

Place one-half of the cooked rice in the bottom of a greased casserole. Arrange pieces of two of the slices of pineapple over the top of the rice and dot here and there with the butter or margarine. Sprinkle with half the brown sugar. Then place another layer of cooked rice, distribute the rest of the pineapple, dot again with butter or margarine and sprinkle over all the rest of the brown sugar.

Pour the pineapple juice over all. Bake in a 300 degree oven for about 30 minutes. Serve hot if it is to go along with the meal or warm or cold when used as a dessert.

Grated onion, chopped parsley, salt and freshly-ground pepper make an excellent seasoning combination for hamburgers. Serve with creamed potatoes.

A delicious dessert for Sunday dinner is quickly prepared from packaged vanilla ice cream plus a sauce of crushed pineapple flavored with a little mint.

Soup Was Meant To Lead A Double Life

WINTER FARE . . . Soup with cheese crackers.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Canned soups certainly are getting around these days—not only as a first course, but in casserole dishes, in salads, and—yes, in desserts. A delicious cake can be made with condensed cream of tomato soup—substantial fare for the hearty appetites of the ten-age crowd, good too when Mom and Dad's friends come in for a game of bridge. Serve the cake with glasses of cider or grape-juice punch and a bowl of nuts for the younger people—accompany it with steaming hot cup of tea or coffee for the oldsters. Here are receipes for the cake and its frosting.

RAISIN TOMATO SOUP CAKE

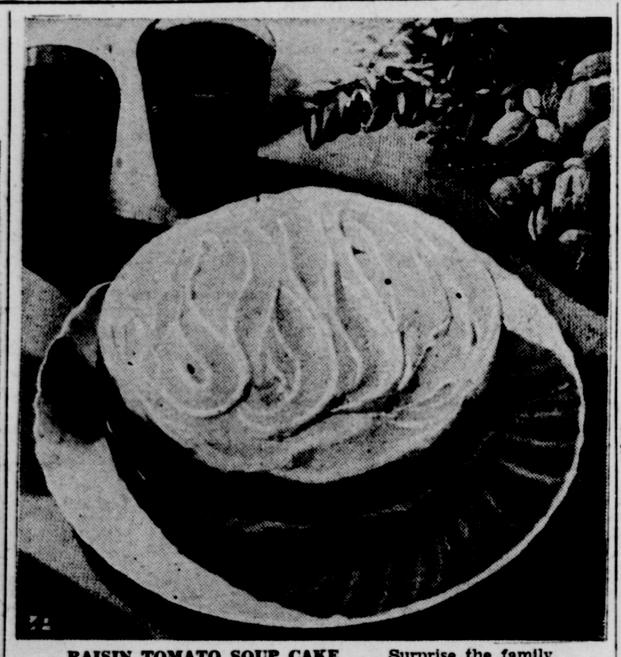
Ingredients: 3 cups of sifted all-purpose flour, 1 tablespoon double-acting baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon cloves, ¾ cup shortening, 1¼ cups sugar, 2 eggs, 1 eleven-ounce can condensed cream of tomato soup (undiluted), ¾ cup water, ½ teaspon baking soda, ¾ cup seedless raisins.

Method: Sift together flour, baking powder, cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add eggs and beat well. Mix soup, water and baking soda together well. Add the sifted dry ingredients and the soup mixture alternately to the creamed shortening and sugar, stirring after each addition. Add raisins and stir lightly. Pour into two greased pans (8 x 8 inches). Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 40 minutes. When cool put together and top with the following frosting.

CREAM CHEESE FROSTING

Ingredients: 1 there-ounce package cream cheese, 1½ cups shifted confectioners' sugar, ½ tablespoon butter or fortified margarine (softened), ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Beat cream cheese with rotary beater until smooth. Add sugar and continue beating until well blended. Add butter or margarine and vanilla and mix well.



RAISIN TOMATO SOUP CAKE . . . Surprise the family

Pineapple, Rice Are Good Companions

There are many vegetable dishes that will take the place of a salad at a meal, and there are salads that answer for dessert. Here is an outstanding two-way-purpose dish that can add a touch of sweetness so good with ham and poultry meals in particular and still it is an excellent, easy grand finale to a light meal.

Fluffy White Rice

Put one cup of white rice, one teaspoon salt and two cups water in a two-quart saucepan. Cover with a tight fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more. During this time the rice will absorb the water and come out deliciously tender. Remove the lid to permit the rice to steam dry. Lift rice with a fork to test its consistency.

Rice And Pineapple

3 cups cooked white rice
4 slices of pineapple, cut into pieces
½ cup brown sugar
Butter or margarine for "dotting"
Juice from canned pineapple

Place one-half of the cooked rice in the bottom of a greased casserole. Arrange pieces of two of the slices of pineapple over the top of the rice and dot here and there with the butter or margarine. Sprinkle with half the brown sugar. Then place another layer of cooked rice, distribute the rest of the pineapple, dot again with butter or margarine and sprinkle over all the rest of the brown sugar.

Pour the pineapple juice over all. Bake in a 300 degree oven for about 30 minutes. Serve hot if it is to go along with the meal or warm or cold when used as a dessert.

Grated onion, chopped parsley, salt and freshly-ground pepper make an excellent seasoning combination for hamburgers. Serve with creamed potatoes.

A delicious dessert for Sunday dinner is quickly prepared from packaged vanilla ice cream plus a sauce of crushed pineapple flavored with a little mint.

Rice Piquante With Frankfurters A Delicious Popular Supper Treat

Frankfurters seldom ever need a promotion job to make them popular. They came into being with popularity and have not been shaken from the pedestal. Linking them up with another popular food—fluffy rice, seasoned with a piquante sauce—is a special-special for family meals or for that Saturday Night supper that has become a standard way of entertaining.

Ingredients

3 cups cooked white rice
3 tablespoons fat
1 onion chopped
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup catsup
1 cup meat stock
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon salt
6 frankfurters

If meat stock isn't available, use canned bullion or make the cup of stock with water and beef extract.

Fluffy White Rice

Put 1 cup of white rice, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 cups cold water in a two-quart saucepan. Cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more. During this time the rice will absorb the water and come out deliciously tender. Remove the lid to permit the rice to steam dry. Lift rice with a fork to test its consistency. Never stir rice while cooking—and the grains will be separate and tender.

Preparation

Melt fat in a skillet, add onion and cook until the onion is yellow. Add seasonings and stock and simmer, covered, fifteen minutes. Place the rice in the bottom of greased casserole, pour the sauce over it and arrange frankfurters on top. Brush the frankfurters with melted fat and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes. This will make six servings.

Rub a crust of bread with a freshly cut garlic clove and put the bread in your salda bowl. It will give a delicious flavor to the greens when they are tossed with the dressing. Remove the bread crust before serving the salad.

Curry Powder Seasoning Aid

Curry has been a common seasoning in India for years. With British colonization, many English people moved to India. They tasted curry dishes, liked them and sent the receipes to the folks "back home." Part of our own introduction to cury dishes came from English visitors and part from our Pacific Islands, where emigrants from India had settled.

What is curry or curry powder as we buy it? It is not the product of any one berry, nut or plant. It is a combination of several spices and different brands of curry can easily have a slightly different flavor. Curry powder is obtained by pounding or grating several spices, including ginger root, chilis and tumeric and sometimes saffron together.

The Indian housewife makes her own curry powder to suit the taste of her family. Most people think of curry as hot to the taste, but this is not necessarily so. It all depends on the mixing. It is an acquired taste to some people and others never like it, so it is best to know the taste of your crowd before you serve it.

Curry powder may be used simply as a flavor, as one uses paprika, or any seasoning. A small amount added to French dressing is an improvement to some salads. One teaspoonful of curry powder added to white sauce is excellent to serve with steamed fish. Combine hard cooked eggs with curry flavored white sauce and serve with steamed rice for luncheon. For left-over real roast or chicken, the following recipe is excellent to use:

Curried Veal or Chicken

2 cups sliced onion
½ teaspoon minced garlic
1 cup diced celery
3 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoon flour
2 cups milk
2 cups diced cooked veal
⅓ cup quartered almonds
1 chopped pimiento
3 cups oven-popped rice cereal

Cook onion, garlic and celery in fat until lightly browned. Combine curry powder, salt, pepper and flour; stir into first mixture. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth. Add veal, nutmeats and pimiento; simmer about 10 minutes. Combine rice cereal and butter and heat throughly. Arrange toasted cereal in center of platter; surround with Curried Veal.

Yield: 6 servings.

If meat stock isn't available, use canned bullion or make the cup of stock with water and beef extract.

Fluffy White Rice

Put 1 cup of white rice, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 cups cold water in a two-quart saucepan. Cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more. During this time the rice will absorb the water and come out deliciously tender. Remove the lid to permit the rice to steam dry. Lift rice with a fork to test its consistency. Never stir rice while cooking—and the grains will be separate and tender.

Preparation

Melt fat in a skillet, add onion and cook until the onion is yellow. Add seasonings and stock and simmer, covered, fifteen minutes. Place the rice in the bottom of greased casserole, pour the sauce over it and arrange frankfurters on top. Brush the frankfurters with melted fat and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for 25 to 30 minutes.

This will make six servings.

Rub a crust of bread with a freshly cut garlic clove and put the bread in your salda bowl. It will give a delicious flavor to the greens when they are tossed with the dressing. Remove the bread crust before serving the salad.

Curry Powder Seasoning Aid

Curry has been a common seasoning in India for years. With British colonization, many English people moved to India. They tasted curry dishes, liked them and sent the receipes to the folks "back home." Part of our own introduction to cury dishes came from English visitors and part from our Pacific Islands, where emigrants from India had settled.

What is curry or curry powder as we buy it? It is not the product of any one berry, nut or plant. It is a combination of several spices and different brands of curry can easily have a slightly different flavor. Curry powder is obtained by pounding or grating several spices, including ginger root, chilis and tumeric and sometimes saffron together.

The Indian housewife makes her own curry powder to suit the taste of her family. Most people think of curry as hot to the taste, but this is not necessarily so. It all depends on the mixing. It is an acquired taste to some people and others never like it, so it is best to know the taste of your crowd before you serve it.

Curry powder may be used simply as a flavor, as one uses paprika, or any seasoning. A small amount added to French dressing is an improvement to some salads. One teaspoonful of curry powder added to white sauce is excellent to serve with steamed fish. Combine hard cooked eggs with curry flavored white sauce and serve with steamed rice for luncheon. For left-over real roast or chicken, the following recipe is excellent to use:

Curried Veal or Chicken

2 cups sliced onion
½ teaspoon minced garlic
1 cup diced celery
3 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoon flour
2 cups milk
2 cups diced cooked veal
½ cup quartered almonds
1 chopped pimiento
3 cups oven-popped rice cereal

Cook onion, garlic and celery in fat until lightly browned. Combine curry powder, salt, pepper and flour; stir into first mixture. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Cook until smooth. Add veal, nutmeats and pimiento; simmer about 10 minutes. Combine rice cereal and butter and heat throughly. Arrange toasted cereal in center of platter; surround with Curried Veal.

Yield: 6 servings.

Friendsville Group Organizes Rotary Club, To Ask Charter

A group of 23 Friendville area men met with Dr. E. E. Church, governor of Rotary District No. 178, recently to lay plans for the organization of a Rotary Club in Friendsville. The group voted to apply for a charter.

Those present at the organization meeting were John Capel, who was elected Secretary, George Coddington, William F. Frazee, Paul Friend, W. J. Glenn, Dorsep Guard, elected director, R. E. Glass Cigarette Papers

PRAGUE (AP) — A new cigaret paper with a glass fiber that may attract foreign purchasers has been announced here. The newspaper "Mlada Fronta" (Youth Front) said the paper is the product of a paper mill at Vrane.

Besides reducing fire hazards, the newspaper says, the glass fiber enables the cigaret ash to remain in the "paper" net, thereby keeping ashes from falling on clothing, tablecloths, and rugs in a room. The Czechoslovak Tobacco monopoly has begun first experimental trials on mass production.

Snead Cops Lead In Phoenix Open

Sammy's 3-Under Par 68 Tops 1st Round

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 27 (AP)—Sammy Snead's putter behaved on wet greens here today as the West Virginia slammer took a lead in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament with a three under par 68.

A 25-foot birdie putt that dropped into the cup on the 16th hole was largely responsible for the White Sulphur Springs veteran's one-stroke lead.

Snead commented he "lost his green troubles for the day" as he finished the round with a short two-footer for a birdie four on the 540-yard 18th.

In a second-place deadlock at 69 were Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., Jack Harden, El Paso, Tex., Tex Consolver, Wichita, Kas., Dick Metz, Virginia Beach, Va., and Jack Burke, Jr., White Plains, N. Y.

Tied at 70 were Bill Nary, Phoenix, Leland Gibson, Kansas City, Mo., and Bob Hamilton, Landover, Maine.

Fort Hill's Reserves Trim Ridgeley, 37-19

Fort Hill High School's Reserves trounced Ridgeley High's Reserves by the score of 37-19 last night at Fort Hill gym.

Piedmont Quint Defeats Beall In Close Game

Third Period Spurt Decides Issue, 29-27

PIEDMONT, W. Va., Jan. 27—Piedmont High School edged Beall High School in a 29-27 thriller here tonight.

The score was knotted nine times at 2, 4, 6, 8, 9, 11, 14, 17 and 19. Then Coach William "Huck" Miers' Lions took a five-point lead and were never headed, although the Mountaineers outpointed the locals 5 to 2 in the final period to make it a hair-raising finish.

Beall held a 9-8 advantage at the quarter and an 18-15 lead at halftime but the Lions forged to the front in the third period, 27-22.

Billy Gannon and Evers "Buck" Smith paced the Piedmont scorers with 13 and 11 points while Jack Robeson topped Beall with nine markers and played a nice floor game.

Armed Is Training For $25,000 Event

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 27 (AP)—Calumet Farm's Armed, once the leading money winner among thoroughbreds, is back in serious training for the $25,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap.

Trainer H. A. (Jimmy) Jones said that Armed, sidelined for the better part of a year, is being pointed for Gulfstream feature.

"Armed is doing everything we are asking," Jones said. "If he continues along the same course he promises to be ready in plenty of time for the Gulfstream Handicap."

Armed won the mile and a quarter fixture in 1947 to set a new track record of 2.01 2-5. Last year he tried again but was beaten by the mare, Rampart, in a bitter stretch battle.

Louis Gets Offer Of $250,000 For Fight In Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 27—(INS)—Cook County Democratic Committeeman, J. T. Plunkett tonight promised heavyweight champion Joe Louis a minimum guarantee of $250,000 for a title defense in Chicago next June.

Plunkett made known his offer in a letter to Truman Gibson, Louis' attorney, on the stationery of the Central Committee of the Democratic Party in Cook County.

Plunkett's offer was:

1. $50,000 on the signing of contracts; another $50,000 within 90 days thereafter;

2. Minimum guarantee of $250,000 or 50 per cent of the gross gate less taxes;

3. 45 per cent of radio sales; 45 per cent of motion picture sales; 50 per cent of television sales.

Earlier, Gibson had said Louis would fight in Chicago for a guarantee of $400,000 or 50 per cent of the gate; 50 per cent of movie and radio rights and 100 per cent of television rights.

Gibson said in Chicago today that Louis is not bound by contract to fight in New York.

Bob Hannegan Sells Interest In Cardinals

Fred M. Saigh, Jr., Now Owns Majority Of Stock In Club

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27 (AP) — Fred M. Saigh, Jr., became president and majority stockholder of the St. Louis Cardinals today by buying out his partner, former Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan.

Hannegan told a news conference he was selling his interest in the far-flung Cardinal organization and stepping down as its president for reasons of health.

The 43-year-old Saigh, rapidly building a reputation as a master of high finance, announced plans for streamlining the organization by delegating more authority to employes. He said he planned no changes in personnel.

Now Owns 90 Per Cent

Saigh disclosed that he now owns about 90 per cent of the Cardinal stock. This probably gives the Cardinals the most limited ownership of any club in the major leagues with the exception of the Boston Red Sox, of which Tom Yawkey is the sole owner.

Neither Hannegan nor Saigh would say how much money changed hands in the deal. Unofficial estimates of the amount Hannegan received ranged from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Fourteen months ago they bought the club from Sam Breadon for a reported sum of $4,060,000, with Saigh becoming vice president and treasurer.

Hannegan said the possibility of a change in ownership was first discussed about a month ago and that while he was in Washington for the inauguration of President Truman his physician, Gen. Wallace Graham, advised him to give up the arduous work of directing the Cardinals. Hannegan underwent an operation for hypertension about two years ago.

Tells Why He Withdrew

"My health has not deteriorated," Hannegan said, "but Gen. Graham told me I wasn't making the progress he thought I ought to be making and it was on his advice that I decided to withdraw from the Cardinals."

Saigh, an attorney who attended Bradley Tech and Northwestern University, has acquired large property holdings in downtown St. Louis during the past few years.

He identified as members of the Cardinal board of directors Sidney Salomon, Jr., William C. Connett, George Simpkins and William Walsingham. There are two vacancies.

Saigh said that when he and Hannegan bought the Cardinals from Sam Breadon in November, 1947, he considered it only from the standpoint of a good investment.

Considers Good Investment

"I have changed my mind about that," he said. "I still consider it a fine investment, but I have become deeply interested in baseball and the Cardinals. I have taken an active interest in every phase of the business.

"Henceforth I will devote the greatest part of my time to the Cardinals. x x x I have decided there is no mystery about baseball. It's just like any other business. You have to have experts in all departments.

Baltimore Colts Buy Three Browns' Players

BALTIMORE, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts fortified themselves with tackles today by announcing purchase of three from the Cleveland Browns, champions of the All-American Football Conference.

The Colts reported purchase in a straight cash deal of veteran tackles Len Simonetti and Ben Pucci and Rookie Don Staton from Oregon.

Simonetti, a 255-pounder, has been playing for three years with the Browns since graduating from Tennessee. The Browns obtained Pucci, a 250-pound St. Louis native who never played college ball, from the Chicago Rockets last year.

Stanton was co-captain of the Oregon team which lost to Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl. He weighs 225.

This Is Dodgers' Year, Brooklyn Coach Says

WALDOBORO, Me., Jan. 27 (AP)—This is Brooklyn's year in the National League, Clyde Sukeforth said today.

Why? Because the Dodgers have the "youngest, fastest, mostest" players.

As a coach, and formerly as catcher, Sukeforth has been with the Brooklyn organization since 1931.

In an interview at his farm here, he picked "The Bums" to win the pennant ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Braves and Chicago Cubs, in that order.

Page, the 12th Yankee to come to terms for the coming season, was described as in "excellent condition" but will undergo a physical checkup by club Doctor Fischl.

Ike Williams Is Choice To Whip Gavilan Tonight

Lightweight Champ Is 5-13 Favorite

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams, a close winner over Cuban Kid Gavilan last February, is a 5 to 13 favorite to do it again tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden in another 10-round non-title bout.

If Ike is to be matched with Ray Robinson, the welter king, in an outdoor match this summer as planned, he needs to get past Gavilan with a little more to spare. Gavilan, a ranking contender, is pressing Sugar Ray for a shot at that 147-pound crown.

Referee Ruby Goldstein and Judge Jim Hagen sliced it very thin in the first fight. Each gave it to Ike 5-4 with 1 even. Judge Jack O'Sullivan found for Williams 6-4. The AP had 5 rounds for each with Williams the winner on points.

One punch actually decided the first bout—a right hand to the head that dumped Gavilan for a count of eight in the eighth. Despite a swollen left eye that was closed tight in the last four rounds, The Kid was coming back strong at the time.

With Gavilan expected to weigh 146 or 147 to Ike's 139, the weight difference will be pronounced. Under private contracts they were only five pounds apart for the first bout when the Cuban Kid hit an unexpected low of 141½. Perhaps that helped his speed but, more likely it took a little sting from his punches.

Northwestern To Play Pitt's Football Team

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 27 (INS)—Announcement of home games against Pittsburgh in 1950 and Colorado in 1951 today completed the Northwestern University football schedules for those years.

Previously-announced dates showed that the Wildcats' centennial-year program for 1951 will include home games against both Army and Navy.

Athletic Director Ted Payseur also announced today that a home-and-home series with Southern California, to begin in 1952, has been arranged.

The 1950 and 1951 schedules:

1950—Sept. 30, Iowa State; Oct. 7, Navy at Baltimore; 14, Minnesota; 21, Pittsburgh; 28, at Wisconsin; Nov. 4, Ohio State; 11, at Purdue; 18, at Michigan; 25, Illinois.

Ray Morrison Quits Temple Football Post

Move Is Surprise, Will Stay In Game, Plans To Go South

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27 (AP)—Ray Morrison, Temple football coach for the last nine years, resigned today in a move that caught University athletic officials by surprise.

"We had no inkling Morrison would resign," said a university spokesman.

The veteran gridiron pilot came here after successful hitches at Vanderbilt and Southern Methodist where he developed the aerial circus brand of football popular in the Southwest.

He never was a great success at Temple. In only two of the years he coached here did Morrison field a winning team.

With Andy Tomasic sparking the team, Temple won seven and lost two in 1941. In 1945, the Owls won seven and dropped only one. Overall, Morrison-coached Temple teams won 31, lost 38 and tied nine.

Morrison had little to say about his resignation. He said he intends to remain in football but would say nothing further than "I'm going south."

His remark gave credence to a rumor circulating last week that he intended to take up coaching duties at Austin College, Sherman, Tex. At that time, Morrison laughed off the story.

In his resignation Morrison said he was severing his connection with the Philadelphia school because he "believed it to be of mutual interest" to himself and Temple.

Capacity Crowd To Witness Tilt At Morgantown

Mountaineers Battle Cincinnati Saturday

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 27—A capacity crowd of 6,800 will see West Virginia University return to basketball action Saturday against the powerful University of Cincinnati Bearcats at Mountaineer Field House after being idle since its Jan. 15 victory over Waynesburg.

That there isn't a single seat left for the big battle became known today as harassed University athletic officials posted "sold out" signs at the stadium ticket office and announced that many mail orders had to be returned unfilled. The sellout is the first of the season, which already has seen the Mountaineers win seven games at home.

Months ago when Cincinnati was scheduled, no one had any idea that Jan. 29 would turn out to be one of the most important dates on West Virginia's home card. But that's what happened. First the Bearcats downed the Mountaineers there on New Year's night, 72-62. Then the return billing was fanned by reams of aftermath publicity. As a result, at least 10,000 would like to see Saturday's match that only 6,800 will attend because of space limitations.

Cincinnati, bowing only to Butler and the Phillips Oilers has whipped Nebraska, Colorado State, Western Reserve, Ohio U., Miami of Ohio, Texas Wesleyan and Western Michigan among others.

The Ohioans boast a high scoring forward in Ralph Richter, who netted 206 points in the first 11 games. Richter will be rivalled by West Virginia's captain, Forward Fred Schaus, who has 209 to his credit in 12 games.

Saturday's preliminary will pair the unbeaten Little Mountaineers against Potomac State of Keyser at 6 p. m.

Braves Sign Reiser

BOSTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Receipt of the signed contract of Pete Reiser, the switch-hitting outfielder obtained from the Brooklyn Dodgers, was announced tonight by General Manager John J. Quinn of the Boston Braves.

"It's really a pleasure to be with the Braves and I can't help but feel I am going to have a big year and that we'll keep the National League championship in Boston," Reiser wrote Quinn.

10-Point Rally In Final Period Decides Game

Riggleman's Quint Breaks Sentinels' 12-Game Streak

Unleashing a sensational scoring spree that started about three minutes before the third period ended and carried into the final quarter, Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks came from behind to defeat the Fort Hill Sentinels last night by the score of 39-32 before approximately 1,000 spectators at the Fort Hill gym.

By winning Coach Jesse Riggleman's warriors snapped Fort Hill's 12-game winning streak and handed Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's cagers their first setback of the 1948-49 season.

12-Point Rally Decides

It was anybody's ball game until there was two minutes and 55 seconds left to play in the third quarter. At this stage of the game Fort Hill was leading by the score of 25-24. Roy Comer started the fireworks with a left-handed lay-up shot to change the score in Ridgeley's favor, 26-25. Paul Lindsay registered on a follow-up shot. Comer took a pass from Lindsay for another lay-up, scored again on a push-shot and Paul Fisher made it 10 points in consecutive order when he meshed a fielder that gave the Mineral Countians the long end of a 34-25 count as the period ended.

Don Loy ran the string of consecutive points to 12 as the fourth quarter got under way to make it 36-25 with 5:20 to play. The Sentinels outscored Ridgeley seven to three in the last five minutes of action but was unable to shake off the effects of that third quarter explosion.

It was a see-saw battle the greater part of the way. Fort Hill scored the first point of the game on Jimmie Eckard's free throw but Comer came right back to tie it up at one-all. At one time Ridgeley held an 8-3 advantage but Eckard's free throw and John Alderton's fielder cut the Hawks' lead to 8-6 as the period ended. Fort Hill, incidentally, was held to a single field goal in the first quarter and that was tossed by Alderton just 7:40 after the game began.

The teams were tied at 10-10 early in the second stanza but Ridgeley forged ahead and remained there until two baskets by Charley Lattimer deadlocked the count at 18-18 at intermission.

Sentinels Take Lead

Lattimer's goal gave Fort Hill the lead for a brief spell in the third heat but Comer equalized the score at 20-20. Baskets by Paul Fisher and Alderton tied it again at 22-all. Lattimer's free throw and Alderton's double-decker gave the Sentinels a 25-22 advantage. Loy's twin-pointer enabled the Blackhawks to trail at 25-24 and then the West Virginians went on a scoring spree that sewed up the ball game.

The entire Ridgeley team gave a good account of itself. The Hawks' floor play, and passing were tops while Comer, Lindsay, Fisher and Loy were dandruff in Fort Hill's hair while on the offensive. Dick Dorsey excelled with his floorwork and proved a good feeder on the scoring plays.

Lattimer and Alderton carried the brunt of Fort Hill's offensive and were responsible for 25 of the Sentinels' 32 markers. Lattimer, especially, appeared to be in every play and turned in a creditable all-around performance.

Comer romped off with high scoring honors by marking up 14 points on four fielders and six free throws in eight attempts. Alderton was runner-up with 14 and Latter contributed 11.

Ridgeley's shooting average was 38 per cent for 16 goals in 42 attempts. Fort Hill made 12 goals in 52 tries for a percentage of 23.

Officiating Is Good

Good officiating on the part of Clifton Van Roby and Bob Pence highlighted the game. Twelve personals were called on Fort Hill and nine on Ridgeley. Lattimer was the only player ejected on fouls and he made his exit about a minute before the final whistle. Lineups:

Snead Cops Lead In Phoenix Open

Sammy's 3-Under Par 68 Tops 1st Round

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 27 (AP)—Sammy Snead's putter behaved on wet greens here today as the West Virginia slammer took a lead in the $10,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament with a three under par 68.

A 25-foot birdie putt that dropped into the cup on the 16th hole was largely responsible for the White Sulphur Springs veteran's one-stroke lead.

Snead commented he "lost his green troubles for the day" as he finished the round with a short two-footer for a birdie four on the 540-yard 18th.

In a second-place deadlock at 69 were Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., Jack Harden, El Paso, Tex., Tex Consolver, Wichita, Kas., Dick Metz, Virginia Beach, Va., and Jack Burke, Jr., White Plains, N. Y.

Tied at 70 were Bill Nary, Phoenix, Leland Gibson, Kansas City, Mo., and Bob Hamilton, Landover, Maine.

Armed Is Training For $25,000 Event

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 27 (AP)—Calumet Farm's Armed, once the leading money winner among thoroughbreds, is back in serious training for the $25,000 Gulfstream Park Handicap.

Trainer H. A. (Jimmy) Jones said that Armed, sidelined for the better part of a year, is being pointed for Gulfstream feature.

"Armed is doing everything we are asking," Jones said. "If he continues along the same course he promises to be ready in plenty of time for the Gulfstream Handicap."

Armed won the mile and a quarter fixture in 1947 to set a new track record of 2.01 2-5. Last year he tried again but was beaten by the mare, Rampart, in a bitter stretch battle.

Louis Gets Offer Of $250,000 For Fight In Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 27—(INS)—Cook County Democratic Committeeman, J. T. Plunkett tonight promised heavyweight champion Joe Louis a minimum guarantee of $250,000 for a title defense in Chicago next June.

Plunkett made known his offer in a letter to Truman Gibson, Louis' attorney, on the stationery of the Central Committee of the Democratic Party in Cook County.

Plunkett's offer was:

1. $50,000 on the signing of contracts; another $50,000 within 90 days thereafter;

2. Minimum guarantee of $250,000 or 50 per cent of the gross gate less taxes;

3. 45 per cent of radio sales; 45 per cent of motion picture sales; 50 per cent of television sales.

Earlier, Gibson had said Louis would fight in Chicago for a guarantee of $400,000 or 50 per cent of the gate; 50 per cent of movie and radio rights and 100 per cent of television rights.

Gibson said in Chicago today that Louis is not bound by contract to fight in New York.

Bob Hannegan Sells Interest In Cardinals

Fred M. Saigh, Jr., Now Owns Majority Of Stock In Club

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27 (AP) — Fred M. Saigh, Jr., became president and majority stockholder of the St. Louis Cardinals today by buying out his partner, former Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan.

Hannegan told a news conference he was selling his interest in the far-flung Cardinal organization and stepping down as its president for reasons of health.

The 43-year-old Saigh, rapidly building a reputation as a master of high finance, announced plans for streamlining the organization by delegating more authority to employes. He said he planned no changes in personnel.

Now Owns 90 Per Cent

Saigh disclosed that he now owns about 90 per cent of the Cardinal stock. This probably gives the Cardinals the most limited ownership of any club in the major leagues with the exception of the Boston Red Sox, of which Tom Yawkey is the sole owner.

Neither Hannegan nor Saigh would say how much money changed hands in the deal. Unofficial estimates of the amount Hannegan received ranged from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

Fourteen months ago they bought the club from Sam Breadon for a reported sum of $4,060,000, with Saigh becoming vice president and treasurer.

Hannegan said the possibility of a change in ownership was first discussed about a month ago and that while he was in Washington for the inauguration of President Truman his physician, Gen. Wallace Graham, advised him to give up the arduous work of directing the Cardinals. Hannegan underwent an operation for hypertension about two years ago.

Tells Why He Withdrew

"My health has not deteriorated," Hannegan said, "but Gen. Graham told me I wasn't making the progress he thought I ought to be making and it was on his advice that I decided to withdraw from the Cardinals."

Saigh, an attorney who attended Bradley Tech and Northwestern University, has acquired large property holdings in downtown St. Louis during the past few years.

He identified as members of the Cardinal board of directors Sidney Salomon, Jr., William C. Connett, George Simpkins and William Walsingham. There are two vacancies.

Saigh said that when he and Hannegan bought the Cardinals from Sam Breadon in November, 1947, he considered it only from the standpoint of a good investment.

Considers Good Investment

"I have changed my mind about that," he said. "I still consider it a fine investment, but I have become deeply interested in baseball and the Cardinals. I have taken an active interest in every phase of the business.

"Henceforth I will devote the greatest part of my time to the Cardinals. x x x I have decided there is no mystery about baseball. It's just like any other business. You have to have experts in all departments.

Baltimore Colts Buy Three Browns' Players

BALTIMORE, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Baltimore Colts fortified themselves with tackles today by announcing purchase of three from the Cleveland Browns, champions of the All-American Football Conference.

The Colts reported purchase in a straight cash deal of veteran tackles Len Simonetti and Ben Pucci and Rookie Don Staton from Oregon.

Simonetti, a 255-pounder, has been playing for three years with the Browns since graduating from Tennessee. The Browns obtained Pucci, a 250-pound St. Louis native who never played college ball, from the Chicago Rockets last year.

Stanton was co-captain of the Oregon team which lost to Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl. He weighs 225.

This Is Dodgers' Year, Brooklyn Coach Says

WALDOBORO, Me., Jan. 27 (AP)—This is Brooklyn's year in the National League, Clyde Sukeforth said today.

Why? Because the Dodgers have the "youngest, fastest, mostest" players.

As a coach, and formerly as catcher, Sukeforth has been with the Brooklyn organization since 1931.

In an interview at his farm here, he picked "The Bums" to win the pennant ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals, Boston Braves and Chicago Cubs, in that order.

Page, the 12th Yankee to come to terms for the coming season, was described as in "excellent condition" but will undergo a physical checkup by club Doctor Fischl.

Ike Williams Is Choice To Whip Gavilan Tonight

Lightweight Champ Is 5-13 Favorite

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—Lightweight Champion Ike Williams, a close winner over Cuban Kid Gavilan last February, is a 5 to 13 favorite to do it again tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden in another 10-round non-title bout.

If Ike is to be matched with Ray Robinson, the welter king, in an outdoor match this summer as planned, he needs to get past Gavilan with a little more to spare. Gavilan, a ranking contender, is pressing Sugar Ray for a shot at that 147-pound crown.

Referee Ruby Goldstein and Judge Jim Hagen sliced it very thin in the first fight. Each gave it to Ike 5-4 with 1 even. Judge Jack O'Sullivan found for Williams 6-4. The AP had 5 rounds for each with Williams the winner on points.

One punch actually decided the first bout—a right hand to the head that dumped Gavilan for a count of eight in the eighth. Despite a swollen left eye that was closed tight in the last four rounds, The Kid was coming back strong at the time.

With Gavilan expected to weigh 146 or 147 to Ike's 139, the weight difference will be pronounced. Under private contracts they were only five pounds apart for the first bout when the Cuban Kid hit an unexpected low of 141½. Perhaps that helped his speed but, more likely it took a little sting from his punches.

Northwestern To Play Pitt's Football Team

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 27 (INS)—Announcement of home games against Pittsburgh in 1950 and Colorado in 1951 today completed the Northwestern University football schedules for those years.

Previously-announced dates showed that the Wildcats' centennial-year program for 1951 will include home games against both Army and Navy.

Athletic Director Ted Payseur also announced today that a home-and-home series with Southern California, to begin in 1952, has been arranged.

The 1950 and 1951 schedules:

1950—Sept. 30, Iowa State; Oct. 7, Navy at Baltimore; 14, Minnesota; 21, Pittsburgh; 28, at Wisconsin; Nov. 4, Ohio State; 11, at Purdue; 18, at Michigan; 25, Illinois.

Ray Morrison Quits Temple Football Post

Move Is Surprise, Will Stay In Game, Plans To Go South

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27 (AP)—Ray Morrison, Temple football coach for the last nine years, resigned today in a move that caught University athletic officials by surprise.

"We had no inkling Morrison would resign," said a university spokesman.

The veteran gridiron pilot came here after successful hitches at Vanderbilt and Southern Methodist where he developed the aerial circus brand of football popular in the Southwest.

He never was a great success at Temple. In only two of the years he coached here did Morrison field a winning team.

With Andy Tomasic sparking the team, Temple won seven and lost two in 1941. In 1945, the Owls won seven and dropped only one. Overall, Morrison-coached Temple teams won 31, lost 38 and tied nine.

Morrison had little to say about his resignation. He said he intends to remain in football but would say nothing further than "I'm going south."

His remark gave credence to a rumor circulating last week that he intended to take up coaching duties at Austin College, Sherman, Tex. At that time, Morrison laughed off the story.

In his resignation Morrison said he was severing his connection with the Philadelphia school because he "believed it to be of mutual interest" to himself and Temple.

Capacity Crowd To Witness Tilt At Morgantown

Mountaineers Battle Cincinnati Saturday

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 27—A capacity crowd of 8,800 will see West Virginia University return to basketball action Saturday against the powerful University of Cincinnati Bearcats at Mountaineer Field House after being idle since its Jan. 15 victory over Waynesburg.

That there isn't a single seat left for the big battle became known today as harassed University athletic officials posted "sold out" signs at the stadium ticket office and announced that many mail orders had to be returned unfilled. The sellout is the first of the season, which already has seen the Mountaineers win seven games at home.

Months ago when Cincinnati was scheduled, no one had any idea that Jan. 29 would turn out to be one of the most important dates on West Virginia's home card. But that's what happened. First the Bearcats downed the Mountaineers there on New Year's night, 72-62. Then the return billing was fanned by reams of aftermath publicity. As a result, at least 10,000 would like to see Saturday's match that only 6,800 will attend because of space limitations.

Cincinnati, bowing only to Butler and the Phillips Oilers has whipped Nebraska, Colorado State, Western Reserve, Ohio U., Miami of Ohio, Texas Wesleyan and Western Michigan among others.

The Ohioans boast a high scoring forward in Ralph Richter, who netted 206 points in the first 11 games. Richter will be rivalled by West Virginia's captain, Forward Fred Schaus, who has 209 to his credit in 12 games.

Saturday's preliminary will pair the unbeaten Little Mountaineers against Potomac State of Keyser at 6 p. m.

Braves Sign Reiser

BOSTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Receipt of the signed contract of Pete Reiser, the switch-hitting outfielder obtained from the Brooklyn Dodgers, was announced tonight by General Manager John J. Quinn of the Boston Braves.

"It's really a pleasure to be with the Braves and I can't help but feel I am going to have a big year and that we'll keep the National League championship in Boston," Reiser wrote Quinn.

10-Point Rally In Final Period Decides Game

Riggleman's Quint Breaks Sentinels' 12-Game Streak

Unleashing a sensational scoring spree that started about three minutes before the third period ended and carried into the final quarter, Ridgeley High School's Blackhawks came from behind to defeat the Fort Hill Sentinels last night by the score of 39-32 before approximately 1,000 spectators at the Fort Hill gym.

By winning Coach Jesse Riggleman's warriors snapped Fort Hill's 12-game winning streak and handed Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's cagers their first setback of the 1948-49 season.

12-Point Rally Decides

It was anybody's ball game until there was two minutes and 55 seconds left to play in the third quarter. At this stage of the game Fort Hill was leading by the score of 25-24. Roy Comer started the fireworks with a left-handed lay-up shot to change the score in Ridgeley's favor, 26-25. Paul Lindsay registered on a follow-up shot. Comer took a pass from Lindsay for another lay-up, scored again on a push-shot and Paul Fisher made it 10 points in consecutive order when he meshed a fielder that gave the Mineral Countians the long end of a 34-25 count as the period ended.

Don Loy ran the string of consecutive points to 12 as the fourth quarter got under way to make it 36-25 with 5:20 to play. The Sentinels outscored Ridgeley seven to three in the last five minutes of action but was unable to shake off the effects of that third quarter explosion.

It was a see-saw battle the greater part of the way. Fort Hill scored the first point of the game on Jimmie Eckard's free throw but Comer came right back to tie it up at one-all. At one time Ridgeley held an 8-3 advantage but Eckard's free throw and John Alderton's fielder cut the Hawks' lead to 8-6 as the period ended. Fort Hill, incidentally, was held to a single field goal in the first quarter and that was tossed by Alderton just 7:40 after the game began.

The teams were tied at 10-10 early in the second stanza but Ridgeley forged ahead and remained there until two baskets by Charley Lattimer deadlocked the count at 18-18 at intermission.

Sentinels Take Lead

Lattimer's goal gave Fort Hill the lead for a brief spell in the third heat but Comer equalized the score at 20-20. Baskets by Paul Fisher and Alderton tied it again at 22-all. Lattimer's free throw and Alderton's double-decker gave the Sentinels a 25-22 advantage. Loy's twin-pointer enabled the Blackhawks to trail at 25-24 and then the West Virginians went on a scoring spree that sewed up the ball game.

The entire Ridgeley team gave a good account of itself. The Hawks' floor play, and passing were tops while Comer, Lindsay, Fisher and Loy were dandruff in Fort Hill's hair while on the offensive. Dick Dorsey excelled with his floorwork and proved a good feeder on the scoring plays.

Lattimer and Alderton carried the brunt of Fort Hill's offensive and were responsible for 25 of the Sentinels' 32 markers. Lattimer, especially, appeared to be in every play and turned in a creditable all-around performance.

Comer romped off with high scoring honors by marking up 14 points on four fielders and six free throws in eight attempts. Alderton was runner-up with 14 and Latter contributed 11.

Ridgeley's shooting average was 38 per cent for 16 goals in 42 attempts. Fort Hill made 12 goals in 52 tries for a percentage of 23.

Officiating Is Good

Good officiating on the part of Clifton Van Roby and Bob Pence highlighted the game. Twelve personals were called on Fort Hill and nine on Ridgeley. Lattimer was the only player ejected on fouls and he made his exit about a minute before the final whistle. Lineups:

Aid Polish T.B. Fight

WARSAW (AP) — Scandinavian doctors, assisting the Polish health ministry, have examined 1,076,841 persons so far this year in an anti-tuberculosis campaign. The physicians also vaccinated 399,937 persons.

Dr. Herbert Moller, director of the Danish Red Cross in Poland, in cooperation with the Polish government and the United Nations Emergency Children's Fund, have established ambulatoria for tubercular patients throughout Poland. Three hundred persons are employed in the work. Sixty of these are Scandinavian, including 11 physicians.

Ekes Out Decision Over Nance's Ace

HIALEAH, Fla., Jan. 27 (AP)—S. D. Sidell's stretch-running Allie's Pal staged a rousing finish to eke out a photo triumph in today's Vanity Purse, for fillies and mares.

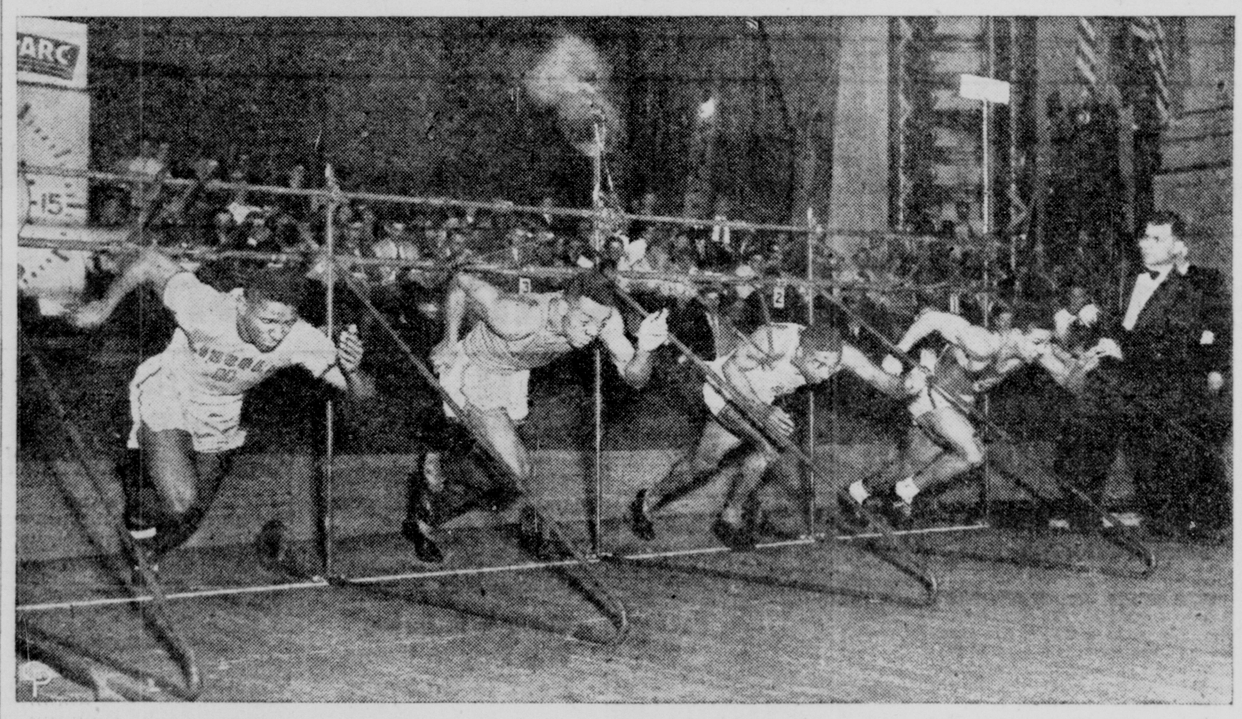
Seventh of the eight starters in the early runnings, the brown four-year-old daughter of War Dog barely made the grade in front of H. A. Dabson's elderly Nance's Ace. Loriot, from the B. L. Thomas stables, lost the place in another camera decision while beating Miss Mommy by a length and a half for the show.

Although she had won her previous race here, Allie's Pal was allowed to go postward a $20.90 for two shot by a crowd of 13,581. The consistent Irisen, winner of her last two starts, was installed favorite but finished an ignominious seventh.

Allie's Pal, well ridden by the Wilmington apprentice Ben Civitello, scorched the sun-baked racing strip in 1:10 3-5 for the six furlongs distance.

Four of the starters in the Vanity are eligible for the $20,000 added, mile and a furlong Black Helen Handicap of March 2, most important filly-and-mare fixture of the Florida turf season.

Give a Fellow an Even Break and the Best Man Will Win



SOMETHING NEW has been added to indoor track paraphernalia—a starting gate. It is being used in this dash event in Philadelphia's indoor track meet. The runners apparently are all off to an even start. Eddie Conwell (extreme right) won. (International)

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Harry R. Leasure and Rachel Irene Leasure, his wife, and C. Edward Wharton, vs. The Unknown Heirs of Leo Campbell, sometimes known as Cleo Campbell. No. 21094 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The Object of this suit is to reform and correct a deed from Leo Campbell unto Harriett Wharton dated the 5th day of September, 1933.

The Bill states that certain property in Gilpintown, Allegany County, Maryland, was conveyed by said deed and that the description is ambiguous in that it conveys: "All that tract and parcel of land conveyed and described in a deed from Barbara E. Twigg to Harriett Wharton, said deed bearing date the 3rd day of March, 1924, and recorded in Liber No. 146, folio 74, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and being the same property conveyed by and described in a deed from the said Harriett Wharton to Leo Campbell, said deed bearing date the 30th day of September, 1931, and recorded in Liber No. 166, folio 467, of said land records," the said two deeds being for different parcels of land, and the Bill prays for the reforming and correcting of said deed by striking out the words: "Barbara E. Twigg to Harriett Wharton, said deed bearing date the 3rd day of March, 1924, and recorded in Liber No. 146, folio 74, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Md., and being the same property conveyed by and described in a deed from." The Bill further avers that to the best of the Orators' information the said Leo Campbell has left the State of Maryland and is now deceased, leaving no heirs known unto the Orators.

IT IS, THEREUPON, this 20th day of January, 1949, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant cause a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper in Alelgany County, Maryland, once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 22nd day of February, 1949, giving notice to the absent and unknown Respondents of the object and purpose of this suit and warning them to be and appear in this Court, in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 10th day of March, 1949, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

JOSEPH E. BODEN,
Clerk of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

Ekes Out Decision Over Nance's Ace

HIALEAH, Fla., Jan. 27 (AP)—S. D. Sidell's stretch-running Allie's Pal staged a rousing finish to eke out a photo triumph in today's Vanity Purse, for fillies and mares.

Seventh of the eight starters in the early runnings, the brown four-year-old daughter of War Dog barely made the grade in front of H. A. Dabson's elderly Nance's Ace. Loriot, from the B. L. Thomas stables, lost the place in another camera decision while beating Miss Mommy by a length and a half for the show.

Although she had won her previous race here, Allie's Pal was allowed to go postward a $20.90 for two shot by a crowd of 13,581. The consistent Irisen, winner of her last two starts, was installed favorite but finished an ignominious seventh.

Allie's Pal, well ridden by the Wilmington apprentice Ben Civitello, scorched the sun-baked racing strip in 1:10 3-5 for the six furlongs distance.

Four of the starters in the Vanity are eligible for the $20,000 added, mile and a furlong Black Helen Handicap of March 2, most important filly-and-mare fixture of the Florida turf season.

Give a Fellow an Even Break and the Best Man Will Win

SOMETHING NEW has been added to indoor track paraphernalia—a starting gate. It is being used in this dash event in Philadelphia's indoor track meet. The runners apparently are all off to an even start. Eddie Conwell (extreme right) won. (International)

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Harry R. Leasure and Rachel Irene Leasure, his wife, and C. Edward Wharton, vs. The Unknown Heirs of Leo Campbell, sometimes known as Cleo Campbell. No. 21094 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The Object of this suit is to reform and correct a deed from Leo Campbell unto Harriett Wharton dated the 5th day of September, 1933.

The Bill states that certain property in Gilpintown, Allegany County, Maryland, was conveyed by said deed and that the description is ambiguous in that it conveys: "All that tract and parcel of land conveyed and described in a deed from Barbara E. Twigg to Harriett Wharton, said deed bearing date the 3rd day of March, 1924, and recorded in Liber No. 146, folio 74, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and being the same property conveyed by and described in a deed from the said Harriett Wharton to Leo Campbell, said deed bearing date the 30th day of September, 1931, and recorded in Liber No. 166, folio 467, of said land records," the said two deeds being for different parcels of land; and the Bill prays for the reforming and correcting of said deed by striking out the words: "Barbara E. Twigg to Harriett Wharton, said deed bearing date the 3rd day of March, 1924, and recorded in Liber No. 146, folio 74, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Md., and being the same property conveyed by and described in a deed from." The Bill further avers that to the best of the Orators' information the said Leo Campbell has left the State of Maryland and is now deceased, leaving no heirs known unto the Orators.

IT IS, THEREUPON, this 20th day of January, 1949, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant cause a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper in Alelgany County, Maryland, once in each of four (4) successive weeks, before the 22nd day of February, 1949, giving notice to the absent and unknown Respondents of the object and purpose of this suit and warning them to be and appear in this Court, in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 10th day of March, 1949, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

JOSEPH E. BODEN,
Clerk of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

Ex-Coach Guilty In Shooting Of Moorefield Man

A former high school coach, Sherman McBrayer, convicted of killing Vincent O. See, Moorefield, W. Va., will learn tomorrow whether his appeal from a 12-year sentence will be granted. McBrayer is held at Greenup, Ky.

Under Kentucky law, McBrayer began serving the term immediately after he was convicted Tuesday night of the fatal shooting of See at Raceland, Ky., last December 14.

Mrs. Mildred McBrayer, wife of the defendant, was seated in a car with See at the time of the shooting.

During the trial McBrayer, who pleaded self-defense, testified he shot See, a 40-year-old construction worker, after Mrs. McBrayer told him she "thought she was going to have a baby by See."

Throughout the testimony, which had started after a day had been taken in seating a jury, McBrayer sat calmly taking notes of the proceedings.

McBrayer is 34 years old. He formerly was principal of the grade school at Worthington and former coach at Raceland Hig hSchool. Since 1945 he had been a Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad fireman and for the last year also served as a school attendance officer.

See had been employed as a foreman on a C. and O. construction project since last July.

The jury returned its verdict after half an hour of deliberation. McBrayer received it calmly but his 16-year-old daughter, Joyce, ran across the court room, flung her arms around her father and sobbed loudly.

Meeting Set On Poultry Plans

An all-day meeting to discuss possibilities of starting a poultry industry in the Cumberland area has been arranged for March 16, following a report on the situation by Harold W. Smith, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, said Dr. Charles R. Davis, specialist in poultry diseases, and Wade Rice, extension poultry, both of the University of Maryland, will be here to give expert advice concerning the broiler industry to poultrymen of this area.

Rice will outline institution of a broiler industry and methods of conducting such an industry while Dr. Davis will discuss diseases which attack poultry.

McHenry has compiled a list of 80 poultrymen of this area, but he wants to include all poultrymen, both large and small, who are operating in this section. Those persons interested in the poultry business business and whose names are not on McHenry's list should contact his office.

Smith gave a report to the Chamber agriculture committee several weeks ago citing how the broiler industry in Maine had expanded in recent years. He listed some of the advantages of a poultry industry on a large scale in this area. Nearness to Baltimore, Washington, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia would provide a big market for broilers, Smith pointed out.

A banquet at 7 p. m. will follow tomorrow's morning and afternoon meetings. U. S. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., will speak on "The Electoral College vs The Will of the People" at the banquet.

The afternoon session Saturday will feature an address by Reuben Oppenheimer, Baltimore attorney and director of the Maryland Department of Correction, who will speak on "Criminal Defectives and the Maryland Law."

Ex-Coach Guilty In Shooting Of Moorefield Man

A former high school coach, Sherman McBrayer, convicted of killing Vincent O. See, Moorefield, W. Va., will learn tomorrow whether his appeal from a 12-year sentence will be granted. McBrayer is held at Greenup, Ky.

Under Kentucky law, McBrayer began serving the term immediately after he was convicted Tuesday night of the fatal shooting of See at Raceland, Ky., last December 14.

Mrs. Mildred McBrayer, wife of the defendant, was seated in a car with See at the time of the shooting.

During the trial McBrayer, who pleaded self-defense, testified he shot See, a 40-year-old construction worker, after Mrs. McBrayer told him she "thought she was going to have a baby by See."

Throughout the testimony, which had started after a day had been taken in seating a jury, McBrayer sat calmly taking notes of the proceedings.

McBrayer is 34 years old. He formerly was principal of the grade school at Worthington and former coach at Raceland Hig hSchool. Since 1945 he had been a Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad fireman and for the last year also served as a school attendance officer.

See had been employed as a foreman on a C. and O. construction project since last July.

The jury returned its verdict after half an hour of deliberation. McBrayer received it calmly but his 16-year-old daughter, Joyce, ran across the court room, flung her arms around her father and sobbed loudly.

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Does a healthy-minded person go on hating?

Answer: No, says Chandler Bennitt in the Psychoanalytic Review. Hate is a reverse "transitional stage" in our development toward maturity and implies a conflict between the urge to grow up emotionally and the wish to remain childish. Once you realize that from a childish standpoint you cannot help hating anyone who hurts you or prevents you getting your way, but that from an adult standpoint he cannot help being the way he is, you will recognize the person you hate as mainly a symbol of realities from which you are trying to escape.

Is anyone "too old to get married"?

Answer: I cannot see why, if he or she can find a willing partner of appropriate age. For until "senility" sets in (which does not always happen) it is normal for a man or woman of any age to continue to have some degree of the same needs and feelings as a younger person. Only the partly unconscious desire of the younger generation to get older people out of their way makes them feel there's anything unnatural about men and women in the seventies or eighties yearning for love and companionship as much as they do.

Should you worry if your child has no friends?

Answer: Yes. Few things should give you more cause for concern or be more urgent calls to action. For from the beginning to the end of schooldays, a child who is normal finds his greatest satisfaction in the friendship of his playmates—first of his own sex, and then of the other; and a child who gives up trying to win this friendship and pretends to have no interest in it is a candidate for serious mental illness. You can't force him to change, but you must find out what is wrong, with the help of a psychiatrist, if need be.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

If you go far enough back in the files of the Farmer's Almanac, you'll come up with a lot of jokes so old they sound brand new. Take this one, for instance, from the 1871 issue: A patron at a village inn complained to the waiter, "Dang it, there was a hair tonight in the ice cream, another in the honey, and still a third one in the apple sauce."

"That's funny," reflected the waiter. "The hair in the ice cream is easy to explain. We shaved the ice this morning. And it's reasonable to figger that the hair in the honey comes off the comb. But that hair in the apple sauce beats me. I peeled them apples myself, and I coulda swore every one of 'em was a Baldwin."

George Kaufman knows a Hollywood producer who had to buy a new limousine: all the ashtrys in the old one were full.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

We played the Reyman auditorium here in Nashville, Tenn. Believe me, I've played a lot of theatres, but this place is fabulous. It was built in the 1880's by Tom Reyman, a riverboat captain who became converted by an evangelist and immediately dumped all his liquor in the Cumberland river. Les Brown's band heard about it and before we could stop them, they had on their diving trunks.

It's also Katharine Cornell's favorite theater and the audiences sure do love her. In fact, before I stepped out on the stage, they were laying 8 to 5 I'd never make as good a Juliet as she.

In 1914 Mrs. Elsie Naff, the manager, mortgaged her home to bring John McCormack here. Of course, in those days she could have gotten Crosby for the same money.

I wondered what all those ropes were on the stage for. Then I found out that when Caruso sang here, before he got the first note out, they had to fasten the building down.

And I loved working here. The first balcony almost completely circles the theater and it's wonderful to have the audience all around you. Naturally every now and then I got that trapped feeling.

But it was really a sellout and people were sitting on anything they could find. One woman complained when the manager gave her something to sit on. Halfway through the show she discovered it was her husband.

Serve Waldorf Salad—cubed apples and celery mixed with broken walnut meats and mayonnoise—with a mound of cottage cheese and garnish with paprika and watercress.

Meals that melt in your mouth . . . and convenient, too!

MIRROR Of Your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Does a healthy-minded person go on hating?

Answer: No, says Chandler Bennitt in the Psychoanalytic Review. Hate is a reverse "transitional stage" in our development toward maturity and implies a conflict between the urge to grow up emotionally and the wish to remain childish. Once you realize that from a childish standpoint you cannot help hating anyone who hurts you or prevents you getting your way, but that from an adult standpoint he cannot help being the way he is, you will recognize the person you hate as mainly a symbol of realities from which you are trying to escape.

Is anyone "too old to get married"?

Answer: I cannot see why, if he or she can find a willing partner of appropriate age. For until "senility" sets in (which does not always happen) it is normal for a man or woman of any age to continue to have some degree of the same needs and feelings as a younger person. Only the partly unconscious desire of the younger generation to get older people out of their way makes them feel there's anything unnatural about men and women in the seventies or eighties yearning for love and companionship as much as they do.

Should you worry if your child has no friends?

Answer: Yes. Few things should give you more cause for concern or be more urgent calls to action. For from the beginning to the end of schooldays, a child who is normal finds his greatest satisfaction in the friendship of his playmates—first of his own sex, and then of the other; and a child who gives up trying to win this friendship and pretends to have no interest in it is a candidate for serious mental illness. You can't force him to change, but you must find out what is wrong, with the help of a psychiatrist, if need be.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

If you go far enough back in the files of the Farmer's Almanac, you'll come up with a lot of jokes so old they sound brand new. Take this one, for instance, from the 1871 issue: A patron at a village inn complained to the waiter, "Dang it, there was a hair tonight in the ice cream, another in the honey, and still a third one in the apple sauce."

"That's funny," reflected the waiter. "The hair in the ice cream is easy to explain. We shaved the ice this morning. And it's reasonable to figger that the hair in the honey comes off the comb. But that hair in the apple sauce beats me. I peeled them apples myself, and I coulda swore every one of 'em was a Baldwin."

George Kaufman knows a Hollywood producer who had to buy a new limousine: all the ashtrys in the old one were full.

By BOB HOPE

We played the Reyman auditorium here in Nashville, Tenn. Believe me, I've played a lot of theatres, but this place is fabulous. It was built in the 1880's by Tom Reyman, a riverboat captain who became converted by an evangelist and immediately dumped all his liquor in the Cumberland river. Les Brown's band heard about it and before we could stop them, they had on their diving trunks.

It's also Katharine Cornell's favorite theater and the audiences sure do love her. In fact, before I stepped out on the stage, they were laying 8 to 5 I'd never make as good a Juliet as she.

In 1914 Mrs. Elsie Naff, the manager, mortgaged her home to bring John McCormack here. Of course, in those days she could have gotten Crosby for the same money.

I wondered what all those ropes were on the stage for. Then I found out that when Caruso sang here, before he got the first note out, they had to fasten the building down.

And I loved working here. The first balcony almost completely circles the theater and it's wonderful to have the audience all around you. Naturally every now and then I got that trapped feeling.

But it was really a sellout and people were sitting on anything they could find. One woman complained when the manager gave her something to sit on. Halfway through the show she discovered it was her husband.

Serve Waldorf Salad—cubed apples and celery mixed with broken walnut meats and mayonnoise—with a mound of cottage cheese and garnish with paprika and watercress.

Meals that melt in your mouth . . . and convenient, too!

Wet Weather Bad For Farms

Unseaonable weather is having contrasting effects on farming in Allegany County, Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, said yesterday.

McHenry said winter wheat is probably being hurt to some extent due to the wetness of the ground. The shoots which have advanced more than usual at this time of year are showing up "yellowish." The exact effect on wheat cannot yet be determined.

Dairy farmers report pastures are "greening up" again, but extensive use of pastures is not feasible at this time and most cows have been put on silage and other winter feed inside barns. The wet pastures would soon be cut to ribbons and ruined if dairy herds were allowed to use them.

Sudden temperature changes cause much damage to root growth with the tender plants being torn by the earth expanding and contracting as the temperature rises and falls.

McHenry also said willows and other foliage is starting to bud and in the event the temperature turns to freezing they will be damaged.

The open weather does give farmers more time for outside work, but generally speaking the warm weather is not considered the best for agriculture. Earlier plowing may also be done if the weather continues its spring and fall-like temperatures.

A 12-month growth of barnacles on a ship of 10,000 dead-weight tons may average as much as 30 tons.

Light telephone wires can now be laid over rough country by a rocket and a special type of wire dispenser. The dispenser is an improved version of reel developed during wartime for wire paid out by bazookas or rifle grenades. The wire used usually weighs 48 pounds per mile.

Wet Weather Bad For Farms

Unseaonable weather is having contrasting effects on farming in Allegany County, Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, said yesterday.

McHenry said winter wheat is probably being hurt to some extent due to the wetness of the ground. The shoots which have advanced more than usual at this time of year are showing up "yellowish." The exact effect on wheat cannot yet be determined.

Dairy farmers report pastures are "greening up" again, but extensive use of pastures is not feasible at this time and most cows have been put on silage and other winter feed inside barns. The wet pastures would soon be cut to ribbons and ruined if dairy herds were allowed to use them.

Sudden temperature changes cause much damage to root growth with the tender plants being torn by the earth expanding and contracting as the temperature rises and falls.

McHenry also said willows and other foliage is starting to bud and in the event the temperature turns to freezing they will be damaged.

The open weather does give farmers more time for outside work, but generally speaking the warm weather is not considered the best for agriculture. Earlier plowing may also be done if the weather continues its spring and fall-like temperatures.

A 12-month growth of barnacles on a ship of 10,000 dead-weight tons may average as much as 30 tons.

Light telephone wires can now be laid over rough country by a rocket and a special type of wire dispenser. The dispenser is an improved version of reel developed during wartime for wire paid out by bazookas or rifle grenades. The wire used usually weighs 48 pounds per mile.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27—(INS)—Congratulations to Richard Aldrich. Where movie producers failed to bring Robert Donat to the U. S. A., this Broadway producer has succeeded—and that is a scoop what is a scoop, my friends.

Donat definitely will be in New York to start rehearsals on Maeterlinck's "Pelleas and Melisande" in two months. Listen to this—Jean Parker, currently knocking 'em dead in "Born Yesterday," will be co-starred with him!

Lucille Bremer

You can see why Jean isn't tarrying in Hollywood to listen to movie offers. She will head for Broadway when she finishes her western tour. Jean and Donat worked together previously in "The Ghost Goes West."

Rex Harrison's Broadway hit, "Anne Of a Thousand Days," might have influenced Donat to come to this country. On the other hand, Donat told me last summer that because his mother is living in Connecticut, if anything came up that he was interested in, he would come here.

• — • — •

The role that broke Wallace Beery's heart to refuse in "Curtain Call At Cactus Creek," goes to Walter Brennan. It's a wonderful story and after Beery read it he was on the point of going against his doctor's orders and accepting Bill Goetz's offer, but the knew he must rest. So Brennan, who has been in Oregon, comes back for this part. Walter will be good, too.

• — • — •

Arlene Dahl, the pretty redhead who is certainly one of the real Hollywood glamor girls, gets the break of a lifetime in "Scene Of the Crime," opposite Van Johnson.

Donna Reed was set for Van's leading lady and Roy Bowland, the director, was ready to go, but today Donna asked for her release, and it was given her.

• — • — •

Four years ago, Paulette Goddard made a picture, "Forest Rangers," for the U. S. Forestry Department.

At the time, they asked her if there was anything they could do for her. Paulette, being the smart girl she is, said: Yes, she could use a few trees for her Malibu home.

So, exactly four years later a truck drives up to Columbia and delivers 3,000 seedling trees' to Paulette, "compliments of the U. S. Forestry Department." Among them are several hundred redwoods that take 2,000 years and heavens know how much space to mature.

• — • — •

Betty Grable was so impressed with the screen possibilities of Keefe Brasselle several months ago that she wrote me a letter asking if I would bring him to the attention of Humphrey Bogart for "Knock On Any Door." As you know, John Derek got it.

Poor Keefe became so discouraged that he took a job as a salesman and things were going so badly for him, his wife and baby, that they barely managed the rent money or enough food.

Now the story gets brighter. Ida Lupino saw a picture of Brasselle in a movie magazine and looked him up. Now he has the second male lead in "Not Wanted."

• — • — •

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Gloria De Haven and John Payne are having plans drawn for that house in Malibu they have planned. I am certainly glad they are going ahead with their dream house because I believe it will keep them together.

Lucille Bremer, who is visiting in town with her husband, Abelardo Rodriguez, telephoned to tell me that it wasn't true when I said she was going to have a baby—but it's true now. "At least," she said, "I didn't let you down."

Don De Fore was treated at the Santa Monica emergency hospital for burns from a cigaret. His coat caught fire while he was driving his car.

Keneth Hopkins entertained at dinner at the Cafe Jay in honor of Mrs. Roland Clemme, wife of St. Louis' brilliant brain surgeon.

Lynn Bari had nine inches of water in her kitchen — and you can't blame it on the rain or snow. The pipes in her house broke.

Wanda Hendrix and Audie Murphy, who were so "cute" in their interview on my radio show, are having a wonderful time in Dallas. Audie's getting rid of his cold. Henry Ginsberg made their honeymoon all the happier when he gave Wanda permission to stay two weeks.

That's all today.

Realignment Of Shows Continued By Mutual System

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—More MBS program shifting and things Friday night as this network continues in the process of realignment of shows almost everywhere.

First at 8:30 goes in Yours For a Song, moved from 9:30. The concert is taking the earlier time because Leave It To The Girls, which has had a rather long and successful run, is being dropped.

At 9:30 goes Echanted "Hour" for 30 minutes, in which Henry Weber is to direct a 35 piece orchestra with Nancy Carr as soloist. The series is to specialize in the semi-classics.

Edward G. Robinson is acting for CBS and the Friday Theater at 9. Title of the story is "The Woman In the Window," the story of a college professor and the counterpart of the picture of a beautiful woman.

Boxing in will have Ike Williams and Kid Gavilan in an overweight battle at 10 as ABC broadcasts.

Turning to television, a new Broadway type revue series under sponsored starts on the combined NBC and Dumont networks at 8 for an hour. Something like 24 stations will carry on the east coast and in the midwest.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

The Radio Stars Look At Television

The entertainers here are growing increasingly restive. Next to taxes—easily the most popular topic—television and the Columbia Broadcasting System's raids on the other networks hold the center of the stage. (Actually, I suppose weather leads all other topics, but, far as I can see, weather is discussed almost constantly in California.

Jack Benny

Jack Benny took up both topics the other morning over breakfast. "Gosh, all that fuss. A man moves from one network to another and the whole industry is in an uproar. I didn't think I was that important." Benny still thinks the capital gains deal may be approved and, even if it isn't, he still stands to profit heavily.

"At first I was a little afraid of television because we couldn't do the sort of things we do so well in radio." Benny's recent show in which he and Ronald Colman changed places in a dream sequence he considers one of the six best he ever did, a proposition I won't argue. It probably is. However, he pointed out that much of this show is pure radio which couldn't be converted to television. There is a sequence where Benny walks over to Colman's house to borrow a cup of flour. Footfalls. Suddenly a clink of a coin in the cup. "Thank you," says Benny. That sort of gag, in which the Benny show specializes is pure radio.

• — • — •

"But then I remember that television is the same old thing I used do it in vaudeville." Benny things he could handle a variety act on television that would compete in popularity with his radio show. "Or it might be a one-act play with sets. I'd live in a small but nice home and the Colmans would live next door in a big fancy one.,,

However neither Benny nor many of the other top radio stars appear to be taking television very seriously yet.

Edgar Bergen has departed for New York to look over local television there and make up his mind what he wants to do next year. Bergen, one of the more thoughtful members of radio's comedy circle, thinks that radio has made two mistakes that television shouldn't repeat. First, he feels that radio centered as it is in New York and Hollywood, has lost touch with the rest of the country and should get out to the people more. Second, he sees no real reason why an entertainer be required to produce a new show once a week. Why not once a month, Bergen asks.

This point of view could spread easily, with taxes the way they are. Bergen figures his present four month vacation from radio will cost him about eight dollars. In the light of present taxes an entertainer could hang on to as much money working once a month as he could once a week at the same salary.

"Y'know," Al Jolson confided out at Santa Anita. "I made $2,000,000 (from "The Jolson Story"). I got eight cents left." Jolson currently earns $7,500 a week from his radio show and manages to hang on to about $600 after taxes and expenses. A surprising number of radio and film names owe the government money for last year's taxes which means they have to work harder this year to earn more money to pay last year's taxes. And that means they'll have to work even harder next year to pay this year's taxes.

Jolson feels an old time minstrel show with an all-star cast in blackface would be tremendous in television. "There's a million jokes—all of 'em bad. But people will laugh at 'em when you put 'em in blackface. If I were only thirty-five years old. . ."

He's still full of astonishing vigor for a man who admits to sixty years. (There are grounds for suspicion that sixty-four is closer.) At Santa Anita where his box is next to that of Harry James and Betty Grable, he bounds through the Turf Club as if he owned it. As a matter of fact he did own part of it once. He was one of the original investors in Santa Anita though he has since sold his shares for ten times their original value. A shrewd investor, Mr. J., which is one reason why he is still one of Hollywood's wealthiest citizens.

He is a highly respected horseplayer in this community and, of course, incredibly gifted at talking a horse home. In fact, there is reason to believe the only voice the horse actually hears through the tumult of 70,000 people in the stretch drive is the booming, consonantless roar of Al Jolson.

Jolson, incidentally, has just won a spirited argument with the National Broadcasting Company over putting his broadcast on tape. N.B.C., which has held out for years against transcription, has surrendered completely in this regard. Jolson favors transcription because, as he confesses, he isn't much of a musician and he occasionally hits a real clinker. Tape recording would permit him to edit his own songs. "Right now," he roars, "I'm at the mercy of a guy with a knob." He harbors the suspicion that the guy with the knob frequently does him dirt. "I hear it later an' I say to m'self, Al, you couldn't have been that bad."

• — • — •

Another man who is falling on tape with delighted cries is Ed Gardner, the Archie of "Duffy's Tavern." Gardner would like to record three or four shows ahead and then take off for Paris, a city he discovered all by himself last summer. He can't wait to get back.

Realignment Of Shows Continued By Mutual System

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—More MBS program shifting and things Friday night as this network continues in the process of realignment of shows almost everywhere.

First at 8:30 goes in Yours For a Song, moved from 9:30. The concert is taking the earlier time because Leave It To The Girls, which has had a rather long and successful run, is being dropped.

At 9:30 goes Echanted "Hour" for 30 minutes, in which Henry Weber is to direct a 35 piece orchestra with Nancy Carr as soloist. The series is to specialize in the semi-classics.

Edward G. Robinson is acting for CBS and the Friday Theater at 9. Title of the story is "The Woman In the Window," the story of a college professor and the counterpart of the picture of a beautiful woman.

Boxing in will have Ike Williams and Kid Gavilan in an overweight battle at 10 as ABC broadcasts.

Turning to television, a new Broadway type revue series under sponsored starts on the combined NBC and Dumont networks at 8 for an hour. Something like 24 stations will carry on the east coast and in the midwest.

Realignment Of Shows Continued By Mutual System

NEW YORK, Jan. 27—More MBS program shifting and things Friday night as this network continues in the process of realignment of shows almost everywhere.

First at 8:30 goes in Yours For a Song, moved from 9:30. The concert is taking the earlier time because Leave It To The Girls, which has had a rather long and successful run, is being dropped.

At 9:30 goes Echanted "Hour" for 30 minutes, in which Henry Weber is to direct a 35 piece orchestra with Nancy Carr as soloist. The series is to specialize in the semi-classics.

Edward G. Robinson is acting for CBS and the Friday Theater at 9. Title of the story is "The Woman In the Window," the story of a college professor and the counterpart of the picture of a beautiful woman.

Boxing in will have Ike Williams and Kid Gavilan in an overweight battle at 10 as ABC broadcasts.

Turning to television, a new Broadway type revue series under sponsored starts on the combined NBC and Dumont networks at 8 for an hour. Something like 24 stations will carry on the east coast and in the midwest.

RADIO IN REVIEW

The Radio Stars Look At Television

The entertainers here are growing increasingly restive. Next to taxes—easily the most popular topic—television and the Columbia Broadcasting System's raids on the other networks hold the center of the stage. (Actually, I suppose weather leads all other topics, but, far as I can see, weather is discussed almost constantly in California.

Jack Benny

Jack Benny took up both topics the other morning over breakfast. "Gosh, all that fuss. A man moves from one network to another and the whole industry is in an uproar. I didn't think I was that important." Benny still thinks the capital gains deal may be approved and, even if it isn't, he still stands to profit heavily.

"At first I was a little afraid of television because we couldn't do the sort of things we do so well in radio." Benny's recent show in which he and Ronald Colman changed places in a dream sequence he considers one of the six best he ever did, a proposition I won't argue. It probably is. However, he pointed out that much of this show is pure radio which couldn't be converted to television. There is a sequence where Benny walks over to Colman's house to borrow a cup of flour. Footfalls. Suddenly a clink of a coin in the cup. "Thank you," says Benny. That sort of gag, in which the Benny show specializes is pure radio.

"But then I remember that television is the same old thing I used to do it in vaudeville." Benny things he could handle a variety act on television that would compete in popularity with his radio show. "Or it might be a one-act play with sets. I'd live in a small but nice home and the Colmans would live next door in a big fancy one.,,

However neither Benny nor many of the other top radio stars appear to be taking television very seriously yet.

Edgar Bergen has departed for New York to look over local television there and make up his mind what he wants to do next year. Bergen, one of the more thoughtful members of radio's comedy circle, thinks that radio has made two mistakes that television shouldn't repeat. First, he feels that radio centered as it is in New York and Hollywood, has lost touch with the rest of the country and should get out to the people more. Second, he sees no real reason why an entertainer be required to produce a new show once a week. Why not once a month, Bergen asks.

This point of view could spread easily, with taxes the way they are. Bergen figures his present four month vacation from radio will cost him about eight dollars. In the light of present taxes an entertainer could hang on to as much money working once a month as he could once a week at the same salary.

"Y'know," Al Jolson confided out at Santa Anita. "I made $2,000,000 (from "The Jolson Story"). I got eight cents left." Jolson currently earns $7,500 a week from his radio show and manages to hang on to about $600 after taxes and expenses. A surprising number of radio and film names owe the government money for last year's taxes which means they have to work harder this year to earn more money to pay last year's taxes. And that means they'll have to work even harder next year to pay this year's taxes.

Jolson feels an old time minstrel show with an all-star cast in blackface would be tremendous in television. "There's a million jokes—all of 'em bad. But people will laugh at 'em when you put 'em in blackface. If I were only thirty-five years old. . ."

He's still full of astonishing vigor for a man who admits to sixty years. (There are grounds for suspicion that sixty-four is closer.) At Santa Anita where his box is next to that of Harry James and Betty Grable, he bounds through the Turf Club as if he owned it. As a matter of fact he did own part of it once. He was one of the original investors in Santa Anita though he has since sold his shares for ten times their original value. A shrewd investor, Mr. J., which is one reason why he is still one of Hollywood's wealthiest citizens.

He is a highly respected horseplayer in this community and, of course, incredibly gifted at talking a horse home. In fact, there is reason to believe the only voice the horse actually hears through the tumult of 70,000 people in the stretch drive is the booming, consonantless roar of Al Jolson.

Jolson, incidentally, has just won a spirited argument with the National Broadcasting Company over putting his broadcast on tape. N.B.C., which has held out for years against transcription, has surrendered completely in this regard. Jolson favors transcription because, as he confesses, he isn't much of a musician and he occasionally hits a real clinker. Tape recording would permit him to edit his own songs. "Right now," he roars, "I'm at the mercy of a guy with a knob." He harbors the suspicion that the guy with the knob frequently does him dirt. "I hear it later an' I say to m'self, Al, you couldn't have been that bad."

Another man who is falling on tape with delighted cries is Ed Gardner, the Archie of "Duffy's Tavern." Gardner would like to record three or four shows ahead and then take off for Paris, a city he discovered all by himself last summer. He can't wait to get back.

In Memoriam

ANDERSON—A tribute of love to the memory of our dear Father, George W., who passed away three years ago, January 28, 1946.
Gone so long but leaving memories
Death can never take away,
Memories that will always linger
While upon this earth we stay.
Tho his smile is gone forever
And his face we cannot touch,
We will never lose sweet memories
Of the one we love so much.
Time may pass and bring its changes,
Fresh with every coming year,
But your memory will be cherished
In the hearts that hold you dear.
HIS LOVING CHILDREN

In memory of my beloved wife, Helen O. Schaver, who died 4 years ago January 27, 1945.
We shared our joys and sorrows
Through many happy years;
From love my anguish borrows
Some comfort for my tears—
Faith, through the long Tomorrows,
That our reunion nears.
Sadly missed by her Husband.

In loving memory of our beloved daughter, Sandra Sue Schaver, who died three years ago, January 27, 1945.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And the ones who think of her today,
Are the ones who loved her best.
Sadly missed by her Daddy

BIG MONEY in Everyday

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during the recent illness and death of our beloved sister, Thelma Deetz, also the ones who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral. We also wish to thank the Rev. William J. Elliott.

In Memoriam

ANDERSON—A tribute of love to the memory of our dear Father, George W., who passed away three years ago, January 28, 1946.
Gone so long but leaving memories
Death can never take away,
Memories that will always linger
While upon this earth we stay,
The his smile is gone forever
And his face we cannot touch,
We will never lose sweet memories
Of the one we love so much.
Time may pass and bring its changes,
Fresh with every coming year,
But your memory will be cherished
In the hearts that hold you dear.
HIS LOVING CHILDREN

In memory of my beloved wife, Helen O. Schaver, who died 4 years ago January 27, 1945.
We shared our joys and sorrows
Through many happy years;
From love my anguish borrows
Some comfort for my tears—
Faith, through the long Tomorrows,
That our reunion nears.
Sadly missed by her Husband.

In loving memory of our beloved daughter, Sandra Sue Schaver, who died three years ago, January 27, 1945.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a loved one gone to rest,
And the ones who think of her today,
Are the ones who loved her best.
Sadly missed by her Daddy

Stock Market Turns In Losing Score For Fourth Time In Row

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The stock market turned in a losing score today for the fourth time in a row.

United States Steel lost a full point at one time but came back for a closing gain of one-fourth point at 77¾. Up fractionally were Bethlehem Steel at 33⅞ and Youngstown Sheet 73¾.

On the losing side were New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Standard Oil (NJ), Mission Corporation, Standard Oil of California, Pure Oil, Transcontinental and Western Air, Western Union, Electric Power and Light, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, Kennecott Copper, Phelps Dodge, and American Woolen.

Higher were Woolworth, International Harvester, Distillers Corporation, Consolidated Natural Gas, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, American Tobacco, Santa Fe, Illinois Central, and American Seating (helped by an extra and stock dividend.)

The bond market dropped under feeble selling today, carrying its current slump into the fourth consecutive day.

Two New York Central liens hit new 1948-49 lows in today's dealings. The refunding 5s sagged seven-eighths at 69⅛ and the 4½s of 2013 were down three-fourths at 62¼.

Others lower included American Tobacco 3s of '52, Central of Georgia "B" 4½s, Rock Island income 4½s, Consumers Power 2⅞s, Detroit Edison 3s, Gulf, Mobile and Ohio "B" bonds, Illinois Central and Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans 4½s ((off 3⅛ at 90) and Northern Pacific "D" 5s.

Among obligations boosting their price were American Telephone 2¾s of '61, Laclede Gas, 4½s, Manati Sugar 4s, May Department Stores 2⅝s, and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 5½s of '54.

United States government long-term obligations responded to buying pressure by regaining virtually all of the ground lost in yesterday's over the-counter trading.

Stock Market Turns In Losing Score For Fourth Time In Row

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—The stock market turned in a losing score today for the fourth time in a row.

United States Steel lost a full point at one time but came back for a closing gain of one-fourth point at 77¾. Up fractionally were Bethlehem Steel at 33⅞ and Youngstown Sheet 73¾.

On the losing side were New York Central, Chesapeake and Ohio, Standard Oil (NJ), Mission Corporation, Standard Oil of California, Pure Oil, Transcontinental and Western Air, Western Union, Electric Power and Light, Douglas Aircraft, Schenley, Kennecott Copper, Phelps Dodge, and American Woolen.

Higher were Woolworth, International Harvester, Distillers Corporation, Consolidated Natural Gas, General Electric, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, Philip Morris, American Tobacco, Santa Fe, Illinois Central, and American Seating (helped by an extra 2nd stock dividend.)

The bond market dropped under feeble selling today, carrying its current slump into the fourth consecutive day.

Two New York Central liens hit new 1948-49 lows in today's dealings. The refunding 5s sagged seven-eighths at 69⅛ and the 4½s of 2013 were down three-fourths at 62¼.

Others lower included American Tobacco 3s of '52, Central of Georgia "B" 4½s, Rock Island income 4½s, Consumers Power 2⅞s, Detroit Edison 3s, Gulf, Mobile and Ohio "B" bonds, Illinois Central and Chicago, St. Louis and New Orleans 4½s ((off 3⅛ at 90) and Northern Pacific "D" 5s.

Among obligations boosting their price were American Telephone 2¾s of '61, Laclede Gas, 4½s, Manati Sugar 4s, May Department Stores 2⅝s, and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico 5½s of '54.

United States government long-term obligations responded to buying pressure by regaining virtually all of the ground lost in yesterday's over the-counter trading.

Warrant Served On William Brashear; Rowe, Rutledge Cleared In Garrett Case

Westernport Mine Owner Will Get Hearing Monday

A warrant charging that William Brashear failed to register with Maryland's Bureau of Mines the opening of an operation in which two men were killed Monday was served on the Westernport mine owner last night at 7 o'clock Deputy Sheriff William Chappel said.

Brashear was summoned to appear in Cumberland Trial Magistrates Court Monday at 10 a. m. for a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti on the charge that he violated a section of the mining laws, according to the sheriff's office.

Deputy Chappell said the Sheriff served the papers on Brashear as the mine owner appeared for a hearing being conducted by the Maryland Bureau of Mines to determine the cause of the explosion which killed Kenneth Brown Riggleman and Fred W. Knisley.

Maximum Fine $200

The warrant was obtained shortly before noon yesterday on the oath of John J. Rutledge, director of the state bureau who is conducting the investigation, authorities said. Rutledge, they added, filed his compalint with Magistrate Carpenti.

Authorities said the charge preferred in the warrant carries with it a maximum $200 fine if a conviction is obtained.

After accepting the warrant, Brashear entered the Westernport Council Chamber to appear as one of five witnesses before the Maryland Mine Bureau which indicated earlier that it expected to complete the investigation last night.

Others seen entering the building were Billy Brashear, son of the owner, who was in the mine at the time of the explosion but escaped injury; Manley Brashear, brother of the owner; Carl Blizzard and John Morris, both employes at the mine.

Clyde J. Rowe, mine bureau inspector in the Westernport area said chemical tests failed to disclose the type of explosive that caused the disaster.

Meeting Is Closed

The meeting was a closed affair and bureau personnel said they would be unable to give any information about the final hearings until later. Rowe indicated that a public report may be released late today.

Rutledge obtained the warrant after receiving a recommendation from the office of Maryland's Attorney General that legal action be taken against Brashear. Assistant Attorney General Joseph D. Buscher said the recommendation was made when the disaster probe showed that Brashear failed to report either to Rowe or the bureau that he was going to open the mine.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris said yesterday that a letter from Dr. Rutledge was delivered to his office and Harris indicated the mine owner would be given a hearing on Monday.

Meanwhile funeral services for the two victims were conducted yesterday.

The service for Knisley, who resided in Eckhart, was held at 3 p. m. with Rev. Charles Mead, pastor of the Eckhart Baptist Church, officiating. Military honors were held at the grave in Allegany Cemetery by Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion.

Active pallbearers were Ralph Bowers, Wilson Page, Benjamin Stevens, John Blubaugh, Charles Whitehead and Bernard Evans. The honorary pallbearers, all members of John R. Fairgrieve Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, were:

Andrew Anderson, Kenneth Pollack, Walter Evans, William Miller, Homer Rafferty, Virgil Frost and Ranson Nave. Luther Ralston represented the Disabled American Veterans.

The service for Riggleman was conducted in Westernport by Rev. William B. Orndorff, pastor of First Baptist Church, Westernport. Military rites were conducted by Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, at the grave in Philos Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Frank Bartlett, John F. Daniels, Jack Fazenbaker, Warden Wilson, Carl Blizzard and Leo Ryan.

Senator Mundt To Give Lincoln Day Talk Here

Address To Deal With Communism

United States Senator Karl E. Mundt (R-South Dakota) will be guest speaker at the Lincoln Day dinner to be held Thursday, February 10, at 6:30 p. m. in the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall made arrangements for Senator Mundt to speak here, according to officials of the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County, which is sponsoring the dinner.

The guest speaker, who was elected to the Senate in November after serving for 10 years in the House of Representatives, served as acting chairman of the House Committee to Investigate Un-American Activities during the recent espionage hearings resulting in the discovery of the so-called "pumpkin papers."

To Discuss Communism

Senator Mundt is expected to discuss the work of that committee in his address, which will be on the general topic of "Communism Within the Government."

He is the author of the Mundt-Nixon Bill, which was approved by the House of Representatives in the 80th Congress by a roll-call vote.

It was the first legislation ever passed by Congress proposing to set up effective controls against Communism in this country. The Senate adjourned before a vote was taken on the bill.

Senator Mundt is also the author of the so-called Voice of America legislation for radio programs prepared by the State Department and broadcast to foreign countries, especially those behind the iron curtain. The legislation, known as the Smith-Mundt Act, became law early last year.

As a congressman, Mr. Mundt was author of House Resolution 215 which in 1945 passed both Houses of Congress conveying congressional approval for the establishment of an International Organization of Educational and Cultural Affairs.

Gist of the resolution was later written into the San Francisco Charter at the United Nations Conference there, and a UN conference of educators and cultural leaders met in London in November, 1945, to prepare the constitution for implementation of the objectives set forth in the measure.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organizations (UNESCO) is the end result of the bill.

Tours Foreign Countries

Late in 1945 Mr. Mundt, as a member of a subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, made an extensive trip to 20 countries of Europe, Africa and Asia, studying economic and political conditions abroad.

A month was spent in Russia and Russia - dominated countries. Mr. Mundt's committee was the first group since 1939 permitted to enter Russia in its own plane. The committee tourned Russia extensively and held interviews with Russian leaders in the Kremlin.

Since the group was to report back to Congress on the merit of Russia's claim for UNRRA relief (which it approved) it was given

Officials Freed Of Blame By Md. Attorney General

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 27 (AP) — The Maryland Attorney General today cleared Dr. John T. Rutledge, director of the Bureau of Mines, and a district inspector of blame for a fatal mine fire at Kitzmiller last November.

"No justification can be found," Assistant Attorney General Joseph D. Buscher said in a report to Governor Lane, "in acceding to the demands x x x that the director of the Bureau of Mines and district mine inspector be dismissed, or that a hearing be held."

John T. Jones, president of District 16, United Mine Workers, had charged Dr. Rutledge and Inspector Clyde Rowe shared blame for the fanhouse fire which claimed five lives.

Attorney General Hall Hammond, forwarding Buscher's report to Lane, said he concurred in the report.

Committee Named

As a result, the governor named a committee to study proposed changes in state mining laws "as will properly better protect the safety of the men working in the mines."

The Governor appointed Buscher as chairman, Senate Majority Leader Sothoron (D-Prince George's) and Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany), Delegates Coddington (R-Garrett) and Preston (D-Balto Fifth), and representatives of both the UMW and the George's Creek and Upper Potomac Coal Operators' Association.

He asked Jones to name the UMW member and Andrew B. Crichton, of Cumberland, president of the association, to name the other.

In his nine-page report, Buscher proposed these changes in state mining laws:

1. Require fire-proof fan houses at all mines.
2. Require reversible ventilating fans at all mines.
3. Build fan houses at least 15 feet from the entrance to the air shaft or any opening into the mine.
4. Require fuel tanks of all gasoline engines operating within 50 feet of an air shaft or other opening to be installed above the engine.
5. Require "a minimum amount of modern fire fighting equipment" at all mine entrances and in all tipple houses adjacent to a mine entrance.

Buscher declared hearings on cases involving injury or death should be closed, but representatives of the Federal Mine Inspector's office and the local State's Attorney's office might attend.

Wide-open hearings would "defeat the purpose," he said.

Buscher also suggested a committee to study Maryland mining laws. The group should report within 30 days, he added, to permit action by the General Assembly.

Would Publish Pamphlet

M. & A. Entered; One Man Held

One man was being held for investigation early this morning after he was apprehended near the M. and A. Restaurant, Baltimore Street, which was broken into about midnight. A second was being sought.

Police identified the prisoner as Raymond Gray, 506 Linden Street. He was arrested in the vicinity of the restaurant by Officers Louis D. Downey, Kenneth W. Morrisey, C. W. Thompson and Sgt. John E. Sherry at 12:05 a. m.

Authorities said Officer Thompson was on his Baltimore Street beat when he saw a man in the restaurant. Thompson stayed at the scene to investigate and asked Hardy Tysinger, Wiley Ford, W. Va., to call Police Headquarters. Instead, Tysinger pulled a fire alarm box and Central and West Side companies answered.

Shortly after Gray was apprehended another man was taken into custody at 12:20 a. m. He was released a short time later according to police.

Police said the intruder apparently entered the restaurant from the rear, escaped to the roof and left on the North Mechanic Street side of the group of buildings.

The owner of the restaurant was notified of the entry, police said, and was en route to the building early this morning to determine if anything had been stolen.

VFW Degree Team Will Meet Sunday

The degree team of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will meet at the post home Sunday at 1 p. m., according to James E. Stemple, chairman.

James J. Kloran, post commander said last night he has been notified that Walter Nycum, a post member is a patient in Newton D. Baker Hospital.

The Weather

With the weatherman predicting more rain and colder weather for today, many people in downtown Cumberland resumed the periodic talk of flood danger last night. Three days of rainfall totaling 1.70 inches with .49 of an inch falling in the 24 hours preceding yesterday at 5 p. m. swelled the Potomac River to an official reading of 10.14 feet last night at 9:30. This was over six and a half feet below flood stage, but rain was continuing upstream. Official temperature here yesterday hit a maximum of 48 above zero, a minimum of 37 at 6 p. m. and 40 degrees above at 10 p. m. Rain fell steadily throughout much of the night here.

Aldridge Wins Top Position In Textile Union Poll

Bush And Thomas Win Major Posts

Playford Aldridge, 540 Fairview Avenue, was re-elected president of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, in a decisive election which swept into office all but one member of the slate he headed.

Playford Aldridge

Unofficial results of the balloting, announced early last night by George Abrams, of the Honest Ballot Association, which conducted the election, were:

Playford Aldridge, president.

Howard Bush, vice president.

John G. Thomas, secretary-treasurer and business manager.

James Martin, recording secretary.

Charles Nicodemus, David Rennie and James Roby, Auditing Committee.

William E. Meagher, George Zeigler, John Estes, Carl Hinkle and Lindley Dye, Executive Board.

Walter Mahaney, warden.

No run off will be necessary, Abrams said he was informed, since William Starkey conceded the fifth place on the Board of Trustees to Roy T. Craze rather than to call for a run-off election.

Aldridge, who won four to one over four opponents, was shop chairman of Bobbin Stores from 1940 to 1945 and in 1947. He was also a member of the local's executive board in 1943 and 1944 and was recording secretary in 1945.

Bush, who won 7-5 over two opponents to become vice president, was a member of the executive board last year.

John G. "Jack" Thomas, seeking re-election as business manager, was victor by an overwhelming 7-1 majority. James Martin, seeking re-election as recording secretary, won by a 2-1 vote over his two opponents.

Clear majorities were chalked up by all members of the auditing committee and executive board and four members of the Board of Trustees.

Craze, who ran for trustee as an independent, was the only officer elected who did not run on the "Blue" slate. His election, it was reported, marked the first time an independent has won a place since the union began to use saltes a number of years ago. He has held the position of trustee twice before.

Mahaney was re-elected warden by a 2-1 majority.

The total vote cast in the election which began Monday and ended Wednesday night, was almost the same as last year but represents a much higher percentage of the total eligible voters since the hourly-rated payroll at the plant has dropped about 1,000.

Some 7,000 members of the union were eligible to vote in the election which drew 44 candidates for the 18 positions.

Abrams said voting was especially heavy Monday and Tuesday but fell off considerably on the last day. He said the count was completed yesterday at 4:30 p. m.

The official results of the poll will be sent to union officials within the next few days.

Officials of the Honest Ballot Association, which also conducted last year's election, said the cooperation of the Celanese Corporation aided materially in conducting the election.

Details of the installation of the new officers have not yet been made.

Allegany Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Yates, 418 Pine Avenue, a daughter Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Vauken, 410 Pulaski Street, a son Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lynch, Three Churches, W. Va., a daughter Wednesday.

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Little, Route 3, Bedford Road, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Geatz, 117 North Mechanic Street, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Washinger, Route 5, this city, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond S. Poland, Lonaconing, a son.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion F. Miller, 641 Lincoln Street, a daughter.

To Reign As May Queen At Fort Hill

Miss JoAnn Shirey (above) has been elected by the student body of Fort Hill High School to reign as May Queen at the annual May Day ceremonies. Miss Shirey, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chancey L. Shirey, Cresaptown, is a senior. A commercial student, she is editor-in-chief of the Sabre, Fort Hill's yearbook, and is a member of the Dramatic Club. Miss Shirey's runners-up were Miss Rosa Lee Kimmel and Miss Ann Linn. The raven-haired, dark-eyed queen will be crowned at the May Day festivities by Miss June Clark, last year's queen.

Telephone Co. Plans To Move Business Office

Will Occupy New Building Monday

The business office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company here will be moved from its present temporary location at 139 Union Street, to the company's new permanent building at 24 South Centre Street on Monday, Howard M. Smith, local manager, announced last night.

The move will actually begin tomorrow, Smith explained, but the office will not be open for business in the new building until 8:30 o'clock Monday morning. Offices of the wire chief, E. H. Bender, and plant engineer, Elmer Hite, Russell Pancake and George Williams, will be be moved sometime next week.

Work is continuing on installation of switchboard position and other plant equipment inside the new building, and this work is scheduled to be completed in April, Smith said.

No Noticeable Interruption

These installations started early in December and the task of tying in all these lines in enormous. The provision of additional local and long distance positions will provide necessary central office facilities. The entire task is being accomplished without noticeable interruption to service.

When all installations are completed in the new building, the local exchange will have sufficent switchboard positions to accomodate all who want telephones and to provide ample additional facilities for normal future growth.

There are upward of 900 applications for telephone service on file here now, Smith said. When these new installations are completed by spring, some of these will get almost immediate service, depending upon where they live.

The switchboard is one thing, he said, and a telephone is something else, but the two are useless unless they are joined together by outside lines and cables.

There are a number of congested areas served by the local exchange where lines are now crowed to the limit. This means additional cables must be placed.

New Cable Installation

For example, Smith said, there are many applications on file from the area between Cumberland and Rawlings, and a new and additional cable is being installed out McMullen Highway to Rawlings, Smith said. This line should be completed by the time switchboards are in-

Senate Passes County School Board Bill

The State Senate yesterday passed a bill to increase the size of the Allegany County Board of Education from three to five members, at least two of whom would be women.

Staggered terms from one to five years are also provided, as well as increasing annual expense allowances for board members up to $200. The measure was introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany.)

Hearing Is Set On Cresaptown Tax Area Bill

A public hearing will be held in Annapolis on Wednesday, February 9, at 10:30 a. m. on the proposed Cresaptown water legislation, Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., reported last night.

Whitworth said the date was selected at a conference of the Allegany County Delegation yesterday.

The measure is in the hands of the delegation but has not been introduced pending a public hearing.

It would set up a special taxing area in the Cresaptown district to provide an adequate water supply for the community.

The measure was drawn up by Former Chief Judge William A. Huster and Earl E. Manges, attorneys for the Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association, sponsor of the plan.

The delegation conferred yesterday morning with John Estes and George Ziegler, representatives of the legislative committee of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, on legislation of interest to the union.

Whitworth reported they had no comment to make on the proposed city charter but that they said they believed there should be a referendum provision in the proposed state veterans' bonus bill, which is being prepared by State Senator Robert B. Kimble.

Legislators To Confer On Charter Tomorrow

Allegany County legislators are scheduled to confer with the Cumberland Charter Commission tomorrow at 2 p. m. at City Hall.

Members of the Alelgany County Delegation and State Senator Robert B. Kimble will discuss provisions of the proposed city charter with the commission, which spent nine months in preparing the 57-page document.

The measure has been introduced in the House of Delegates.

Resolution Is Readied Backing Vet Bonus Bill

GOP Praises Work Of Senator Kimble

A formal resolution giving the unqualified endorsement of the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County to the Maryland state bonus bill for veterans of World War II has been prepared, Paul M. Fletcher, committee chairman, said yesterday.

The resolution, which praises State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) for his efforts in preparing and proposing such legislation, points out that 22 states have already enacted or are in the process of enacting similar bonus statutes.

The text follows:

"WHEREAS, State Senator Robert B. Kimble is preparing legislation to be introduced in the 1949 session of the Legislature of the State of Maryland to provide for the payment of a bonus to veterans of World War II who were citizens of the state at the time of their military service; and

"WHEREAS, with the full understanding of the immeasurable debt of gratitude which the State of Maryland and those who remained at home will ever owe to its sons and daughters who served as members of the armed forces of the United States in World War II, and who by their service exemplified the highest concepts of citizenship in the full performance of their military duties in time of greatest peril and danger to our country, and whose military accomplishments were brilliantly successful beyond expectation in the overthrow of the then existing threats to the continuance of the United States of America and our form of government.

"NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

(1) That the Republican Party of Allegany County, through its State Central Committee, commend the efforts of Robert B. Kimble, member of the Maryland Legislature and Senator from Allegany County, for preparing and proposing legislation for the purpose of enacting a bill to provide for the

Delegates Kill Mobile Library Unit Measure

Fey Only Member Favoring Measure

By a 5 to 1 vote, the Allegany County Delegation yesterday killed a measure calling for establishment of a mobile library unit in the county.

Delegate John T. Fey, who introduced the bill in the House of Delegates at the request of the Board of County Commissioners, was the only member of the delegation voting to report out the bill favorably.

The unfavorable report of the delegation was accepted on the House floor.

However, Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said further discussion of the overall library problem in the county is slated at the next delegation caucus.

"We need to study the whole question further and to obtain more information," Whitworth said.

He added that several protests against the bill were received from parent-teacher groups and from library committees because of the provision that the proposed mobile unit would not serve incorporated communities.

The bill would have authorized the county commissioners to include in the levy $25,000 to set up the unit.

In other action yesterday, the delegation reported out favorably a bill introduced by Delegate Lester B. Reed to legalize Sunday motion picture shows in unincorporated areas of the county.

It also gave a favorable report to a delegation bill which would place Allegany County back under state law allowing distraint for rent on leases of less than three months.

The House passed a measure introduced by Delegates Whitworth, Preston and King to prohibit the use in Maryland of any motor vehicle equipped with any type of television projector which is in normal view of the driver.

Eiler Will Head Community Chest

Frederick W. Eiler was re-elected president of the Cumberland Community Chest at the annual election of officers held yesterday afternoon in the Chest office.

Members of the executive committee, all re-elected, are Earl C. Robertson, vice president; Mrs. Gerard Everstine, treasurer; James W. Bishop, secretary, and Charles E. Bramble, Roy W. Eves, C. William Gilchrist, Clarence Lippel and Henry Swearingen, members.

Other members of the Board of Directors are Michael M. Beerman, Mrs. Stanley S. Burke, David T. Lewis, John T. Fey, Mrs. M. J. Fleming, Dr. A. H. Hawkins, R. A. J. Morrison, Harold E. Naughton, Wiliam M. Somerville and Joseph K. Trenton.

The directors also approved the December financial statement and reports of agencies affiliated with the Chest.

The reports chowed receipts from the campaign and during November of $51,200.69 with December receipts of $7,010 for a total cash of $58,210.69.

Total December disbursements were $11,837.72, leaving a balance of $46,372.97 on January 1. Total receipts from 1948-49 pledges to January 1 were $58,174.19, or 70 per cent.

Committee Discusses Officer Procurement

Qualifications of applicants for second lieutenancies in the Army and for Air Force aviation cadets and nurses with the Army Nurse Corps were discussed at a meeting of the Military Manpower Committee last night at the Baltimore Street Army and Air Force recruiting station.

First Lt. George J. Gocke, officer in charge of the local recruiting stations, explained that Army second lieutenants must have at least two years of college and one year's previous service in any of the armed forces.

An aviation cadet must have two years of college or be able to pass a "college equivalency" test, Gocke said, adding that the main requirement for service in the Nurse Corps is that the applicant be a registered nurse.

The group discussed procurement of officers in the three branches and Gocke and Lt. Gerald Laurea distributed literature containing further information.

Those attending besides Gocke and Laurea were George Schwarzenbach, chairman, Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., and Edwin Hinkle.

Forester Recommends Removing Timber Damaged By Ice Storm

In Western Maryland woodlands, where many acres of trees were damaged a few weeks ago by a sleet and ice storm, there is the possibility of recovering some of the damaged wood for mine props, fence posts, saw logs and pulpwood, according to a survey just completed by Carl G. Heczko, assistant district forester.

Heczko said greater damage will result to the woodlands if these injured trees are not removed immediately. Trees with only minor damage should be repaired to prevent rot, he said, and when the damaged growth is removed, enough good trees and shrubs should be left to reforest and preserve the land.

Any timber damaged by the storm that is not removed shortly will become a total loss, Heczko continued. Trees that were uprooted or broken will die and decay. Other trees with larges wounds caused by broken limbs and tops will soon become defective.

It has been found that trees with wounds larger than one inch in diameter will be the source of rot infection unless treated with some preservative, Heczko explained. Decay starts in the wounds and works down into the heartwood. Once this decay has started, it will continue until after the original wound has healed over.

Forest men and woods operators continually cut trees that are sound at the base and top, yet have been defective inside when sawed into logs. This defect was probably started by previous ice or snow damage, the forester declared.

Most of the storm damaged timber in this area can be marketed during January and February and perhaps early March, Heczko said, explaining that the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company is buying pulpwood and there is some market for props, fence posts and saw logs.

In making the salvage cut of this damaged timber, the forester emphasized the importance of leaving a stand of good timber or some of the least damaged to give the ground a chance to reforest.

A representative of the Department of Forests and Parks will be willing to go over any woodlands with the owner and help him with his timber salvale problem, Heczko concluded.

Schools Map Library Plans To Extend Book Information

The printed information stacked on the shelves of Allegany county school libraries is going to be exploited down to the last comma and in a very systematic way.

The Allegany County Board of Education is already turning the attention of its librarians toward this end, but the greatest effort will come this summer when a two-week workshop is conducted with a huge exhibit of books at hand to work with.

The work now underway is directed toward preparing a High School Librarian's handbook that will permit an expanded service already being given by the school libraries. Educators explained:

"The modern teacher feels the need for advice and assistance in a variety of fields. The librarian is an expert in directing them to resources of printed material in addition to filling the traditional job of supplying books for those who wish to read them.

"The newest concept of library work includes co-operative planning for many kinds of resource material that is needed in unit work of all departments of high school study. It is this that the librarians of Allegany County are studying and preparing for now."

The workshop is scheduled to run from June 20 until July 2 this summer. It will include a number of book exhibits of modern reading material on various levels and interest.

This exhibit will permit the teachers and librarians attending the workshop to record a huge list of material sources that can be referred to later when the need arises.

The group now collecting material for the librarian's handbook recently received information and suggestions from Miss Mae Graham, superintendent of school and children's libraries extension of the State Department of Education.

Collection Day TODAY

LaVale Firemen To Have First Fog-Equipped Truck In County

Construction of a new fire truck to increase fire fighting facilities of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company will begin in the near future, Cromwell Zembower and Bruce Long, co-chairmen of the Fire Truck committee, announced last night.

Firemen said the new truck, equipped with both fog and low pressure facilities, is needed due to the heavy growth of the LaVale community in recent years.

The 2½-3 truck chassis, which will be delivered in a few days by a local firm, will be sent to the Oren Roanoke Corporation, Roanoke, Va., for installation of the apparatus.

Firemen said the completed truck has been promised for the latter part of this summer.

Space will be provided for a portable light plant with flood and spot lights and the truck will be equipped with a 400-gallon booster tank, 100 gallons more than the capacity of the present truck.

All-aluminum ladders, including a 35-foot extension and a 12-foot roof ladder will also be provided for the pumper.

Firemen said the truck will be equipped with a Hale three-stage pump, which includes a 700-pound high pressure fog system.

The present truck, purchased in 1942, has volume and pressure facilities but not the high pressure needed for fog, which cuts down water damage in house fires to a minimum.

Equipment will also include two booster reels, each holding 250 feet of hose, which can be used for either straight streams of water or for fog.

The body will include space for 1,000 feet of 2½ inch hose and 500 feet of 1½ inch hose.

One of the most modern features will be the Hardle fog gun, similar in appearance and operation to the Tommy gun. With it, one man can send a stream of fog about 80 feet to smother out fires. It is said that fog cuts down water damage as much as two-thirds and does a quicker job.

Although the new truck will be modern in every respects, it will conform to the body lines, color and style of the present fire truck which will be kept as an auxiliary. The fully equipped truck will weigh eight tons.

Firemen said they have been for-

Westernport Mine Owner Will Get Hearing Monday

A warrant charging that William Brashear failed to register with Maryland's Bureau of Mines the opening of an operation in which two men were killed Monday was served on the Westernport mine owner last night at 7 o'clock Deputy Sheriff William Chappel said.

Brashear was summoned to appear in Cumberland Trial Magistrates Court Monday at 10 a. m. for a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti on the charge that he violated a section of the mining laws, according to the sheriff's office.

Deputy Chappell said the Sheriff served the papers on Brashear as the mine owner appeared for a hearing being conducted by the Maryland Bureau of Mines to determine the cause of the explosion which killed Kenneth Brown Riggleman and Fred W. Knisley.

Maximum Fine $200

The warrant was obtained shortly before noon yesterday on the oath of John J. Rutledge, director of the state bureau who is conducting the investigation, authorities said. Rutledge, they added, filed his complaint with Magistrate Carpenti.

Authorities said the charge preferred in the warrant carries with it a maximum $200 fine if a conviction is obtained.

After accepting the warrant, Brashear entered the Westernport Council Chamber to appear as one of five witnesses before the Maryland Mine Bureau which indicated earlier that it expected to complete the investigation last night.

Others seen entering the building were Billy Brashear, son of the owner, who was in the mine at the time of the explosion but escaped injury; Manley Brashear, brother of the owner; Carl Blizzard and John Morris, both employes at the mine.

Clyde J. Rowe, mine bureau inspector in the Westernport area said chemical tests failed to disclose the type of explosive that caused the disaster.

Meeting Is Closed

The meeting was a closed affair and bureau personnel said they would be unable to give any information about the final hearings until later. Rowe indicated that a public report may be released late today.

Rutledge obtained the warrant after receiving a recommendation from the office of Maryland's Attorney General that legal action be taken against Brashear. Assistant Attorney General Joseph D. Buscher said the recommendation was made when the disaster probe showed that Brashear failed to report either to Rowe or the bureau that he was going to open the mine.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris said yesterday that a letter from Dr. Rutledge was delivered to his office and Harris indicated the mine owner would be given a hearing on Monday.

Meanwhile funeral services for the two victims were conducted yesterday.

The service for Knisley, who resided in Eckhart, was held at 3 p. m. with Rev. Charles Mead, pastor of the Eckhart Baptist Church, officiating. Military honors were held at the grave in Allegany Cemetery by Parrady Post No. 24, American Legion.

Active pallbearers were Ralph Bowers, Wilson Page, Benjamin Stevens, John Blubaugh, Charles Whitehead and Bernard Evans. The honorary pallbearers, all members of John R. Fairgrieve Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, were:

Andrew Anderson, Kenneth Pollack, Walter Evans, William Miller, Homer Rafferty, Virgil Frost and Ranson Nave. Luther Ralston represented the Disabled American Veterans.

The service for Riggleman was conducted in Westernport by Rev. William B. Orndorff, pastor of First Baptist Church, Westernport. Military rites were conducted by Victory Post No. 155, American Legion, at the grave in Philos Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Frank Bartlett, John F. Daniels, Jack Fazenbaker, Warden Wilson, Carl Blizzard and Leo Ryan.

SENATOR TO SPEAK—Shown above is United States Senator Karl E. Mundt (R-South Dakota) who will be guest speaker at the Lincoln Day dinner here February 10 at Centre Street Methodist Church recreation hall.

Senator Mundt To Give Lincoln Day Talk Here

Address To Deal With Communism

United States Senator Karl E. Mundt (R-South Dakota) will be guest speaker at the Lincoln Day dinner to be held Thursday, February 10, at 6:30 p. m. in the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Rep. J. Glenn Beall made arrangements for Senator Mundt to speak here, according to officials of the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County, which is sponsoring the dinner.

The guest speaker, who was elected to the Senate in November after serving for 10 years in the House of Representatives, served as acting chairman of the House Committee to Investigate Un-American Activities during the recent espionage hearings resulting in the discovery of the so-called "pumpkin papers."

To Discuss Communism

Senator Mundt is expected to discuss the work of that committee in his address, which will be on the general topic of "Communism Within the Government."

He is the author of the Mundt-Nixon Bill, which was approved by the House of Representatives in the 80th Congress by a roll-call vote.

It was the first legislation ever passed by Congress proposing to set up effective controls against Communism in this country. The Senate adjourned before a vote was taken on the bill.

Senator Mundt is also the author of the so-called Voice of America legislation for radio programs prepared by the State Department and broadcast to foreign countries, especially those behind the iron curtain. The legislation, known as the Smith-Mundt Act, became law early last year.

As a congressman, Mr. Mundt was author of House Resolution 215 which in 1945 passed both Houses of Congress conveying congressional approval for the establishment of an International Organization of Educational and Cultural Affairs.

Gist of the resolution was later written into the San Francisco Charter at the United Nations Conference there, and a UN conference of educators and cultural leaders met in London in November, 1945, to prepare the constitution for implementation of the objectives set forth in the measure.

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organizations (UNESCO) is the end result of the bill.

Tours Foreign Countries

Late in 1945 Mr. Mundt, as a member of a subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, made an extensive trip to 20 countries of Europe, Africa and Asia, studying economic and political conditions abroad.

A month was spent in Russia and Russia - dominated countries. Mr. Mundt's committee was the first group since 1939 permitted to enter Russia in its own plane. The committee tourned Russia extensively and held interviews with Russian leaders in the Kremlin.

Since the group was to report back to Congress on the merit of Russia's claim for UNRRA relief (which it approved) it was given

Officials Freed Of Blame By Md. Attorney General

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 27 (AP) — The Maryland Attorney General today cleared Dr. John T. Rutledge, director of the Bureau of Mines, and a district inspector of blame for a fatal mine fire at Kitzmiller last November.

"No justification can be found," Assistant Attorney General Joseph D. Buscher said in a report to Governor Lane, "in acceding to the demands x x x that the director of the Bureau of Mines and district mine inspector be dismissed, or that a hearing be held."

John T. Jones, president of District 16, United Mine Workers, had charged Dr. Rutledge and Inspector Clyde Rowe shared blame for the fanhouse fire which claimed five lives.

Attorney General Hall Hammond, forwarding Buscher's report to Lane, said he concurred in the report.

Committee Named

As a result, the governor named a committee to study proposed changes in state mining laws "as will properly better protect the safety of the men working in the mines."

The Governor appointed Buscher as chairman, Senate Majority Leader Sothoron (D-Prince George's) and Minority Leader Kimble (R-Allegany), Delegates Coddington (R-Garrett) and Preston (D-Balto Fifth), and representatives of both the UMW and the George's Creek and Upper Potomac Coal Operators' Association.

He asked Jones to name the UMW member and Andrew B. Crichton, of Cumberland, president of the association, to name the other.

In his nine-page report, Buscher proposed these changes in state mining laws:

1. Require fire-proof fan houses at all mines.
2. Require reversible ventilating fans at all mines.
3. Build fan houses at least 15 feet from the entrance to the air shaft or any opening into the mine.
4. Require fuel tanks of all gasoline engines operating within 50 feet of an air shaft or other opening to be installed above the engine.
5. Require "a minimum amount of modern fire fighting equipment" at all mine entrances and in all tipple houses adjacent to a mine entrance.

Buscher declared hearings on cases involving injury or death should be closed, but representatives of the Federal Mine Inspector's office and the local State's Attorney's office might attend.

Wide-open hearings would "defeat the purpose," he said.

Buscher also suggested a committee to study Maryland mining laws. The group should report within 30 days, he added, to permit action by the General Assembly.

Would Publish Pamphlet

M. & A. Entered; One Man Held

One man was being held for investigation early this morning after he was apprehended near the M. and A. Restaurant, Baltimore Street, which was broken into about midnight. A second was being sought.

Police identified the prisoner as Raymond Gray, 506 Linden Street. He was arrested in the vicinity of the restaurant by Officers Louis D. Downey, Kenneth W. Morrisey, C. W. Thompson and Sgt. John E. Sherry at 12:05 a. m.

Authorities said Officer Thompson was on his Baltimore Street beat when he saw a man in the restaurant. Thompson stayed at the scene to investigate and asked Hardy Tysinger, Wiley Ford, W. Va., to call Police Headquarters. Instead, Tysinger pulled a fire alarm box and Central and West Side companies answered.

Shortly after Gray was apprehended another man was taken into custody at 12:20 a. m. He was released a short time later according to police.

Police said the intruder apparently entered the restaurant from the rear, escaped to the roof and left on the North Mechanic Street side of the group of buildings.

The owner of the restaurant was notified of the entry, police said, and was en route to the building early this morning to determine if anything had been stolen.

James J. Kloran, post commander said last night he has been notified that Walter Nycum, a post member is a patient in Newton D. Baker Hospital.

The Weather

With the weatherman predicting more rain and colder weather for today, many people in downtown Cumberland resumed the periodic talk of flood danger last night. Three days of rainfall totaling 1.70 inches with .49 of an inch falling in the 24 hours preceding yesterday at 5 p. m. swelled the Potomac River to an official reading of 10.14 feet last night at 9:30. This was over six and a half feet below flood stage, but rain was continuing upstream. Official temperature here yesterday hit a maximum of 48 above zero, a minimum of 37 at 6 p. m. and 40 degrees above at 10 p. m. Rain fell steadily throughout much of the night here.

Aldridge Wins Top Position In Textile Union Poll

Bush And Thomas Win Major Posts

Playford Aldridge, 540 Fairview Avenue, was re-elected president of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, in a decisive election which swept into office all but one member of the slate he headed.

Playford Aldridge

Unofficial results of the balloting, announced early last night by George Abrams, of the Honest Ballot Association, which conducted the election, were:

Playford Aldridge, president.

Howard Bush, vice president.

John G. Thomas, secretary-treasurer and business manager.

James Martin, recording secretary.

Charles Nicodemus, David Rennie and James Roby, Auditing Committee.

William E. Meagher, George Zeigler, John Estes, Carl Hinkle and Lindley Dye, Executive Board.

Walter Mahaney, warden.

No run off will be necessary, Abrams said he was informed, since William Starkey conceded the fifth place on the Board of Trustees to Roy T. Craze rather than to call for a run-off election.

Aldridge, who won four to one over four opponents, was shop chairman of Bobbin Stores from 1940 to 1945 and in 1947. He was also a member of the local's executive board in 1943 and 1944 and was recording secretary in 1945.

Bush, who won 7-5 over two opponents to become vice president, was a member of the executive board last year.

John G. "Jack" Thomas, seeking re-election as business manager, was victor by an overwhelming 7-1 majority. James Martin, seeking re-election as recording secretary, won by a 2-1 vote over his two opponents.

Clear majorities were chalked up by all members of the auditing committee and executive board and four members of the Board of Trustees.

Craze, who ran for trustee as an independent, was the only officer elected who did not run on the "Blue" slate. His election, it was reported, marked the first time an independent has won a place since the union began to use saltes a number of years ago. He has held the position of trustee twice before.

Mahaney was re-elected warden by a 2-1 majority.

The total vote cast in the election which began Monday and ended Wednesday night, was almost the same as last year but represents a much higher percentage of the total eligible voters since the hourly-rated payroll at the plant has dropped about 1,000.

Some 7,000 members of the union were eligible to vote in the election which drew 44 candidates for the 18 positions.

Abrams said voting was especially heavy Monday and Tuesday but fell off considerably on the last day. He said the count was completed yesterday at 4:30 p. m.

The official results of the poll will be sent to union officials within the next few days.

Officials of the Honest Ballot Association, which also conducted last year's election, said the cooperation of the Celanese Corporation aided materially in conducting the election.

Details of the installation of the new officers have not yet been made.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Vauken, 410 Pulaski Street, a son Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lynch, Three Churches, W. Va., a daughter Wednesday.

Memorial Hospital reported the following births yesterday:

To Reign As May Queen At Fort Hill

Miss JoAnn Shirey (above) has been elected by the student body of Fort Hill High School to reign as May Queen at the annual May Day ceremonies. Miss Shirey, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chancey L. Shirey, Cresaptown, is a senior. A commercial student, she is editor-in-chief of the Sabre, Fort Hill's yearbook, and is a member of the Dramatic Club. Miss Shirey's runners-up were Miss Rosa Lee Kimmel and Miss Ann Linn. The raven-haired, dark-eyed queen will be crowned at the May Day festivities by Miss June Clark, last year's queen.

Telephone Co. Plans To Move Business Office

Will Occupy New Building Monday

The business office of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company here will be moved from its present temporary location at 139 Union Street, to the company's new permanent building at 24 South Centre Street on Monday, Howard M. Smith, local manager, announced last night.

The move will actually begin tomorrow, Smith explained, but the office will not be open for business in the new building until 8:30 o'clock Monday morning. Offices of the wire chief, E. H. Bender, and plant engineer, Elmer Hite, Russell Pancake and George Williams, will be be moved sometime next week.

Work is continuing on installation of switchboard position and other plant equipment inside the new building, and this work is scheduled to be completed in April, Smith said.

No Noticeable Interruption

These installations started early in December and the task of tying in all these lines in enormous. The provision of additional local and long distance positions will provide necessary central office facilities. The entire task is being accomplished without noticeable interruption to service.

When all installations are completed in the new building, the local exchange will have sufficent switchboard positions to accomodate all who want telephones and to provide ample additional facilities for normal future growth.

There are upward of 900 applications for telephone service on file here now, Smith said. When these new installations are completed by spring, some of these will get almost immediate service, depending upon where they live.

The switchboard is one thing, he said, and a telephone is something else, but the two are useless unless they are joined together by outside lines and cables.

There are a number of congested areas served by the local exchange where lines are now crowed to the limit. This means additional cables must be placed.

New Cable Installation

For example, Smith said, there are many applications on file from the area between Cumberland and Rawlings, and a new and additional cable is being installed out McMullen Highway to Rawlings, Smith said. This line should be completed by the time switchboards are in-

Senate Passes County School Board Bill

The State Senate yesterday passed a bill to increase the size of the Allegany County Board of Education from three to five members, at least two of whom would be women.

Staggered terms from one to five years are also provided, as well as increasing annual expense allowances for board members up to $200. The measure was introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany.)

Hearing Is Set On Cresaptown Tax Area Bill

A public hearing will be held in Annapolis on Wednesday, February 9, at 10:30 a. m. on the proposed Cresaptown water legislation, Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., reported last night.

Whitworth said the date was selected at a conference of the Allegany County Delegation yesterday.

The measure is in the hands of the delegation but has not been introduced pending a public hearing.

It would set up a special taxing area in the Cresaptown district to provide an adequate water supply for the community.

The measure was drawn up by Former Chief Judge William A. Huster and Earl E. Manges, attorneys for the Cresaptown Civic Improvement Association, sponsor of the plan.

The delegation conferred yesterday morning with John Estes and George Ziegler, representatives of the legislative committee of Celanese Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, on legislation of interest to the union.

Whitworth reported they had no comment to make on the proposed city charter but that they said they believed there should be a referendum provision in the proposed state veterans' bonus bill, which is being prepared by State Senator Robert B. Kimble.

Legislators To Confer On Charter Tomorrow

Allegany County legislators are scheduled to confer with the Cumberland Charter Commission tomorrow at 2 p. m. at City Hall.

Members of the Alelgany County Delegation and State Senator Robert B. Kimble will discuss provisions of the proposed city charter with the commission, which spent nine months in preparing the 57-page document.

The measure has been introduced in the House of Delegates.

Resolution Is Readied Backing Vet Bonus Bill

GOP Praises Work Of Senator Kimble

A formal resolution giving the unqualified endorsement of the Republican State Central Committee of Allegany County to the Maryland state bonus bill for veterans of World War II has been prepared, Paul M. Fletcher, committee chairman, said yesterday.

The resolution, which praises State Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) for his efforts in preparing and proposing such legislation, points out that 22 states have already enacted or are in the process of enacting similar bonus statutes.

The text follows:

"WHEREAS, State Senator Robert B. Kimble is preparing legislation to be introduced in the 1949 session of the Legislature of the State of Maryland to provide for the payment of a bonus to veterans of World War II who were citizens of the state at the time of their military service; and

"WHEREAS, with the full understanding of the immeasurable debt of gratitude which the State of Maryland and those who remained at home will ever owe to its sons and daughters who served as members of the armed forces of the United States in World War II, and who by their service exemplified the highest concepts of citizenship in the full performance of their military duties in time of greatest peril and danger to our country, and whose military accomplishments were brilliantly successful beyond expectation in the overthrow of the then existing threats to the continuance of the United States of America and our form of government.

"NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

(1) That the Republican Party of Allegany County, through its State Central Committee, commend the efforts of Robert B. Kimble, member of the Maryland Legislature and Senator from Allegany County, for preparing and proposing legislation for the purpose of enacting a bill to provide for the

Fey Only Member Favoring Measure

By a 5 to 1 vote, the Allegany County Delegation yesterday killed a measure calling for establishment of a mobile library unit in the county.

Delegate John T. Fey, who introduced the bill in the House of Delegates at the request of the Board of County Commissioners, was the only member of the delegation voting to report out the bill favorably.

The unfavorable report of the delegation was accepted on the House floor.

However, Delegation Chairman Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said further discussion of the overall library problem in the county is slated at the next delegation caucus.

"We need to study the whole question further and to obtain more information," Whitworth said.

He added that several protests against the bill were received from parent-teacher groups and from library committees because of the provision that the proposed mobile unit would not serve incorporated communities.

The bill would have authorized the county commissioners to include in the levy $25,000 to set up the unit.

In other action yesterday, the delegation reported out favorably a bill introduced by Delegate Lester B. Reed to legalize Sunday motion picture shows in unincorporated areas of the county.

It also gave a favorable report to a delegation bill which would place Allegany County back under state law allowing distraint for rent on leases of less than three months.

The House passed a measure introduced by Delegates Whitworth, Preston and King to prohibit the use in Maryland of any motor vehicle equipped with any type of television projector which is in normal view of the driver.

Eiler Will Head Community Chest

Frederick W. Eiler was re-elected president of the Cumberland Community Chest at the annual election of officers held yesterday afternoon in the Chest office.

Members of the executive committee, all re-elected, are Earl C. Robertson, vice president; Mrs. Gerard Everstine, treasurer; James W. Bishop, secretary, and Charles E. Bramble, Roy W. Eves, C. William Gilchrist, Clarence Lippel and Henry Swearingen, members.

Other members of the Board of Directors are Michael M. Beerman, Mrs. Stanley S. Burke, David T. Lewis, John T. Fey, Mrs. M. J. Fleming, Dr. A. H. Hawkins, R. A. J. Morrison, Harold E. Naughton, Wiliam M. Somerville and Joseph K. Trenton.

The directors also approved the December financial statement and reports of agencies affiliated with the Chest.

The reports chowed receipts from the campaign and during November of $51,200.69 with December receipts of $7,010 for a total cash of $58,210.69.

Total December disbursements were $11,837.72, leaving a balance of $46,372.97 on January 1. Total receipts from 1948-49 pledges to January 1 were $58,174.19, or 70 per cent.

Committee Discusses Officer Procurement

Qualifications of applicants for second lieutenancies in the Army and for Air Force aviation cadets and nurses with the Army Nurse Corps were discussed at a meeting of the Military Manpower Committee last night at the Baltimore Street Army and Air Force recruiting station.

First Lt. George J. Gocke, officer in charge of the local recruiting stations, explained that Army second lieutenants must have at least two years of college and one year's previous service in any of the armed forces.

An aviation cadet must have two years of college or be able to pass a "college equivalency" test, Gocke said, adding that the main requirement for service in the Nurse Corps is that the applicant be a registered nurse.

The group discussed procurement of officers in the three branches and Gocke and Lt. Gerald Laurea distributed literature containing further information.

Those attending besides Gocke and Laurea were George Schwarzenbach, chairman, Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., and Edwin Hinkle.

Forester Recommends Removing Timber Damaged By Ice Storm

In Western Maryland woodlands, where many acres of trees were damaged a few weeks ago by a sleet and ice storm, there is the possibility of recovering some of the damaged wood for mine props, fence posts, saw logs and pulpwood, according to a survey just completed by Carl G. Heczko, assistant district forester.

Heczko said greater damage will result to the woodlands if these injured trees are not removed immediately. Trees with only minor damage should be repaired to prevent rot, he said, and when the damaged growth is removed, enough good trees and shrubs should be left to reforest and preserve the land.

Any timber damaged by the storm that is not removed shortly will become a total loss, Heczko continued. Trees that were uprooted or broken will die and decay. Other trees with larges wounds caused by broken limbs and tops will soon become defective.

It has been found that trees with wounds larger than one inch in diameter will be the source of rot infection unless treated with some preservative, Heczko explained. Decay starts in the wounds and works down into the heartwood. Once this decay has started, it will continue until after the original wound has healed over.

Forest men and woods operators continually cut trees that are sound at the base and top, yet have been defective inside when sawed into logs. This defect was probably started by previous ice or snow damage, the forester declared.

Most of the storm damaged timber in this area can be marketed during January and February and perhaps early March, Heczko said, explaining that the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company is buying pulpwood and there is some market for props, fence posts and saw logs.

In making the salvage cut of this damaged timber, the forester emphasized the importance of leaving a stand of good timber or some of the least damaged to give the ground a chance to reforest.

A representative of the Department of Forests and Parks will be willing to go over any woodlands with the owner and help him with his timber salvale problem, Heczko concluded.

Schools Map Library Plans To Extend Book Information

The printed information stacked on the shelves of Allegany county school libraries is going to be exploited down to the last comma and in a very systematic way.

The Allegany County Board of Education is already turning the attention of its librarians toward this end, but the greatest effort will come this summer when a two-week workshop is conducted with a huge exhibit of books at hand to work with.

The work now underway is directed toward preparing a High School Librarian's handbook that will permit an expanded service already being given by the school libraries. Educators explained:

"The modern teacher feels the need for advice and assistance in a variety of fields. The librarian is an expert in directing them to resources of printed material in addition to filling the traditional job of supplying books for those who wish to read them.

"The newest concept of library work includes co-operative planning for many kinds of resource material that is needed in unit work of all departments of high school study. It is this that the librarians of Allegany County are studying and preparing for now."

The workshop is scheduled to run from June 20 until July 2 this summer. It will include a number of book exhibits of modern reading material on various levels and interest.

This exhibit will permit the teachers and librarians attending the workshop to record a huge list of material sources that can be referred to later when the need arises.

The group now collecting material for the librarian's handbook recently received information and suggestions from Miss Mae Graham, superintendent of school and children's libraries extension of the State Department of Education.

Collection Day TODAY

LaVale Firemen To Have First Fog-Equipped Truck In County

Construction of a new fire truck to increase fire fighting facilities of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company will begin in the near future, Cromwell Zembower and Bruce Long, co-chairmen of the Fire Truck committee, announced last night.

Firemen said the new truck, equipped with both fog and low pressure facilities, is needed due to the heavy growth of the LaVale community in recent years.

The 2½-3 truck chassis, which will be delivered in a few days by a local firm, will be sent to the Oren Roanoke Corporation, Roanoke, Va., for installation of the apparatus.

Firemen said the completed truck has been promised for the latter part of this summer.

Space will be provided for a portable light plant with flood and spot lights and the truck will be equipped with a 400-gallon booster tank, 100 gallons more than the capacity of the present truck.

All-aluminum ladders, including a 35-foot extension and a 12-foot roof ladder will also be provided for the pumper.

Firemen said the truck will be equipped with a Hale three-stage pump, which includes a 700-pound high pressure fog system.

The present truck, purchased in 1942, has volume and pressure facilities but not the high pressure needed for fog, which cuts down water damage in house fires to a minimum.

Equipment will also include two booster reels, each holding 250 feet of hose, which can be used for either straight streams of water or for fog.

The body will include space for 1,000 feet of 2½ inch hose and 500 feet of 1½ inch hose.

One of the most modern features will be the Hardie fog gun, similar in appearance and operation to the Tommy gun. With it, one man can send a stream of fog about 80 feet to smother out fires. It is said that fog cuts down water damage as much as two-thirds and does a quicker job.

Although the new truck will be modern in every respects, it will conform to the body lines, color and style of the present fire truck which will be kept as an auxiliary. The fully equipped truck will weigh eight tons.

Firemen said they have been for-
